STUART R. PADDOCK

A luncheon date at the new Pure Oil offices south of Palatine gave us an insight into the operation of the home office of a major nation-wide industry.

We were one of 1,000 persons passing through the cafeteria lines that day. A number were asked what were the impressions of the new communities into which they have moved. Some of them have not found the welcome that they expected when they moved to the country.

It was the day before election and our next query was, "Has your vote been solicited by precinct captains of the

We will not report their replies; the election is over.

One more story and we will forget the election—A good time was had by all at the home of Don Florence, Arlington Heights, election night. It was a well-balanced group with an equal number of supporters of both parties invited.

The invitation carried this notation, "Razors and guns must be checked at the door." It really was a gay evening, says Don.

We went to school Wednesday with two dozen other business men in recognition of American Education Week. We found the boys and girls of the fifth grade were being taught subjects that in our day did not reach the student until he was a high school freshman.

We sat in on "lessons" in French and fractions.

As one of the visitors said, "The young people of today are being taught things that their parents know nothing about."

Our reply, "They have to do a lot more living in order to exist in the world of tomorrow."

Many Mt. Prospect people not only went to the polls last Tuesday, but went "crazy" as they hunted in store after store for the lucky "buy" to which the number on the Paddock Shopper entitled them.

Palatine voters will have the opportunity Saturday to settle the future of Triangle park. They can either approve a small bond issue for purchase of the park, or approve its rezoning which will permit a service station in the heart of the business area.

It was two years ago that 1,000 persons petitioned for its purchase. It has been kicking around ever since. But where there's life there is hope!

The park board passed the buck to the village, which was blocked by dissension from its members. Both have now thrown in the sponge. The last word is up to the voters.

Every taxpayer in Mt. Prospect does not play golf, which could be the reason that voters recently turned down a million dollar bond issue that would have made possible the purchase of the Mt. Prospect country club.

We can't blame the attempt by the golfers, however.

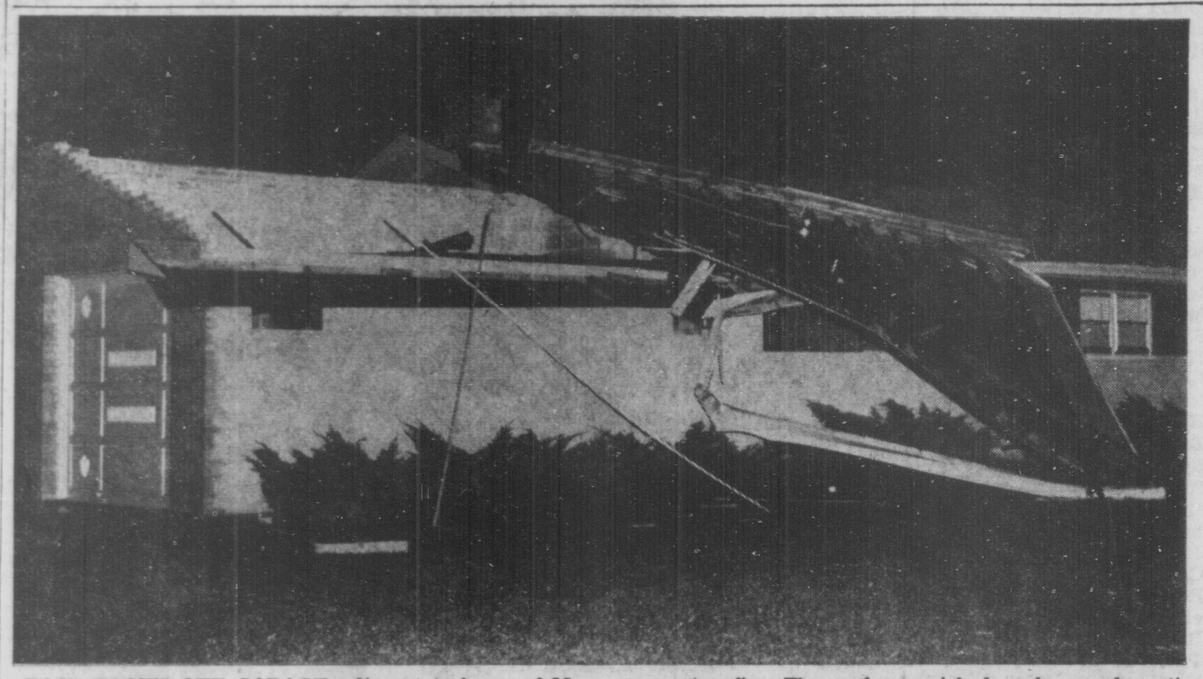
There is an oyster bed near Parris Island, S. C., that we will be tackling next week. If someone gets there first, we will go after clams.

We call it a Thanksgiving vacation due to election fatigue.



ROOF BLOWS OFF GARAGE adjacent to home of Mr. and Mrs. James McKay, 314 Woodview, Elk Grove. Police turned off power for the occupants of the house to prevent a fire. The roof was picked up by a gale, estimated to be from 60 to 80 miles per hour Tuesday night, and catapulted into the McKays' yard.

Gale Winds Whip Northwest Suburbs, Rip Trees, Power

A 60 to 80 mile an hour gale swept through sections of the northwest suburbs, disrupting train service and dinner as power lines went down and lights blinked out for several hours.

The Chicago North Western railroad 5:52 p.m. service was stalled for 20 minutes in the Palatine area when power lines were dropped across the tracks.

The Public Service co., which cleared the line, reported a "rough time" in the Palatine area and on the County line in Quentin road, "quite a bit" on Touhy in the southern part of Park Ridge, and elsewhere "scattered gusts of wind" as well as a reported 60-mile-an-hour gale.

PALATINE police reported power lines down at Chicago and Glenwood, Slade and Hart, Maple and Slade. Trees were reported down on Cornell, between Colfax and Chestnut, one on Oak street, Lincoln and Plum Grove.

"Lights were out and there was power failure in sections of the village," they concluded. Calls came about suppertime and continued to about 10:30 p.m. and later.

A roof blew off a garage adjacent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James McKay, 314 Woodview, Elk Grove in Branigar's Estate subdivision. Police turned off the power. The roof tipped over the side of the garage and landed in the yard.

Also, in Elk Grove, 4 by 8 plywood shingles blew away from a stack in the 1200 block on south Crest and smashed against three homes, and broke a window in a car.

IN ARLINGTON Heights, two railroad gates were broken by the "miniature tornado," one at Wilke road and Northwest highway, and a second at Euclid and Northwest highway.

In Mt. Prospect, barricades were knocked down by the big wind at 12 S. Owen, a telephone pole was broken at the bottom near the railroad depot, a plate glass window was blown out at Jewel Tea store and a glass door was blown out in the 900 block of Northwest highway.

Police reported an awning came tumbling down at 298 Bode rd., Hoffman Estates, landing on the electric wires at about 6:30 p.m. Public Service was called, but the awning continued tumbling and cleared the wires.

ONE TREE was down in Itasca on Walnut, near the Lutheran church of St. Luke's, and fell across the street. A squad was pressed into action to place a light and barrier there.

A couple of lines were down in Bensenville on George street near John street, and sparking "hot" wires were reported to police. The downed line blocked traffic on George, a junction between York and County roads.

Hanging onto wires in the village of Addison was a tree at Army trail, just east of Mill road. The hanging wires tore part of an advertising sign down in its fall.

In Rolling Meadows and in Roselle, no "wind incidents" were reported. Roselle police reported no strong wind.

AS THIS paper went to press, no major or significant threats to safety, fire or otherwise, were reported by state or county police.

Many homes were without lights for several hours and persons sitting down to their dinners or television programs were inconvenienced. Power crews were sent out everywhere the damage was reported and quickly repaired and replaced much of the downed lines.

Terms Up For Five Officials

Over 130 persons attended the first public meeting of the Arlington Heights Caucus this week and chose a candidate recommendation committee of 20 residents.

An additional committee member will be chosen from precinct one, without representation at Monday night's meeting, bringing the total to 21 plus a chairman.

The committee will be responsible for interviewing prospective candidates for village president, three trustee seats, and a village clerk. These offices will be up for election in April, 1961.

It was originally thought the candidate recommendation committee would be comprised of 18 members, three from each of the village's six precincts.

The village board, however, recently redistricted the village into 21 precincts, and a motion was passed by the caucus to allow each of the new precincts to choose one representative for the candidate recommendation committee.

IN MAKING THE motion to elect the committee along the new precinct lines, Harold Klingner noted it would not only be more representative of the community but would "eliminate possible criticism in case of opposition to caucus candidates."

Elected as new caucus chairman was Edward Huster, 1411 W. Fremont. He served as vice-chairman last year. Bernard Clark, 1105 N. Mitchell, was elected as the new vice-chairman. Mrs. Florence Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, was chosen as recording secretary.

Nominees for chairman of the candidate recommendation committee were Donald Whiting, 121 N. Phelps; Owen

'Light Up' Ceremony

Giant Parade To Open Yule

Santa, his helpers, free candy for the kiddies, and a mile-long parade for everyone — that's the gala "Light Up" program planned for Arlington Heights business district's Friday, Nov. 25.

A big parade with two bands, Santa's sleigh, the Choraliers from the high school, a drum and bugle corps, army and marine marching units, more than 200 boy scouts and girl scouts, plus many floats are included in this special program planned by the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce.

OFFICIAL TREE lighting ceremony by village officials, plus unveiling of village-wide Christmas decorations will be featured in this gala celebration.

Most Arlington Heights stores in all shopping areas are cooperating in this Chamber of Commerce venture with special values to shoppers Thanksgiving weekend. These bargains will be advertised in a special section of Paddock Publications next week, reaching subscribers Tuesday morning instead of the usual Thursday.

THE PARADE will start at Arlington Market shopping center, travel to the downtown area for a tree lighting ceremony at Davis and Dunton, then north to the Elms shopping center and conclude at Westgate shopping center. Large, bright window display cards will be up throughout town this week publicizing the event.

Many business floats will be in the parade, as will marching units from the Nike base and the marines at Glenview.

Complete details and parade route will be announced next week.

Cat-and-Mouse Contest Finds All Are Losers

An authentic cat-and-mouse game was played last Friday despite the lack of sanction from the Cook County Rabies Control division.

The game's first move was made by a field mouse. It bit 9-year-old Richard Roeing, of 128 S. Patton, on the right forefinger.

The second move was made by a black and white cat owned by Michael Wodzita, of 1419 W. Miner. It ate the mouse.

Dr. Edward C. Khuen, county rabies control supervisor, proclaimed the game a tossup. He also ruled Wodzita's cat be observed for 30 days in the event the mouse was rabid.

State Law Violation?

Challenge Schools' Christmas Programs

Are Christmas programs in public schools a violation of state law?

This question has area school administrators pondering plans for the traditional observance which is usually accompanied by programs of religious nature.

Some Palatine townspeople were upset by rumors that all programs would be canceled due to pressure from the American Civil Liberties Union which, in a letter to all school administrators, charged that "the attention given to Christmas in the public schools had often gone beyond what is legal and proper under our Constitution and system of government."

Palatine school officials dispelled the rumors this week, stating that the programs would be conducted as usual, but that plans for the public observances would be submitted to the grade school board of education for sanction.

"WE HAVE asked that all principals and teachers use common sense and good judgment in anything done at the classroom level," informed assistant superintendent E. S. Castor.

The educator was referring to ACLU's contention that making or displaying religious symbols such as the Nativity scene, crucifixes, crosses, the Star of Bethlehem, or angels should be avoided.

The group also questioned the showing of religious movies and film-strips, the performance of Nativity or other sectarian plays, or the singing of hymns containing reference to "our Lord, Jesus Christ" or similar sectarian or Christological content.

THE ACLU pointed out that Attorney General Latham Castle opined in 1955 that "the presence of objects or symbols of a sectarian or denominational nature, such as pictures, posters, statuary, medals, and similar articles of furniture and room decoration, in classrooms, halls or elsewhere in the school, and the use of similar symbols on official school documents or as official school awards, are illegal . . . in that such objects induce, invite, or exhort the pupils to embrace a particular religion or denomination."

A national organization with an Illinois division located in Chicago, the ACLU approves some symbols associated with the Christmas season, such as Santa Claus or stockings at the fireplace.

While religious carols were critized, the group suggests as possible alternatives "Deck the Halls," "Here We Come A-Wassailing," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas," "The Twelve Days of Christmas," "Jingle Bells," and "Frosty the Snowman."

CASTOR SAID Palatine might prefer dropping the programs altogether rather than have them degenerate into "Frosty the Snowman" presentations.

In Arlington Heights, grade school teachers were told "to avoid infringing on any student's religious beliefs," but Christmas plans were proceeding. It was pointed out that the ACLU has been sending out similar letters for some years.

At Arlington and Prospect high schools, the use of sectarian symbols is avoided, and there is no reading of the Bible in the Christmas program. "However," stated Dr. Eugene Oliver, principal at Arlington high, "we do use choral music of sectarian nature." The music is regarded as examples of good music and not religious instruction, Dr. Oliver explained.

THE PRESENTATION of Handel's "Messiah" is handled as a community project open to all adults and high school students who wish to participate, not as a high school program.

Mt. Prospect, Prospect Hts., and Wheeling elementary districts reported that the schools contemplated no changes from what had been done in the past concerning Christmas observance. Elk Grove school personnel have yet to discuss the matter and consequently have not formed a policy.

Final Chapter

'The Poor'

This week Paddock Publications presents the final chapter in its exclusive series of six special reports on "The Poor" of Illinois. The current article asks the question: What are we doing about our problems in poverty?

More than five months in preparation, "The Poor" is providing on-the-spot, human reporting of the problems confronting the state's more than half million poor.

Reported and written by the editorial team of Charles Hayes and William Dulaney, "The Poor" is illustrated with dramatic photos by staff photographer Larry Cameron.

Editorial comment on "The Poor" is also included in "The Way We See It" on this wek's editorial page.

Streamlined Service Set For Village

Another step in the program to streamline village operations was taken this week with the installation of a service counter in the hallway outside the village hall business office.

Tom DeRiemer, village finance officer, said the counter is in keping with modern banking techniques of making readily available applications for forms for licenses and other information.

THE COUNTER, DeRiemer noted, will permit Arlington Heights residents to stop at any hour to pick up license applications, write checks, or carry out other routine business.

"The counter is simply an extension of our business-by-mail policy," DeRiemer said. "It is much more efficient and economical to accommodate by mail rather than in person.

"The counter will enable residents to come in, pick up a form, fill it out, attach a check to it and drop it into the business office."

Seek Witnesses To Accident

Witnesses are needed to verify facts established following the accident Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 5 p.m., on Central rd., between Wilke and State rds., Arlington Heights, which resulted in the death of three soldiers.

Urges School Share Cost

Ex-Trustee Suggests Water Line Solution

A former Arlington Heights trustee Monday set forth a four-point plan designed to solve the village's dilemma concerning the extension of water lines to the new Forest View high school.

Robert B. Bishop, former trustee and onetime chairman of the board of local improvements, outlined his solution to the problem in a letter directed to the president and board of trustees.

First, Bishop suggested, the village could construct and pay for a water main of adequate size to the village limits. Secondly, he proposed high school district 214 could construct and pay for a main from the village limits to the schoolsite south of the village.

IN HIS THIRD recommendation, Bishop listed two means by which the school district could receive compensation for its share of the main: by charging for connections and by charging newly annexed areas for portions of the entire cost of the facility.

As a final suggestion, Bishop said the high school district should agree to annex their school property to the village when and if any portion of that property becomes contiguous to the village limits.

Bishop's letter was read publicly at Monday's board meeting prior to trustees' 45-minute recess to discuss current negotiations with district 214. After the closed session, trustees reported there had been no further action taken.

IN OPENING his letter, Bishop noted that the "village has no liability to provide water" to the school. He continued, "However, I am aware of and agree with the desire of the members of the village board to cooperate with other taxing bodies.

"Good intentions, however, should not override good sense. As you gentlemen know, I am opposed to the proposal set forth in the village manager's agenda at your November 7 meeting."

At the earlier meeting manager L. A. Hanson recommended the village install the main to the school on the premise "the party that controls the water will control the area." A two-man committee was appointed November 7 to study the matter.

IN CLOSING, Bishop also suggested plans be made for the construction of another million-gallon elevated water tank so the project can be included in the next village budget.

He noted the new well site on State rd. would be a good location for the tank. (AF

School Bus Firm Needs 10 Drivers

The Cook County School Bus company, operator of school busses in high school district 214, disclosed this week its immediate need for 10 bus drivers.

Mrs. Grace Sazma, company secretary, said the firm has had considerable difficulty in hiring a sufficient number of drivers. As a result of the driving staff being undermanned, Mrs. Sazma noted, bus schedules have been delayed and students have been late to school.

"We have advertised for help, contacted police, fire, and post office departments, and called on private businesses for drivers," Mrs. Sazma explained. "But we've had no success."

SHE SAID bus drivers are needed for both morning and afternoon schedules, and that the work day ranges from two to six hours. Applicants need only know how to drive. Chauffeur's licenses are provided after employment begins.

Of the company's 34 drivers, more than half are women. The company encourages women applicants, feeling they will be both dependable and patient.

Lee Stahl, owner of the company which operates the district-owned busses, pointed out that the shortage of drivers causes difficulty when a driver is not able to report for work. The shortage prevents driver replacement, and students must often wait at home until another driver finishes his route.

"WE'D LIKE to sincerely thank those people who have been inconvenienced recently because of the driver shortage," Stahl said. "Their extreme patience is much appreciated. We trust this problem will be solved soon."

Residents interested in part-time or tull-time bus driving may apply at the company office in the fieldhouse at Prospect high school in the 800 block on Foundry rd. or phone CL 9-1853. (AF

OK Ordinance For Precincts

Arlington Heights trustees, meeting in adjourned session Monday night, adopted an ordinance setting forth precincts, polling places and judges for the December 10 village hall referendum.

The ordinance included a stipulation that interest on the $350,000 in bonds to be issued not exceed five per cent per year. The ordinance was approved 5-0 in the absence of Trustee Samuel Wit. (AF

Stork Is Winner In Hospital Race

The stork outraced the doctor to an Arlington Heights home over the weekend.

As Mrs. Irene Mellor, of 1831 N. Ridge, prepared to leave for Northwest Community hospital Sunday in anticipation of the arrival of her third child, the stork barged in on the scene.

He brought with him a baby girl, Jane Elizabeth, who weighed five pounds and 12 ounces. She joins two brothers, Bill, 3, and Jack, 15 months.

AS JOHN MELLOR explains it, he was on the phone at about noon advising the doctor "it was time to go" when things began. The doctor shouted directions over the phone to Mellor and neighbors Pat O'Neil and Margeret Barney, the latter a nurse's aid.

Following his daughter's birth, Mellor called Arlington Heights police to ask for an ambulance. The 26-year-old mother was admitted to the hospital Sunday afternoon and released 48 hours later.

"You might say we had a community project going for a while," Mellor said as he praised the efficient delivery service given by his neighbors. He added that mother and daughter are in the best of health. (AF —Promote measures to provide adequate water supply and sewage facilities.

—Protect residential areas against unjust zoning.

—Take all possible steps to control development of adjacent unincorporated areas.

—Preserve the autonomy of village government by preventing Chicago, Cook county, or any metropolitan authority from taking over any of the proper functions of our government.

—Support the village manager form of government.

Gas, Oil Deficit Is Predicted

Coal will gain in use during the remainder of the 20th century, but a gas and oil deficit is predicted.

This is the prediction of Dr. Hubert Risser, mineral economist for the Illinois State Geological survey.

In the face of increasing demand, production will gradually level off as a result of declining availability of these fuels. This will occur during the next 20 years, Dr. Risser thinks.

THE RE-EMERGENCE of coal as a much-in-demand natural resource "will play a significant role in the predicted major shift in the pattern of fuel consumption," Risser pointed out.

Today, the rapidly expanding electric power industry is the major user of coal. Due to efficient use of coal for this purpose plus its low cost, electric power will provide an increasing market in the future, he anticipates. (A13

'Missing Patient' Concerns Hospital

Employees at Northwest Community hospital Saturday went through an experience they call "The Case of the Missing Patient."

A 53-year-old Palatine man, admitted to the hospital Saturday afternoon after being involved in an auto accident, caused consternation on the part of attendants who found him conspicuously missing from his bed.

Hospital spokesmen told Arlington Heights police the man and his clothing were discovered missing from room 330 at 11:30 p.m. The patient had been placed under sedation for chest injuries, yet had apparently made his unannounced exit down a fire escape.

POLICE LOCATED a cab driver who recalled he had just driven a man fitting the missing patient's description to a Palatine address. On arrival at the address, police found the patient in his own bed.

He refused to return to the hospital, but signed a release absolving the hospital of any responsibility for his condition. Thus ended The Case of the Missing Patient.

Gas Station Is Burglarized

District 3 state police are investigating a break-in last Friday at the Sinclair service station, routes 62 and 53, between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Police said entrance was gained by smashing a window. A cigarette and a coke machine were broken into and money and cigarettes taken, in addition to $22 in change from the cash register, 20 books of trading stamps, an electric razor and four snow tires.

Globe-Trotting Couple Is Settled in Suburban Home

After devoting five years to "seeing the world," the Parker family seems understandably content in its new Hoffman Estates home.

The move to the northwest suburb brought to a temporary halt an exhaustive world tour which began in Sydney, Australia, when Bruce Parker graduated from engineering school in 1954.

Parker and his attractive wife, Marjory, decided at that time to postpone the purchase of a house in their native Australia in favor of an educational, exciting program of traveling the world.

Packing their belongings into nine suitcases, the Parkers set out with daughter Susan, then only a few months old, for Stockholm, Sweden, where the young mechanical design engineer had contracted for his first job.

JOB NUMBER two came up a year later in Zurich, Switzerland, and after two years with the Swiss, the Parkers boarded a plane for the United States and a position with the Gritnes Machine Works company in Chicago. They lived on Chicago's north side until migrating to 156 Ashland, Hoffman Estates, three months ago.

"We're just now beginning to catch our breaths," Mrs. Parker explained. We like this country very much, but find it's taking a little time to adjust to everything."

Parker, 33, drives 24 miles to work every morning. Mrs. Parker enjoys her comparatively quiet suburban home life, spending much time caring for Susan, 7, Christopher, 3, and Matthew, 1.

"Each of our three children were born in different countries," Mrs. Parker pointed out. Susan came along in Sydney, Christopher in Zurich and Matthew in Chicago's Cuneo hospital. Susan hasn't celebrated two birthdays in the same country yet."

BEFORE COMING to the United States, the Parkers took advantage of their proximity to Europe's showplaces, taking "holidays in Denmark, Germany, Italy, Luxemburg, France, Austria, and Spain.

"We were enchanted with Spain," Mrs. Parker indicated. "The scenery is beautiful and the people so friendly and expressive."

The Parkers have found the United States very similar to their own country in many ways, especially in the areas of food and clothing. Different, however, are the prices of mass produced articles and the fiscal policy of "buy now pay later."

They believe there is considerable waste of everyday material in America. Mrs. Parker cited the policies of using over and over again newspapers, paper bags and glass jars in many of the countries they've visited.

"We've found too that educating systems vary in different parts of the world. Susan is in first grade at the Fairview school. If she were in Australia, she'd be wearing a uniform and attending classes only with girls. We feel some aspects are better here, others worse."

PARKER and his wife both indicated their eventual plans are to return to Australia. "There are several reasons for this," Parker said. "Our relatives are there and we feel our future is there too."

Mrs. Parker spends many hours each week writing letters to friends throughout the world. "And we try to hold down the children's consumption of television," she noted. "Some programs are very good, but others not particularly useful. The children like Captain Kangaroo and we sometimes watch "The Untouchables' show."

When asked their impressions of the recent U. S. Presidential election, the Parkers agreed the campaign was too long. They also emphasized that the great amounts of money spent on the campaign could be put to better use.

"There's so much poverty and sickness in the world," Mrs. Parker said. "We've seen it. Couldn't some of this campaign money be channeled for better causes?"

THE PARKERS have not regretted their decision to travel rather than settle down. We've all benefitted from seeing how other people live, work and play," Parker explained. "Our travels have given us understanding."

Their return to hometown Sydney (pop. 2,000,000) has not been planned yet. But, as always, when moving time comes the furniture will be sold, a new job waiting, and just nine suitcases packed for the trip.

"We learned a long time ago not to become too attached to anything and to travel lightly," Mrs. Parker confided. "It makes moving easier." B8

Stunt of the Month Club Is Dedicated to Extraordinary

Here's one social club whose members fret over whether they should take swimming or skiing lessons or take out additional life insurance.

It's not for reasons of social status either; it's a matter of survival.

The "Stunt of the Month" club, with a membership made up of 11 couples from Elk Grove Village, Skokie and Chicago, is devoted to the principles of the extraordinary, unusual and unconventional.

Organized in September, the membership has passed some fairly conservative tests so far, and this month's stunt of taking over a radio station will require mostly mental exercise.

BUT MEMBERS are aware that there are eight months to go (December will be skipped) and are understandably leery about what the future will demand of them.

"I'd better learn how to swim," says Mrs. Seth Grossmann, 267 Thorndale, Elk Grove Village, in considering next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Aarons, 591 Sussex, Elk Grove, already have fellow members somewhat nervously contemplating what stunt they will determine, with each couple assigned a month to dream up a stunt. For the Aarons are avid skiiers, and the stunt they are to arrange will come in January.

The club broke a two-month tradition this month by telling members in advance what the stunt would be. This is because adequate preparation has to be taken for invading WNWC-Arlington Heights FM radio station this coming Saturday night.

RICHARD Africk, 540 Germaine ln., Elk Grove Village, has made arrangements for the 22-membered club to put on a show following the format of "At Random" and "Open End," by carrying on a discussion on "The Role of Radio in the Future" in two 15-minute coffee table conversations.

During the two hours (from 8:30-10:30 p.m. the stunters will take part in the station's programming, they will also be plugging civic projects instead of commercial products.

The club's first stunt, conceived by Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Schmidt, 593 Grosvener, Elk Grove, was a scavenger hunt which led the usual circuitous route to the final clue which allowed the searchers to open "panic packages" given to them. The panic package gave directions to a roller-skating rink. And most of them did panic.

"About two people knew how to skate; the rest of us did the best we could," Africk groaned.

TWO COUPLES wound up missing in the evening excursion, and were later located in Joliet and Glenview after taking wrong turns. A third couple, Chuck and Marilyn Sohn, 648 Charing Cross rd., Elk Grove, backed up to a missed clue and into a culvert. Luckily, a passing tow truck put them on the scent again moments later.

The October stunt was a masterpiece of deception. Members were told to bring along nothing more than a paper bag. Understandably, considering the season, they thought they would be going trick-or-treat-ing.

They were herded instead to a trampoline center in Mt. Prospect. "We had it booked for 45 minutes, but only averaged about 20 minutes bouncing around," Africk said. Among the casualties: a wrenched shoulder, sore nose, twisted toes.

Originally, the couple arranging the October mischief had hoped to have members race stock cars at O'Hare Stadium.

A SOMEWHAT skeptical stadium spokesman explained that insurance wasn't carried to cover such eventualities as satisfying the whims of stunt clubs.

Besides the Grossmans, Aarons, Africks, Sohns and Schmidts, other Elk Grove members include: Bill and Jean Schultz, 620 Middlebury ln.; Jerry and Lee McCullogh, 599 Grosvener; John and Gerri O'Donnell, 537 Germaie ln., and Walt and Dorcos Klima, 652 Charing Cross.

The two couples residing outside this suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robinson of Skokie, and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin Abramson of Chicago.

Each couple pays $10 a month into a fund which is used on the stunt and dinner afterward ("It can be anywhere from the Pump Room to a hot dog stand.") Any leftover change goes into a general fund for a "big blowout" planned for the end of the year.

WHAT MOTIVATED members to join such a group? "I think it was because we were getting away from the stereotype suburbanite proposition," Africk explained. Although he appended to this remark: "But a good part of it is cordiality."

"There were only two or three couples who actually knew each other when we started," added Mrs. Aarons.

"But it offered something different to do, what with a long dreary winter coming up," she added.

"Instead of one person deciding on what to do, we can pick the brains of 11 couples," said another member.

Do they anticipate any balking by members over future stunts? "This is a group of people willing to do anything once, as long as it isn't unlawful or immoral," Africk said. (B8

Modern Etiquette

Q. My husband and I are the godparents of a friend's child. Now that we are expecting our own first child, is it necessary that we ask these friends to serve in the same capacity?

A. This is not at all necessary.

Q. When a boy with whom a girl has been going with for some time invites her to his home for dinner and for the purpose of meeting his parents, is it proper for the girl to take his mother some sort of gift?

A. No; in fact, it would be in bad taste.

Play to Benefit Retarded Youths

Two performances of "Seven Little Rebels" will be presented Sunday, Nov. 27 at 1:30 and 4 p.m. in the Cardinal Drive school in Rolling Meadows. Proceeds from the play will go to the Clearbrook school for retarded children.

The three-act comedy will be performed by The Hansel and Gretel Players, a young people's theatre group associated with the Lu Staahl studio of dramatics and modeling. The players are members of the Children's Theatre conference, a national association of children's theatre groups.

THE PLAY, BY R. C. Musil, revolves around seven enterprising settlement children who decide to rebel when they learn their home is to be turned into an art colony.

The youngsters enlist the help of some adult friends and become involved in pranks and scrapes that end in a circus.

Tickets, priced at 50 cents, will be on sale in all Arlington Heights schools and some businesses. They may also be obtained from Tri-Hi-Y members. The box office number is Cl 3-0057. (B8

Pheasant Season Opens Pleasant Round of Socials

Friday's opening of the pheasant season and subsequent balmy days creates a temptation to observe that we had "pleasant pheasant - weekend weather." 'Tis better to overcome temptations to be as balmy as the breezes and stick to reporting the social news of bridal showers and birthday parties, weekend jaunts and long vacations. And pheasant feathers in the pleasant weather.

Mr. and Mrs. K. N. Hull, 713 S. Dunton, weekended in Champaign where Mr.

Pheasant Season Opens

Hull's brother, Frank, was honored Sunday at a reception given in tribute to his 42 years of service with the postal department. An added attraction to the main purpose of the Hull's visit was attending the Illinois-Wisconsin football game Saturday with ideal weather to make the weekend perfect.

Northern Illinois university coeds Pam Huntley and Bonnie Benson welcomed their fathers to the Dads day festivities on the campus Saturday. The foursome cheered NIU to victory over LaCrosse in the football field in the afternoon and later the girls cheered their escorts to victory over fatigue on the dance floor.

There were lesser events, like dining, in between and all in all the weekend in DeKalb boasted a full schedule. This coming weekend Bonnie's sisters, Sally and Merrilee, and Pam's, Sandy and Tracy, will be on the campus, taking in all the wonders. It's Little Sister weekend and the young'uns are looking forward to big things.

MR. AND MRS. FLOYD Terbell, 402 W. Kirchoff, hosted a local group of friends and neighbors at an election-night party last Tuesday evening. An early buffet supper fortified the couples for their night-long vigil before the TV set, then Cronkite, Huntley and Brinkley took over. As parties go, there's nothing quieter than an election-night party when everyone but the newscasters are regularly shushed, and conversation comes in bursts between announcements.

The Frederick Westfall family, 843 S. Highland, weekended in Appleton, Wis. where they visited Carroll on the Lawrence college campus and enjoyed Parents day activities of the school.

Local friends and neighbors of the Carl Mees family, 408 E. Euclid, extend sympathy to Mr. Mees whose mother, Mrs. John Mees, died November 5 in Anna, Ill. Mr. Mees was in Miami Beach when his mother's serious illness recalled him and her death followed shortly after his arrival in Anna.

The November 8 birthdays of Mark and Glen Nagel, "untwin" sons of the Quentin Nagels, always calls for a family dinner party and this year 20 family members celebrated with the boys at 717 S. Chestnut a week ago Sunday.

The party was two days early because Sunday is such a good day for family get-together; then too, November 8 this year everyone was invited to a big affair at the polls. Among the guests Sunday were the boys' grandparents, the Dan Ostrowskis of Chicago and their uncle, aunt and cousins, the Donald Miksch family, here from Hobart, Ind. just for the 2-way party.

TUESDAY AFTER school the boys had a half-dozen neighborhood friends in for games and supper before the Nixon and Kennedy boys intruded on the importance of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ellis of Honolulu were guests a few days last week of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sesterhan, 316 W. Hawthorne. Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Sesterhan have been friends since childhood, they haven't seen one another for three years and a few days was barely long enough to visit. The host couple took their guests to many points of interest in Chicago before the Ellises continued on a round of visiting relatives and other friends in the Midwest.

Miss Carole Weseman, daughter of the Earl Wesemans, 1107 N. Mitchell, was guest of honor recently at a pre-nuptial party given by her aunt, Mrs. Clarence Moldenhauer, and her sister-in-law, the junior Mrs. Earl Weseman.

The bride-to-be arrived at the Moldenhauer home in Palatine for a "little" family gathering and found 27 friends and relatives waiting to shower her with miscellaneous gifts. Miss Weseman will be married November 26 to Bruce Garbe of Los Angeles, now a student at Bradley university in Peoria.

A ROUND OF showers ended Sunday night for Miss Susan Larsen, daughter of the Walter F. Larsens, 620 S. Cleveland, who will be married Saturday to George Rezny of Cicero. Twenty-five couples feted the bridal couple at a party in Behms restaurant, Wheeling, given by employees of Harris pharmacy where the groom-elect is a pharmacist.

Rezny and his fiance thought they were attending a business anniversary celebration and were properly surprised to find themselves the guests of honor. They were showered with miscellaneous gifts which included a generous supply of canned goods, minus identifying labels. Just in case the young-marrieds have a pet, one thoughty friend included several cans of dog food and cat food in the de-labelled assortment of goodies.

A week ago Friday evening the attendants of the bride-to-be honored her with a surprise shower in her own home. Her sister, Nancy, who will serve Saturday as the maid of honor, had as her co-hostesses, Miss Sue Warren of Arlington Heights and the groom's sister, Mrs. Nick Kobal of LaGrange Park.

Susan was conveniently needed in the Cicero home of her in-laws-to-be and kept there all day Friday while party preparations went on in the Larsen home. She returned home in the evening to find 30 local school and neighborhood friends waiting to shower her with miscellaneous gifts. Many more friends who are away at school sent their greetings.

MRS. KOBAL, assisted by her co-attendants, Miss Warren and Nancy Larsen, began the party whirl late last month at a dinner party for 75 friends and family members in her LaGrange Park home. Appropriate decorations set the mood for the coming nuptials and even the after-dinner mints were decorated with tiny bells to complete the motif. The bride-elect was thoroughly surprised as per plan and showered with miscellaneous gifts.

Miss Larsen and Mr. Rezny will be married Saturday in the First Methodist church in Palatine and plan to make their future home in Arlington Heights.

Miss Kal Kirk, daughter of Mrs. Fred Mueller of Rolling Meadows, was recently feted at a pre-nuptial shower given by Mrs. Joe Muran and Mrs. John Koch, aunts of the groom-to-be, James Weidner of Arlington Heights. Forty friends and relatives were in the Muran home, 1319 N. Dunton, awaiting the arrival of the honor guest who was invited to "drop in for a minute."

Her surprise was total and she was easily induced to stay for more than just a minute. Miss Kirk and Mr. Weidner will be married Saturday in the St. James Catholic church of Arlington Heights.

Tom Muran, cousin of the groom and his best man, will arrive tomorrow from Des Moines, where he attends Drake university.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE Kendall, 733 S. Dunton, returned a week ago Sunday from a vacation in Miami Beach, Fla. Mr. Kendall attended a business convention in the Fontainebleu hotel for a few days, then was joined by his wife for a week of sun, relaxation and beautiful weather.

If a recent scientific theory that plants as well as people flourish on the proverbial tender, loving care, there is a silver maple tree at 726 S. Mitchell that will likely burst its bark with growing. It is the gift to "friendly South Mitchell" from recently departed Arlington Heighters, the James McCartys and it stands in front of their former home.

Before the family moved to New Canaan, Conn. several weeks ago they were farewelled at almost as many parties as there are residents on that block, and they moved to the east with a gift of remembrance from their friends here. After the McCartys left, a local nursery crew arrived at 726 S. Mitchell with a silver maple tree and shovels.

Now "friendly South Mitchell" has a gift of remembrance too. The tree is promised care and appreciation in exact proportion to the spirit of friendship in which it was given and that's a lot of tender, loving care in any tree's language.

A MISCELLANEOUS bridal shower was given November 5 for Miss Patricia Hall 1428 Brown, by a group of her girl friends. Co-hostesses were the Misses Mary Ann Hassil and Yvonne de Busman. It was a complete surprise for Miss Hall, a 1960 graduate of Arlington high school. The bride-to-be and her fiance, Alfred Benavides Jr. of Chicago, will be married December 3 at 3:30 p.m. in St. Philip Episcopal church, Palatine.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lasley, 621 Bristol, were in Coral Gables, Fla., for the marriage of Wilton Douglas Barnes to Miss Barbara Lenoir, November 4. The groom's father, A. Douglas Barnes, head commissioner of Florida's Dade County Parks, and Mrs. Barnes are long time friends of the Lasleys.

While visiting in Florida, the Lasleys went to Coconut Grove to welcome home her sister, Mrs. M. J. Peppard, who had just returned from a 4½-month cruise around the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Skinner, 721 S. Beverly, had as their houseguests last weekend, Mr. and Mrs. William Heyde of Cincinnati.

Saturday, the Heydes and the Skinners joined members of the Skinner family at the Des Plaines home of Mrs. Skinner's mother, Mrs. Pauline Lee, whose 85th birthday was celebrated at a family party.

NEW RESIDENTS of Scarsdale are the Leslie Jones family, who moved to 315 E. Park this fall from Grand Rapids. They have three children: their eldest, Mrs. A. Q. Cooke and her husband, a jet pilot with the air force, are currently stationed in Minot, N.D.; a son, Tom, who entered Ohio State university as a freshman this fall; and their youngest son, Douglas, who is at school in Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker E. Samson, 618 S. Burton, and their daughter, Kathy, spent last weekend in Oxford, Ohio, visiting their daughter, Faith, and attending the Parent's day program at Miami university. Faith, a senior, is spending part of the school year as a student teacher of first grade at the Monroe elementary school near Middletown, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bradle, 606 S. Dryden, and a group of Scarsdale neighbors who meet to play bridge on weekends, forsook their cards to spend an evening in Chicago attending a performance of "A Majority of One" and dining afterwards at the Old Heidelberg Inn.

HOME FROM a leisurely vacation on the west coast and the Hawaiian Islands are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franke, 126 S. Pine, and Dr. and Mrs. E. Baumann of Arlington Heights. The four left by jet for Los Angeles, where Dr. Baumann attended a dental convention and then boarded a jet plane for the Hawaiian Islands.

Their first stop was on the island of Oahu, where they stayed at the Kona Inn. They then spent five days at the Hawaiian Village in Honolulu. During their first week, the people of the islands were celebrating Aloha week and there were colorful parades and many festivities to attend.

Extensive sightseeing trips filled their days and some of the highlights of the visit were a ride in a catamaran to the Pearl Harbor Memorial, visits to sugar, coffee and pineapple plantations, to Hilo, where all the orchids are grown and the island of Kauai, where they spent a day deep sea fishing.

Leaving the islands for home, Mr. and Mrs. Franke stopped in San Diego for a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, the Vance Gustafsons.

MR. AND MRS. ROY Baumann, 421 Orchard, have a new grandson. He is Steven Mark Baumann, born October 26, to their son and daughter-in-law, the Daniel Baumanns of Pasadena, Cal. Daniel Baumann is associate pastor of the Emmanuel Evangelical Free Church of Burbank and is also continuing his studies at Fuller seminary working for his masters degree in theology.

Mrs. William H. Anderson, 500 S. Pine, and Mrs. Andrew Riley of Arlington Heights spent the past 10 days vacationing at the Riley summer home on Lac La Maybele in Oconomowoc, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. August Burnier, 516 E. Fairview, and Mrs. Burnier's mother, Mrs. Lillie Baugh, spent the weekend in Ann Arbor and Detroit. They joined their son, Franz, and daughter-in-law, Barbara, and attended the Illinois-Michigan football game, and then left for Detroit to visit friends and relatives.

The John Andersons, 504 Lincoln, spent the past weekend in Greencastle, Ind., visiting their son, John, a freshman at De Pauw university. John has recently pledged Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

MR. AND MRS. Stanley R. Norman, 634 S. Dryden, will have as their guests next week, Mr. Norman's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Irwin Norman of Tenafly, N.J. Stan Jr. will come in from Grinnell next week to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents.

The Earl Ogiers, 333 Stratford, look back upon their recent visit to the Louisville tobacco farm of friends as one of their pleasantest and most interesting trips. The home of their host was built before the Civil war and has just been beautifully remodelled and modernized. On the farm they saw tobacco grown and harvested and prepared for drying. Of special interest to the Ogiers' daughter, Christine, were the farm's four riding horses, and most of her days were spent in the saddle.

Bond Issues Roll Up Big Suburb Majority

by PHILIP NELSON

Nothing was more clearly defined in the Nov. 8 general election than how the voters felt about the necessity for mental health and university bond funds.

In four townships of the Northwest suburban area, even with figures incomplete and unofficial, it is obvious there was an overwhelming upsurge of "yes" votes.

In Wheeling township, for example, 18,309 voted "yes" and 4,225 "no" for the mental health bond, and 19,551 voted "yes" and 3,679 voted "no" on the university bond.

IN PALATINE township, the gap was even greater, as 10,303 voted "yes" and 1,616 voted "no" on mental health, and 9,657 voted "yes" and 2,204 voted "no" on the university bond issue.

In five out of seven precincts of the Schaumburg township vote, 1,999 voted "yes" for the mental health bond and 387 voted "no"; 1830 voted "yes" for the university bond and 494 voted "no."

Here, the Democrats credited Governor-Elect Otto Kerner for the strong victory. Kerner edged out Stratton in this, the only township of the four named, and Kerner pitched his campaign battle song high on the mental health failure of the Stratton administration.

IN ONE-THIRD of the Elk Grove township figures yet available, 2285 voted "yes" to 411 "noes" on mental health, and 2139 said "yes" to 512 who said "no" on the university bond.

Should the bonds prove to be successfully passed throughout the state, and it appears that they will, $150 million in bonds will be purchased to rehabilitate and improve state institutions for the mentally ill.

Also, they will purchase $195 million in bonds for improvement of the state university facilities, part of which may be the four-year branch in the Chicago area.

However, there is a big "if" in the requirement that the majority required should equal the number voting for legislators during the last election. If someone voted for a legislator and did not vote for the bonds, it would be regarded as a "no" vote, all other things being equal. (B8

Republican Women Honor Mrs. Church

Republican women from communities within the 13th Congressional district gathered at the Evanston home of Mrs. D. W. Palmer last Thursday morning to pay tribute to the hon. Marguerite Stitt Church, recently re-elected congresswoman.

Representing the Wheeling Township Women's Republican club were Mrs. Walter Brown, club president, Mrs. Andrew Duros and Mrs. George Marshall.

Mrjs. Church attributed her re-election to hard work, not just during the last three months of the campaign, but over a period of two years. She stated that this is a district composed of intelligent people who take time to think and who have strong convictions in Republican principles.

MRS. CHURCH further asserted that we have all had a rude awakening. "We must organize," she said. "We must get out and ring doorbells." Her emphasis was on the urgency of immediate action.

Women within Wheeling township who ask "what can I do" are urged to join and work with a Republican organization. The Wheeling Township Women's Republican club is open to all women residing within the area. Membership chairman is Mrs. A. J. Baugous, CL 3-8027. B8

OTHERS, who sought emergency care for broken bones are Anthony Orozco, 3, of Rolling Meadows, elbow; Mrs. Eleanor Peterson, Chicago, right leg; Robert Sabey, 15, of Mt. Prospect, finger.

Two youngsters were treated for dog bites. They are Cathy Oranetz, 4, of Arlington Heights, who suffered puncture wounds of the nose, mouth, and left hand and Gordon Gosch, 9, of Prospect Heights, who required stitches for a bite on the right leg.

While she was buffing floors Mrs. Joan Moore, Mt. Prospect, injured her right hand. The hospital staff cleaned and dressed the wound. Bonnie Kiddle, 1, of Lake Zurich, had her stomach pumped after she was found chewing on a red lead pencil.

DAVID WINECKE, 4, of Des Plaines, ran into a wall and suffered a one-inch cut of the scalp. Mendy Clark, 1, of Palatine fell and her barette went into her scalp. At the hospital, the barette was removed and the wound cleaned.

Those who suffered burns are Jeffrey Ellis, 1, of Palatine, who grabbed the hot exhaust line of a power lawn mower and received first and second degree burns on the right hand and Mrs. Maureen Rudnick, Arlington Heights, who suffered third degree burns on part of her hand from putting out a small fire at her home.

Gary Heib, 11, of Prospect Heights, walked into a hand saw and suffered a two-inch cut on his left knee. Janet Baumgartner, 2, of Palatine, fell and bit her tongue, suffering a 1½-inch cut that required stitches. August Essig, 56, of Chicago, injured his hand while operating a brisk saw. (B8

The Harry Phillipps, 644 N. Salem, enjoyed a weekend in Wisconsin, where they visited her mother in Marshfield.

Terrence is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gleason, 911 N. Princeton, for their new baby born in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, November 8, weighing 7 pounds. Waiting for Terrence and their mother when they came home were Chris, 11½, Bobby, 9½, Patty, 7½, Joan 4½, and Karen, 1½. Grandparents are Mrs. Thomas Loftus and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sweeney.

Friends and neighbors of the W. J. Auburns, 1005 N. Princeton, will miss them when they move to Cary on Friday. There was a farewell party for them Saturday evening in the home of Jean and Marshall Gray. Several of the couples on the block who went to the Couples club dances with the Auburns were there for the evening which featured a midnight supper. The Auburns were delightfully surprised to have their friends present them with a farewell gift for their fireplace.

AFTER A YEAR in Saskatchewan, the Charles Jones family, 835 N. Kaspar, are picking up where they left off here before his work took them to Canada on a mine construction job. Mrs. Jones says that winter is the social time up there and because it is much colder for a longer period of time than here, it is a paradise of sports. Their children especially enjoyed the winter sports and had plenty of time to perfect their skill in many of them. During their vacation they camped, making the circle tour of Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper National park. The whole family was impressed with the beauty of the country and they all look back on their stay in Canada as a very pleasant one.

The Vince Cunninghams, 802 N. Harvard, celebrated Nancy's fourth birthday Sunday at a family party that included 17. There was a buffet supper and home movies.

Because Cathy Cryer's birthday fell on election day this year, she had a small family celebration that night and a party for several of her friends last Saturday. Jimmie Lauer, Mark Elenz, Sue Harden, Kyle McKay, Nancy Bayert, Linda Hostler, Kathy Bartik, Libby Griffith, Dorothy Lee, Karen Briscoe and Steve Lambert came to wish her a happy seventh birthday. The children enjoyed making candy flowers (which promptly disappeared) before being served ice cream and individual cupcakes decorated with coconut hair and candy eyes, nose and mouth. The games afterward proved so popular that the parents arrived before the children were finished. Cathy's birthday wish came true -- she received a new bike. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Newman S. Cryer, 1007 N. Kennicott.

THE LEONARD Garashas, 809 N. Harvard, always enjoy a family get together and the one Sunday lasted all day. Len's sister and her boys were there with Mother and Dad Garasha to celebrate the latter's birthday, with lunch in the afternoon and dinner in the evening.

George Krilcic, 910 N. Harvard, had plenty of people to celebrate his birthday with him Sunday. He, Helen and their children were joined by Lil and George Lurtz and Margie for dinner at Biltmore country club.

The weatherman was very accommodating to Jean and Harry Kunberger, 926 N. Kennicott, when they went to Wisconsin over the weekend. Leaving Friday, they drove to Neenah for a visit with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norman. One of the highlights of their trip was watching the Green Bay Packers play the Dallas Cowboys on Sunday in Green Bay. On the way up and back, they visited another of Jean's aunts and uncles.

It has been a busy week for the James Kunnens, 1016 N. Fernandez. Jeff, 5 last Wednesday, had a party Tuesday for several friends from the neighborhood. Thursday his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kunnen, came from Michigan City to honor him with another celebration. There was still another one over the weekend when the John Bradburn family came in from Muncie, Ind., to spend the weekend with the Kunnens.

When Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Law, 1021 N. Chicago, went to Galesburg for Parents weekend at Knox college, Terry and Douglas spent the time with their grandparents in Lake Forest. The Laws enjoyed being with Bruce at Knox and Terry and Douglas and their grandparents enjoyed their weekend together, too.

THE JOHN J. Lightners, 921 N. Harvard, went in several directions over the weekend. Johnny went to Waupaca, Wis., for a 2-day visit at Blessed Sacrament seminary and the others went to see Peg at St. Joseph convent.

An unexpected visit from her mother, Mrs. Joseph Rurka, over the weekend ended in a family get-together for the Eugene Myslos, 721 N. Kaspar. Mrs. Rurka drove down from Iron Mountain, Mich., with friends and surprised the Myslos. Before Sunday was over, Mrs. Myslo's brother and his family came out from Itasca.

John, infant son of Dr. and Mrs. George Oliver, 705 N. Kennicott, was baptized in St. James church October 30 with Father Roth officiating. His godparents were Alan Husch, Mrs. Oliver's brother, and Susan Oliver, Dr. Oliver's sister. Both sets of grandparents and the godparents came back to the Oliver home for a buffet supper. They were also surprised by a visit from his cousin and his wife who dropped in while househunting.

Last Sunday Mrs. Oliver was hostess at a toy demonstration in her home. Gloria Vogel, Margaret Busse, Doris Nastal and several Des Plaines friends came to see the toys and place Christmas orders.

Marilyn and Thad Ostrowski, 928 N. Kaspar, had visitors over the weekend. Their aunt and uncle were visiting a daughter and her family in Green Bay and stopped to see Marilyn and Thad on their way home to Scranton, Pa. It was the first time they had seen Marilyn and Thad's home and they were quite impressed with it and the community.

Saturday, Helen Polites, her mother and sisters, Sophie Machas and her mother and Elsie Sorensen attended a luncheon and fashion show at Rolling Green country club given by St. John Greek Orthodox Womens club.

MONDAY EVENING the following ladies gathered at Barbara Rubenking's 948 N. Fernandez, to bid LaVerne Lavers goodbye: Florence Hannum, Pat Kunnen, LaVerne Buechner, Lois Vesecky, Norma Robertson, Rosaleen Benson, Helen Davidson, Julia Buehler, Bernice Gaul, Joan Nelson, Jean Dilley, Marjorie Raitt, Jean Vetter and Del Klippert, who was co-hostess with Barbara. LaVerne Buechner and Julia Buehler also helped with the party. They gave LaVerne a table centerpiece for her new home. LaVerne and her family will be missed in the neighborhood, but everyone is glad that they will still be living in Arlington Heights.

Norma and Al Snap and young Steve, 1012 N. Kaspar, spent the weekend in Freeport with his mother. A trip down there means a visit with his brothers and sisters and Steve gets to play with all his cousins.

Kaspar ave. folks will be glad to hear that former Arlington Heighter Betty Huskey came her for a visit recently. The Huskeys are still living in Grand Rapids and Betty brought pictures of the children to show her friends how they have grown. They lived next to the Al Snaps before moving to Grand Rapids.

A family party for Michael Topp, November 5, celebrated his sixth birthday, which fell on the 2nd. Twenty-five of his aunts, uncles, cousins and his grandmother gathered around the table for a dinner in his honor. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Topp, 810 N. Kennicott.

Dianne Rogatsky, Betty Dunn's niece from California, spent the weekend with Betty, Ed and Janice, 930 N. Kennicott. A Wave in the Hospital Corps school at Great Lakes, Dianne was thrilled to be with some of her family. (A Thirty-five members of the senior class of Arlington high school were accompanied by teacher Roland Goins on a science field trip to the Hinsdale Health museum last week.

Over 150,000 persons have visited the popular health museum since it was opened two years ago by the Kettering Family Foundation. The exhibits feature the normal human body and its functions and include the famous Talking Glass Lady, a plexiglas figure of a woman whose internal organs are visible and light up as she herself tells how they work.

What many people don't know about crabgrass

1. Crabgrass grows only from seed. The dead crabgrass plants you see now will disintegrate and disappear—leaving ugly bare patches in your lawn. Crabgrass is an annual. It re-seeds itself at the end of each summer.

2. Last year's seed is in the ground. Crabgrass is one of nature's most prolific weeds. Right now, literally billions of crabgrass seeds are waiting in most lawns for spring warmth to germinate. Then the vicious cycle starts all over again.

3. You can keep it from coming up. A single winter application of HALTS with the accurate Scotts Spreader creates an invisible barrier against crabgrass. HALTS lies in wait, kills crabgrass as it sprouts. (HALTS will not harm good grass—doesn't interfere with seeding.)

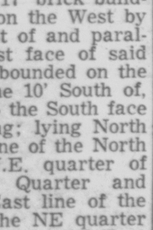
Great Electronic Advance

by ED LANDWEHR



Television and radio sets so small that they could be worn as a trinket on a necklace are possible with the development of a new principle called 'molecular electronics'.

Breaking away from the customary circuits with many components, a tiny molecular conductor, the size of a match head, will replace vacuum tubes, rectifiers, resistors and condensers. Special types of molecules within this electronic wonder will perform each task and practically never wear out.

At present all research in this field is going toward guided missiles and satellites, but like other electronic advances, the public will eventually benefit from them in their home appliances.

Meanwhile, keep the TV number CL 5-0700 handy, and LANDWEHR'S TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, WILL keep your present electronics in fine service. Our modern equipment enables us to service nine out of ten sets right in the living room of your home.

Elsa has been experiencing many 'firsts' the past weeks, as she is a senior exchange student at Regina Dominican High school in Wilmette. Diane and her other classmates have enjoyed teaching Elsa our customs and have been pleased with her favorable reactions. Elsa was Diane's guest for dinner after the game.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers also enjoyed a fun packed football weekend recently. For the past three years they have journeyed to Grandville, Mich. to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dok at a football game. A chartered bus took a group of 24 of their friends to Ann Arbor to witness the Michigan - Illinois game.

Everything stays clean twice as long in a flameless electric kitchen

There's no flame to create dirt that smudges walls or ceilings. A clean-cooking electric range cooks without soiling, keeps your kitchen clean about twice as long. Result: you spend half as much time and money on washing and decorating.

Heats food—not you. A flameless electric range transfers heat to the pan and directly into foods—not your kitchen. The oven is insulated on all six sides (not just five). Hardly any heat escapes. Your kitchen stays at least ten degrees cooler.

When you build, buy an appliance, or remodel your kitchen, keep in mind the clean, fume-free cooking you get in a flameless electric range.

GEORGE HARRIS

The election is over; many people are glad and many people are unhappy. So it goes, but regardless of how you feel, remember — you can't win them all.

Now that the candidate has been selected it is our duty to support him to the best of our ability. No I am not a politician, but I know that the American people are that way — t'was ever thus. It was a close one and I believe all of us were biting our nails as we watched the returns. I, for one, am glad it is all over and now we can get back to the business at hand, namely, the selling of prescriptions and sundry drugs.

As I have stated, we at Harris Pharmacy stand ready to serve you at all times — whether your needs be large or small.

'Man and Superman' On Arlington Boards

Clark Kent and his comic strip counterpart are the only items missing from Arlington high school's production of George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman," which begins a three night run on the Little Theatre stage tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Friday and Saturday night at 8 curtain will rise on one of Director Murphy's most ambitious undertakings.

MURPHY REPORTS that the 13 member cast is ready for the convention-shattering comedy which the British playwright first tossed at turn-of-the-century audiences.

Cast in the leading roles of John Tanner, the author's personal representative in the dialogue; and Ann Whitefield, Shaw's feminine combatant in the man-woman struggle; are Kurt Markshausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Markshausen, 1920 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, and Martha LaRose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. LaRose, 611 E. Grove, Arlington Heights.

CHARLES KING, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Harold King, 350 S. Burton pl., and Robert Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Stone, 1428 N. Dunton, both of Arlington Heights, tackle the challenging roles of Octavius Robinson and Roebuck Ramsden respectively.

Carol Weiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Weiser, 1021 Illinois ave., Arlington Heights, is Ann Whitefield's accomplice, Violet Robinson; and the role of Henry Straker will be shared by Frank Renner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Renner Sr., 6 W. Fairview, Arlington Heights, and Richard Keslinke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Keslinke, 1715 W. Miner, Arlington Heights. Renner chauffeurs on Thursday and Saturday nights, while Keslinke handles the part on Friday.

THE ROLE of Mrs. Whitefield is also double cast, Suzanne Katovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Katovich, 728 N. Dunton, doing the mothering on Thursday and Saturday nights, and watching Mary Jane Heberling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Heberling, 819 W. Fairview, on Friday night.

Other cast members are Elroy Schuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schuler, 115 Warren ave., Palatine; Ian S. Bartholomew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bartholomew, 534 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights; Bonnie Luster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Luster, 704 W. George, Arlington Heights.

Mary Ann Holdeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Holdeman, 444 S. Lincoln, Arlington Heights; and Joyce Berggren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Berggren, 1411 W. Miner, Arlington Heights.

Supervising the production's set construction, properties, make-up, and stage managing is Mrs. Mary Ellen Grasso, English department newcomer to the Arlington high school faculty.

ART INSTRUCTOR James Walker has designed the show's three settings. Scenery ranging from a study in an English home to the courtyard of a Spanish villa is unified by large plastered pillars. Created for the production is a larger-than-life-size statue and an art department created replica of a 1903 touring car.

"Still, with all the scenery and period trappings, Shaw's people and their dialogue command the focus in "Man and Superman." They are never villains, but characters with human feelings," Murphy comments.

"They remain the people we know, saying the things we say every day, with little thought to the depth of our hypocracies, our lack of courage as humans who have worlds to conquer as we look for new holes in which to bury our ostrich heads."

Tickets, priced at $1 for adults and 75 cents for students, are available at the door before each performance or may be purchased in advance at the high school.

Field-O-Rama Winners Cited

Among winners in the north area semi finals of the Christian Service Brigade stockade Field-O-Rama held last Friday at the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church were Bob DeJonge, David Wessner, Bill Witmer, Ernie Troutman, Dan Semple, and Ray Slaninka, all of the Arlington Heights area.

The boys from the Bayview Beach Bible church in Crystal Lake also won four blue ribbons, while the Libertyville Evangelical Free church stockade won one.

The events included two lap race, four man relay, three legged race, chicken fight, and rope pull. Chief rangers are John Semple, Arlington Heights; Virgil McKay, Crystal Lake, and Lee Troup, Libertyville. (A

Gala Prom Fete Mapped for Teens At Prospect High

With a working committee of 129 juniors dedicated to making the Junior - Senior prom a success, Prospect high school expects to make the year-end dance a real "once in a lifetime" thrill for departing students.

Theme of the prom will be the "Premiere of Knights". The dance will be dedicated to the senior class of 1961.

A leading man and a leading lady will be chosen by students from the members of the senior class.

THE DANCE will be free for all juniors and seniors with all expenses paid by the junior class.

Music for the dance will be provided continuously during the prom. Don Caron will be band director and a three - piece combo will play.

The 129 juniors have been divided into working committees of about 30 students. These committees will head work on bids, entertainment, band and location.

To raise funds for the prom, members of the junior class have been raising money since their freshman year. Main source of funds has been the holding of concessions at all school football and basketball games. The class has also held concessions at school dances.

SINCE September the juniors have raised more than $800 from various projects.

Major problem remaining for the prom committee is a suitable site for the dance. The place must accomodate 500 couples. If an outside site cannot be found the dance will be held on the school premises. ACM

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

In the resurrection of the body.

Miracle, did you say? It sure is!

That's the glory of the Christian faith. Death is not the end. Hope is not limited to this life . . . in this world.

The Christian lives in sure and certain hope of the resurrection of the body, because Christ—who arose from the dead—promises this same resurrection to every one of His followers.

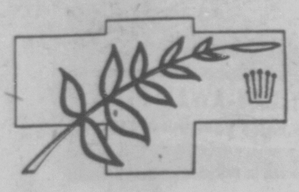
Explain it, you say? Who can explain a miracle?

Lutherans make no attempt to explain the mechanics of the resurrection of the body. It's a matter of faith. Their only touchstone is Scripture.

Christ has promised, "I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there you may be also." In what manner will this be?

St. Paul offers a glimpse, saying, Christ "shall change our body that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body."

. . . and that means a resurrected body, a new body, an eternal body, a body that will never suffer, a body that will be used to sing the praises of God in all eternity.



The twenty-six Northwest Suburban Lutheran congregations invite them next Sunday you to worship with

Lutheran Church Plans Public Concert Sunday

FEATURED SOLOIST at organ concert being sponsored Sunday by Our Saviour's Lutheran church is Robert Wolff, director of music for the Arlington Heights congregation and music instructor at Arlington high school. The Girls Glee club of the high school will also perform at the 4 p.m. concert being held in the church, 1234 N. State rd. (A

The Allen organ, playing to its full capacity, a 40-voice girls' glee club, a 30-voice children's choir, and a tenor with training and experience are in store for the general public and friends of Our Saviour's Lutheran church, 1234 N. State rd., who attend the organ concert at the church, Sunday, November 20, at 4 p.m.

Robert Wolff, director of music of the congregation, will be at the console organ playing the finest of the classical and sacred music. It has been reported that Wolff will bring varieties of sound combinations from the instrument that have not been used since the time of its installation.

Wolff has been playing the organ since early September when he began his duties, and he has discovered the possibilities of tone that the instrument can deliver. These will be put on display through the compositions of Bach, Mendelssohn, Liszt, Mozart, and others.

INCLUDED IN the supporting cast will be the Girls' Glee club of Arlington high school. This singing group is made up of 40 students, mostly juniors and seniors. It has been termed one of the top performing high school choral groups in the northwest suburban area.

The girls, clad in bright red and white uniforms ,have become well-known as they have appeared before many audiences in this area.

Another choral group, the carol choir, one of the congregation's four choirs, will also offer several selections. This group of about 30 fourth, fifth and sixth graders, has been under the direction of Mrs. Robert Wolff since September.

Vincent Ahnquist, a member of the staff of the Arlington high school music department, will also be on the program. Ahnquist received his bachelor's degree in music education from Augustana college in Rock Island, and taught for three years at the East Moline high school before coming to Arlington last September.

Next year he will be completing his requirements for master's degree in music education at Drake university in Des Moines, Iowa. (A

The announcement was made by Mrs. J. G. McCartney, director of volunteers for the hospital's Women's auxiliary.

The shop, located on the first floor, to the left of the main entrance, has been furnished with modern furniture and fixtures and soda fountain and snack bar by the 52 life members of the auxiliary.

THE COFFEE shop will serve sweet rolls, cakes, cookies, pastries, sandwiches, and a complete soda fountain menu. The gift shop will feature toys for children and an assortment of gifts for adults and the homes. There will also be Christmas gift items and in the future, the Pink Lady will feature a personal line of cosmetics.

Working under Mrs. McCartney, Inverness, will be Mrs. J. Mason, shop chairman, and Mrs. C. F. Hansen, coffee shop chairman, both of Arlington Heights. Mrs. T. J. McKain, Barrington, is the buyer.

All proceeds from the shop will go toward the Women's auxiliary's pledge of $25,000 to the hospital. (B8

Student Teachers Take Over Classes

High school district 214 is one of 60 Illinois districts where University of Illinois student teachers have been assigned to selected teacher training centers for their "professional" semester this fall.

The prospective high school teachers began full-time teaching under local cooperating teachers October 31 and will remain in the community until Christmas vacation.

AT ARLINGTON high two commerce students and a potential art teacher are doing practice teaching; Janet Schleper, DuQuoin, is working under Mrs. Hazel Faulkner, and Karen Sjostrom, Rockford, is an "understudy" for Leta McMillan. The art student is Darlene Kittilsen, Park Ridge, who is working with Edward Fischer.

Prospect high has five practice teachers: Joan Hottes, DuQuoin, commerce, with William Mitchell; Wayne Kerchner, Harmon, science, with Don Wachlin; Fern Levy, Chicago, art, with George Fredin; Richard Melinder, Chicago, science, with Robert Kemman; Marilyn Mitchell, Westville, social studies, with Jane Mahin and Betty Trout. Early Christmas Mailing Is Urged

"Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas. Post Office facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available, and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in Arlington Heights this year," said Postmaster Virginia Dodge this week.

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time. Even though Christmas is a month away by the calendar, it's Christmas every day at the Post Office from now on.

THE POSTMASTER advises, "Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents."

She said further, "If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the Post Office before attempting to mail them. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where you mail your packages from."

Always send your Christmas cards by First Class mail and be sure to include your return name and address on each Christmas card envelope.

Send all Christmas mail going long distances before December 10th. Follow up promptly with cards and gifts for local delivery. Mail "Early and Often" for a merrier Christmas! (ACM

But Possible, Says Educators

Hard to 'Goldbrick' Way on Honor Roll

Can a student "goldbrick" his way to the high school honor roll?

School officials of Arlington and Prospect high schools say "No, but . . ." They stress it is almost an impossibility, but in rare cases might be done by a student.

The question was raised by an anxious parent through Paddock Publications Fencepost column last week. The parent stated a student could direct his high school course to the subjects easiest for him and thus "coast" to the honor roll. With first quarter grades to be issued tomorrow, Nov. 18, many other parents may have similar questions.

In reply to this, school authorities point to the many subjects all students are required to take. At the freshman level all students must take English, biology, math or algebra. These three courses, plus an elective course, comprise the students' entire schedule with the possible addition of art or music as well as physical education.

ALL COURSES which are required of all students are given at five ability levels-accelerated, fast, average, slow and remedial. A student cannot receive an "A" grade unless he is in the accelerated or fast class. He cannot get a "B" grade if he is in the slow or remedial group. In this way a student who earns an "A" in English is doing more than the average work to earn his top grade.

The same situation is true of remedial math and algebra. Students do not earn grades of "A" in remedial subjects - they must be in the top two groupings of work and ability.

Students who show more ability than the group in which they are placed, or students who cannot do the work of their group are transferred to either a faster or slower class which will demand the utmost of their abilities.

The school officials stress, however, that all students have a certain freedom in choice of courses beyond the freshman level, particularly at the senior level. The vast majority of youngsters at both high schools are enrolled in the academic courses serving as a preparation for college. In the academic field, in addition to the required English, science, United States history and math, the student must take a foreign language and an additional year of science or similar subject.

THIS WOULD leave only four one-year elective subjects which the student could choose in his "easy" field if he so desired.

Dr. Eugene Oliver, principal of Arlington high school, pointed out that all subjects are not either "difficult" or "easy" but depend upon the abilities, individual talents and desires of various students. As an example Dr. Oliver stated some students who found chemistry a "breeze" had extreme difficulty in taking a typing course. Other students who master shorthand and typing with almost no effort would find chemistry or physics beyond their abilities.

"It depends upon the individual, Sup. Harold Slichenmyer of district 214 said.

DAVID WHITESIDE, head of the Arlington high school counseling department, emphasized that counselors worked hard to prevent students with high ability from taking "easy courses." In cases where the students persist in taking courses which the counselor feels are below their maximum ability, a notation of this is included on the four-year course plan sent home for parental signature. In this way parents are made aware that their child is "goldbricking" and the school is unable to force him to work to his full capabilities.

To achieve the senior honor roll a student must have an average of 4.5 with no grade lower than "B." In computing honor roll standings A's are worth five points, B's four points, C's three points. For the junior honor roll the student must have an average of 4.0 with no grade lower than "C."

THE SCHOOL grading policy stresses scholastic achievement rather than a reward for effort. School officials stress this basis is used because colleges, future employers, and other groups interested in a student's record rely primarily on grades as an index to the scholastic achievement. Honor rolls are recognized by teachers as a mark of scholastic achievement rather than effort.

School officials pointed out it might be more work to try to "goldbrick" a way to the honor roll than to actually work hard for the honor.

Icy Pavement Blamed For Suburban Wrecks

There was no increase in the number of traffic mishaps in the northwest suburban area this past week, although the first presence of winter was felt.

Icy pavement from an unseasonal snow made progress hazardous in spots, according to District 3 state police.

AMONG THE more serious mishaps were:

—On last Saturday, police cited Leland L. Chesley, 53, of Box 18, Rt. 1, Quuentin rd., Palatine, for improper passing at an intersection and damage to state property after he ran into a car and guard rail at Illinois 62 and Freeman rd.

Police said Chesley, who was driving east on Illinois 62, attempted to pass a car turning left at Freeman rd., collided with it, and then swerved off into a guard rail.

Chesley was taken to Northwest Community hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in the crash. Driver of the other car, Walter D. Clark, 16, of 1011 Yale st., Arlington Heights, escaped injury as did two passengers in his car. Damage to Chesley's car was figured at $600, with $150 damage to the guard rail and $100 to the other car.

—ON SUNDAY, police charged Franklin Hahn, 25, of Cloverdale, Rt. 1, Bartlett, with driving under the influence of alcohol, too fast for conditions and disobeying a stop sign after he rammed a Hoffman Estates squad car at Barrington rd. and Illinois 72 while being pursued by Hanover Park police.

Hahn and Hoffman Estates Patrolman Willard Anderson, 33, who had set up a road block to stop Hahn, were injured in the crash. Anderson was taken to Sherman hospital in Elgin while Hahn was treated at Northwest Community hospital.

Hahn had struck the squad car while going north on Barrington rd. The police car was described as a total wreck, while there was $700 damage to Hahn's vehicle.

—Also on Saturday police cited George J. Kautzi, 21, of 4131 Mango, Chicago, for traveling too fast for conditions after he rammed into the rear of a car while headed south on Illinois 21 a half mile north of Illinois 58. Driver of the other car, Robert M. Mills, 23, of 521 S. Cumberland, Park Ridge, and a passenger in his car, Bonnie Stocking, 20, of 5827 N. Marmora, Chicago, suffered bruises in the crash. Damage to the vehicles was figured at $900.

—ON WEDNESDAY, Nov. 9, two cars collided on Meacham rd. a mile south of Illinois 62 when one of the cars skidded on an icy stretch. Police said that a car driven by Robert E. Cichy, 16, of 1276 S. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, was headed north on Meacham when it started to skid on the ice into the path of a car coming in the opposite direction driven by Tommie Heggins, 19, of 905 S. 3rd st., St. Charles.

Cichy was taken to Northwest Community hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in the mishap. Damage to the vehicles was figured at $350.

—On Thursday, Nov. 10, a Palatine woman and her son were injured when the car she was driving south on Clyde st. a mile south of U.S. 14 smashed into the rear of a vehicle parked on the highway. Mrs. Helen M. Bartsch, 23, of 719 W. Hillcrest rd., Palatine, and her son, Richard Jr., 6, suffered cuts and bruises in the crash. Mrs. Bartsch was cited for improper lane usage, and owner of the parked car, Joe Russell, of 1131 E. Palatine rd., R.R. 3, Palatine, was issued a citation for parking on the highway. Damage to the Bartsch automobile was figured at $200, with $20 damage done to the other vehicle.

—On Wednesday, Nov. 9, a car driven by William R. Sims, 39, of 618 Lincolnwood, Streamwood, skidded an an icy patch and went into a ditch while headed east on Illinois 19 two miles east of Illinois 59 at Wise rd. Sims said a passing vehicle's bright lights temporarily blinded him, causing him to lose control. Sims was treated at the Roselle police department for bruises. Damage to his vehicle was figured at $400.

—On Tuesday, Nov. 8, police cited Georgia L. Adams, 36, of P.O. Box 94, Roselle, for failure to yield the right-of-way and a violation of a restricted driver's license after a mishap at Touhy ave. and Plainview dr. a mile west of U.S. 45.

POLICE SAID the woman was headed east on Touhy ave. and attempted a left hand turn onto Plainview, colliding with a car going west on Touhy ave. driven by Thomas B. Barker, 28, of 1727 W. Chase, Chicago.

Both drivers suffered bruises in the crash, and a passenger in the Adams vehicle, Shirley Lusader, 37, of 21 W. 855 Thorndale, Itasca, suffered cuts. The injured were taken to Resurrection hospital for treatment. Damage to the vehicles was figured at $800. (B8

Gun Mishaps Are Threat To Hunters

An experienced hunter always checks his gun barrel for obstructions - such as dirt or snow - and carries shells of only one gauge: the gauge of the gun with which he is hunting.

While this may seem to be an emphasis of the obvious, it apparently isn't, according to Glen D. Palmer, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, who passes on these warnings.

"During the 1959-60 season, seven hunters were killed and 12 injured in shooting accidents," Palmer said.

OTHER measures to take to insure safety:

—Make sure the muzzle is not pointing at a partner;

—Always unload a gun before crossing a fence;

—Be sure of your target before firing;

—Remember it is illegal to transport a loaded gun in a car;

Five Teachers to Attend Convention

During the Thanksgiving vacation, five English instructors at Prospect high school will attend the golden anniversary convention of the National Council of Teachers of English in Chicago.

Miss Jane Mahin, chairman of the English department; Donald Thomas, member of the board of directors of NCTE; Donald Fyfe, Harold McNabb and Robert Staley plan to attend special meetings.

HIGHLIGHTING the program will be addresses by noted writers. J. B. Priestley, British novelist, dramatist, and critic, will speak Thursday night on "Literature, Life, and the Classroom." Ruth G. Strickland of [illegible] University and president of the council will discuss "What Thou Lov'st Well" as the topic for her talk.

Richard Armour, poet and humorist, will speak at the annual banquet on Friday evening. His topic will be "A Satirist At Work." Sean O'Faolain, short story writer and essayist, will discuss "The Pleasures of Reading Fiction."

CLIMAX OF the convention will be an address by Mark Van Doren, poet, biographer, and teacher, who will speak on "Poetry as Knowledge" at the final luncheon on Saturday afternoon.

The English Council stresses excellence in all phases of teaching. National problems and trends will be discussed at the meetings to enable members to strengthen their instructional skills.

"All Our Past Acclaims Our Future," the convention theme, is based on the celebration of the Council's fiftieth year. Since the Council originated in Illinois, this year's convention is being held in Chicago. (ACM

New Style Phone Numbers Initiated

Beginning this week new phone customers moving into Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights and Rolling Meadows will be assigned new-style telephone numbers consisting of seven figures, according to G. W. Kaucher, Illinois Bell manager here.

Here, for example, is how a new-style number in this area would appear: 253-9981.

The first two figures of the number "25" are in the same oenings on the dial as the letters "CL" in present CLearbrook numbers. Thus for example, "CL 3" becomes "253."

"When you see a phone number consisting entirely of figures," said Kaucher, "just dial the figures. Your call will go through in the usual way. I'm sure customers will find that dialing the new-style numbers if fast, easy and accurate," he said.

AS ANOUNCED early last summer, Illinois Bell is gradually shifting to the new, all number system.

"This is the telephone numbering plan of the future." he said.

"The booming population growth, with a resulting telephone growth, makes it necessary to adopt a new number system," he said.

"This growth is causing us to 'run out' of usable telephone prefix combinations," he continued. "Using seven figures instead of letters and figures for phone numbers boosts available prefix combinations almost 50 per cent," Kaucher explained.

Telephone customers here who now have CL 3, CL 5 and CL 9 numbers will not, for the present, be affected by this gradual introduction of the new style numbers, according to Kaucher.

HOWEVER, any customer wishing to have his number shown the new style way in the next telephone directory may do so by calling the business office.

He pointed out that in addition to providing more telephone prefix combinations, the new, seven figure numbers have several advantages for phone users.

Because they consist entirely of figures, there's no need to search for the harder - to-find letters on the dial.

Also, there's no confusion due to misspelling or mispronunciation of exchange names which often occur with the present letter - figure system.

"People often mistake the letter 'o' for the figure "O" (zero), and the letter 'i' for the figure '1' (one).

The new style, seven figure phone numbers will help eliminate these errors," Kaucher said. (ACM

Q. When is it proper for one to begin eating when at the dinner table?

A. When just the family or a small group are there, it's pleasant and courteous to wait until all are served before beginning to eat. If there are a great number of persons and your food might cool before the serving is completed, it's proper to start eating after several persons have been served. At a buffet, you eat as soon as you fill your plate.

Noted Vocalist Is Set for 'Messiah'

SAM RESNICK

Sam Resnick, a much-traveled vocalist and municipal opera star, will be one of four soloists for Arlington and Prospect high schools' music department presentation of Handel's "Messiah," scheduled for Dec. 4 in the boys' gym at Arlington High.

Resnick will be accompanied by a 60 piece orchestra and a chorus of some 900 voices. The other three soloists have yet to be named, according to director Frederick Schmoyer.

All area church choirs have been invited to participate in the bi-annual presentation, and area instrumentalists have bolstered the high school musicians for the program, which has drawn standing-room-only audiences in the past two performances.

IN ANNOUNCING Resnick's selection, Schmoyer pointed out that the 23-year-old soloist has sung with the Detroit Opera Theater, the Kansas City Lyric Theater, the Cameo Opera of Chicago, the Lyric Opera chorus, as well as having been featured by the Duluth Symphony, the Twin Cities Symphony, Chicago Businessmen's Orchestra, Chicago Chamber Orchestra, and Rockford Symphony.

He has appeared at the Lake Geneva Summer Music series, the Michigan City Friendship Gardens Music series, the Flint, Michigan, "Music Under the Stars" series, and the Grosse Pointe, Michigan, concert series.

THE BASS - baritone is a graduate of Northwestern university.

Rehearsals for the presentation are being conducted Sunday afternoons at Arlington high school. The orchestra practices at 2 p.m. in the band room, with the choir work beginning at 3. Schmoyer invites any interested person to participate in the program to report for practice. He is especially interested in adult players of stringed instruments. (ACM

Colorado as Seen By Chemist-Biker Slated in Series

A bicycling chemist will present "Colorado, Today and Yesterday," Tuesday night, November 22, as part of High School District 214's adult education program's Travel and Adventure Series.

Stan Midgely, who deserted his test tubes for the open road, will show his color photography of the western state "and a nostalgic look into Colorado's past," including ghost towns, horseless carriages, narrow gauge trains, and the famous Galloping Goose.

BILLED AS "the Mark Twain of the Camera" because of his humor, Midgely will dwell on Denver, Pikes Peak, the Garden of the Gods, the Royal Gorge, Estes Park, Ascent of Longs Peak, the Trail Ridge Road, Glenwood Springs, Skiing at Aspen, the Mt. of the Holy Cross, the black canyon of the Gunnison, Mesa Verde, and the Arkansas River white water race.

Midgely's travelogue is the third in the 10 part series of Tuesday night lectures. Season tickets can still be purchased for $4 with a $1 registration fee. Tickets for individual lectures are $1 at the door.

Other subjects to be presented in the series include "South America, Coast to Coast," "Indonesia," "Switzerland," "Hungary," "Czechoslovakia," "Splendors of Persia," and "The Mighty Mississippi." (ACM

OK Traffic Safety School Study Plan

Judge Robert C. Buckley and Police Chief L. W. Calderwood last week pledged their support to a study for the need of a traffic safety school now being made by the safety committee of the Arlington Heights chamber of commerce.

Buckley and Calderwood attended a meeting of the committee Friday, and both agreed the school would appreciably aid traffic enforcement by educating all types of violators, chronic and occasional.

TENTATIVE plans call for the school to be operated two nights or more a month by a salaried educator. Curt Kenyon, committee chairman, volunteered to investigate details of school location, personnel and equipment.

COMMITTEE members George Volz and William Griffith noted the village needs such a school, as violators now are sent to classes in Park Ridge, Evanston and Elgin. It was suggested non-violators also be allowed to attend the school.

Expert to Lead Panel Discussion

"Making the Most of Our Children's Abilities" will be the title of Dr. Margaret O'Brien's message at the Miner junior high school PTA meeting, Tuesday, November 22, at 8:15 p.m.

Dr. O'Brien, director of instructional services for the Evanston junior high schools, will be the leader of a panel discussion following the program. Parents will submit questions, and Dr. O'Brien will share the knowledge she has acquired from working with the junior high age group.

PARENTS OF Arlington Heights students contributed approximately 2660 pounds of clothing which filled 133 bags for the Save the Children Federation.

A "thank you" is extended to Mrs. Dale Hauser, welfare chairman; the committee: Mrs. Clyde W. Foster, Mrs. Fred Walter, Mrs. Lyman Anson, Mrs. Alvin V. Kluesing, Mrs. Earl Stigger, Mrs. Albert Hawkes, Mrs. Paul Colianni Jr., and Mrs. W. M. Hannum; and the Kehe Motor Service for the cooperation in the pick up and delivery of the bundles.

The first Book Fair is this Saturday at Miner junior high from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Census Scheduled By Six PTA Units

Parent - Teacher associations of the six Arlington Heights elementary schools will undertake a census of pre-school children in the village the week of November 28, according to an announcement made this week by Robert Campbell, principal, of Miner junior high school.

At the request of Arlington Heights school district 25, parents will convass all areas of the district to determine the number of prospective students. This information will indicate future enrollments and aid in planning school buildings, Campbell said.

SOMETIME during the week of November 21 meetings will be held to instruct enumerators as to their duties. Instruction sheets are now being prepared for distribution.

Enumerators will seek data pertaining to names of children in each household, address, date of birth, school expected to attend, and physical or mental handicaps. Also noted will be the number of new homes under construction.

Each PTA worker will be responsible for about one block of homes. It is expected 50 enumerators for each of the district's six elementary schools—Dryden, North, Park Ridge, Westgate and Windsor—will be needed.

ANOTHER purpose of the census, Campbell pointed out, is to assist in registration of kindergarten pupils. He said all findings pertinent to parochial schools in the village will be forwarded to their administrators.

Persons wishing to devote time to the census may obtain further information by phoning the elementary school in their vicinity, CL 3-6100.

Japan Missionary Speaks Here Sunday

Mrs. Edwin Henricks, chairman, announces that the annual ingathering of the Thank Offering boxes will take place at that time.

Thank Offering is sponsored by the United Lutheran church women and the funds are used in the support of the foreign mission program.

MRS. GRACE Ekstrand is in the midst of plans for the combined circle luncheon to be held December 10. Part of the program will be a gift-wrapping demonstration with holiday wrapping material on sale.

Educational topic for November is "Lutherans Will Be Together," the current merger picture. (A

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
Man's real, satisfying identity will be emphasized at Christian Science churches Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Soul and Body."
Scriptural selections will include this verse: "I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well" (Psalms 139.14).
To be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (302: 3-8): "The material body and mind are temporal, but the real man is spiritual and eternal. The identity of the real man is not lost, but found through this explanation; for the conscious infinitude of existence and of all identity is thereby discerned and remains unchanged."

First Epidemic

The first poliomyelitis epidemic in the U. S. occurred at Rutland, Vt., in 1894, when 123 cases were reported in a three-month period.

Parish Welcomes Newcomer Couples

Welcome will be the keynote of a newly formed committee in St. James parish in Arlington Heights.

All new residents and new members of St. James will receive personal greetings from the "New Couples Committee" welcoming them to the parish.

UNDER THE chairmenship of John and Nancy White of 1026 N. Gibbons, the committee is inviting newcomers to attend the 3rd annual St. James Welcome Whirl dance to be held on Friday, Nov. 25 in the Chevy Chase Country Club, Milwaukee Ave. and Wheeling rd. in Wheeling.

Robert and Pat Buckley, 222 N. Derbyshire, are general chairmen of the event.

The unique committee seeks to bring the old-timers and newcomers together at the get-acquainted parish dance. "We have found in past years that an informal get-together dance is a wonderful way to meet new parishioners and neighbors. The dance is a highlight of the year and all parishioners are invited to attend," says John White.

More than 500 persons are expected to attend.

Mike Golden will direct a twelve piece orchestra which will play from 8:45 p.m. until 12:45 a.m.

TICKETS MAY be obtained at the rectory or from members of the Welcome Whirl committee. Ticket chairmen are Jim and Terry Greist of 404 Oriole lane in Mount Prospect, Clearbrook 5-4871. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Members of the New Couples committee are Robert and Ann Scanlon of 318 N. Drury lane and James and Jean Rogers of 501 N. Lincoln Lane, both of Arlington Heights. (A

Bus Firm Asks Route Approval

The United Motor Coach company has filed an application with the Illinois Commerce commission asking permission to operate buses between Elk Grove Village and Arlington Heights, it was disclosed Monday at the Arlington Heights village board meeting.

Trustee Wendell Prunty suggested Police Chief L. W. Calderwood be advised of the application and forthcoming hearing in the event he might like to make recommendations to the company.

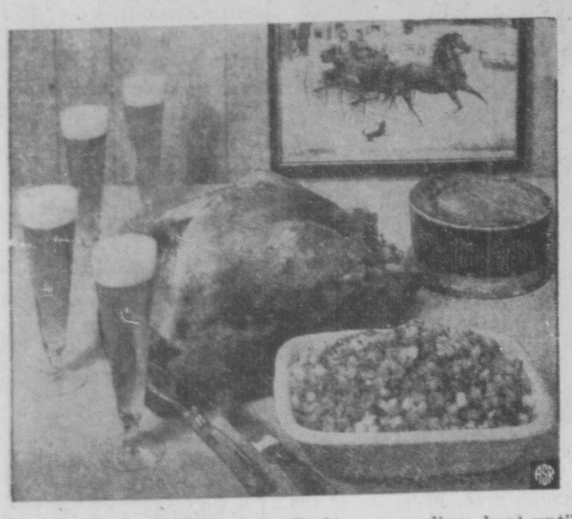
Let's Talk Turkey



Yummy is the holiday turkey stuffed with a sausage and bread mixture, savory with seasonings and tossed lightly with a little beer to make it moist and aromatic.

The 50 Puritans and their 90 Indian guests at the first Thanksgiving dinner presumably drank beer as the beverage for their holiday feast. The Pilgrims' menu featured many of the things we still enjoy on this occasion—turkey, seafood and seasonal vegetables.

Sausage Stuffing

1 pound sausage meat
1 cup onion, finely chopped
½ cup diced celery
½ cup chopped parsley
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon each, thyme, tarragon and nutmeg
4 cups soft bread cubes
½ teaspoon Tabasco
¾ cup beer or ale

Combine sausage meat, onion and celery in large skillet. Cook over medium heat until celery is tender. Drain drippings. Stir in parsely, seasonings and bread cubes.

Combine Tabasco and beer; add to stuffing and toss lightly. Yield: Approximately 8 cups or enough for a 10-pound turkey.

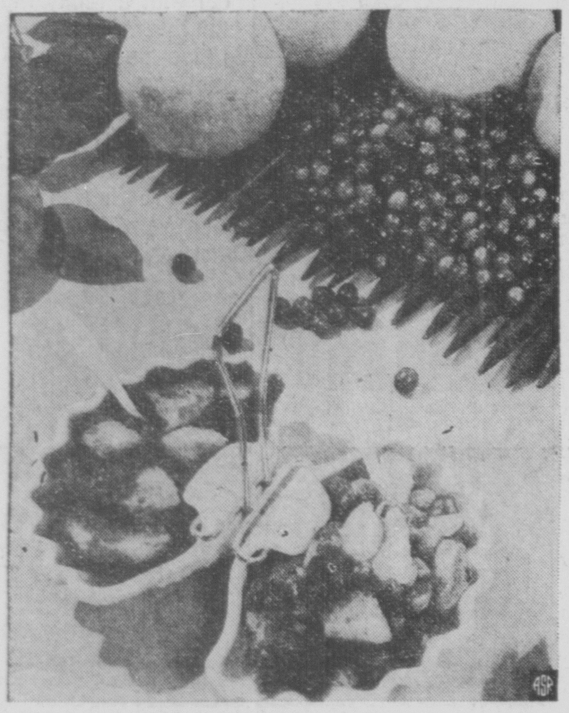
Yam Souffle

2 cups (5 to 6 potatoes) mashed yams
½ cup beer or ale
¼ cup heavy cream
¼ cup melted butter
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
4 eggs, separated

Combine all ingredients except egg whites; beat until blended. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold into yam mixture. Turn into a buttered 1½-quart casserole.

Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degree) 25 minutes or until browned. Yield: 6 servings (SH

Raw or Cooked, Cranberry Relish Is Holiday Treat



Grapefruit and cranberries combine to make a tasty and attractive relish for holiday dinner tables. Both the raw and cooked versions of the relish can be stored for several weeks so why not make up some now for your own Thanksgiving and Christmas menus and to give as gifts, too?

Although Florida citrus suffered some hurricane damage this year, there is still plenty of quality fruit available in local markets to enjoy often and in a variety of ways. Citrus is one of the richest sources of daily-needed vitamin C so Florida oranges and grapefruit are a good investment in health as well as pleasure.

Raw Relish

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 Florida grapefruit, sectioned

Put cranberries through food chopper. Add sugar; mix well. Dice Florida grapefruit sections; stir into cranberry mixture. Chill. Yield: 3 1/3 cups.

Cooked Relish

2 cups fresh cranberries
½ cup water
½ cup sugar
1 Florida grapefruit, sectioned

Combine cranberries. water and sugar in saucepan. Bring to a boil; boil until berries pop. Remove from heat. Dice Florida grapefruit sections; stir into cranberry mixture. Chill. Yield: 2 1/3 cups.

Both these relishes will store well in refrigerator several weeks. (SH

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

Alaska king salmon has long been a favorite of seafood lovers.

However, what is generally not known, even in Alaska, is that the "white" king salmon is far superior to the usual "red" king salmon, despite the fact that the red variety brings a small premium on the market because of its eye appeal.

Due to the fact that the white salmon contains more oil, it broils much better and is more flavorful. It is quick and easy to prepare. Simply baste with a mixture of melted butter, lemon and salt and broil to a golden brown on each side.

Arlington Opens Cage Season Friday

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

AN UNEXPECTED AND UNWELCOME bout with the flu prevented us from attending either the Arlington or Prospect high school sports banquet last week, and we're sorry we missed the affairs. Reports indicate that the Booster clubs, as usual, did an outstanding job in successfully wrapping up the football and cross country campaigns.

And with banquets throughout the area bringing down the curtain on the initial sports campaign of the 1960-61 school year, we'll take time to look back on the past months.

Schools served by Paddock Publications enjoyed an interesting fall. It was a season that had a little of everything.

BOB APPLEBY

There was an unbeaten football team. There was a winless one. There was a football revival at one of our DuPage schools. An injury jinx crippled a possible grid titlist. Cross country was introduced at Lake Park and Palatine's harriers, with a new coach at the helm, just missed qualifying for the state. Willowbrook's football Warriors started slow but unveiled a crack passing attack as the season drew to a close, and Notre Dame's Dons went through the Suburban Catholic campaign unbeaten but with two ties.

On the football scene we certainly have to credit Bill Beckman and his staff for guiding one of the finest high school teams in the state. Prospect was unbeaten and rarely pushed. At the outset of the season the boys knew they were on the spot with everyone pointing for the veteran-stocked Foundry rd. powerhouse. They came through when it counted.

Arlington high experienced "one of those years" but it certainly isn't a year to be ashamed of. The Cards of "Bus" Ormsbee, an inexperienced outfit to begin with, just didn't have the manpower and that West Suburban schedule can be murder during one of those "lean years." But the future looks promising at AHS.

Bob Appleby and his staff deserve some orchids for their job with the Fenton high school Bisons, a squad overlooked in early September that developed into a formidable power and played for the Tri-County championship in early November. Appleby just finished his second year at Fenton and in one season saw his Bisons recover from a winless campaign to fight it out with North Chicago for a conference title. Fenton dropped only one game this fall, and we're glad to see the gridiron revival in Bensenville.

An injury jinx played havoc with Mickey Lile in his initial year as head man of the Lake Park Lancers with starters sidelined from week to week. The Medinah unit was given an outside chance in the early returns for the Tri-County crown but couldn't shake the injuries that cut into its starting ranks. In any respect, the Lancers finished with a still creditable 6-3 mark.

Palatine was one of the pre-season choices for the North Suburban crown but lost its first league encounter and never fully recovered. Coach Charley Feutz turned out a capable team, one called by some observers as "still the best in the North Suburban," but when the firing was over, Palatine was settled in a tie for fourth in the NSC.

Willowbrook improved with each game and the Villa Park school, experiencing mediocre campaigns in its first two years of football competition, is looking toward the future with warranted optimism. There's a fine looking crop of young athletes coming up at Willowbrook.

THIS 'N THAT:

Paddock Publications will again present certificates to the boys who were honored on the West Suburban, Interim, North Suburban, and Tri-County All-Star football teams . . . East Leyden's Chuck Farina, head coach of the state wrestling champions, has good reason for looking a little downcast these days . . . Three of Marina's key boys are in the hospital with injuries incurred elsewhere than on the mat and three more talented wrestlers are still in school but ineligible because of age . . . The injured boys are Dennis Owens, Larry Baron, and Joe Milek . . . If St. Louis University plays the Nordmann brothers together this winter, it will have the biggest pair of college basketball players around . . . Bob Nordmann goes 290 and little brother Bill scales 235 . . . That's a lot of weight to throw around under the boards . . . The experts are calling Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, 6-1, 185-pound quarterback, a strong candidate for the No. 1 pick in the annual professional football draft . . . We'd like to see the talented Bulldog in Wrigley Field with the Bears . . . Just as we'd like to see a manager (any ol' manager) in Wrigley Field with the Cubs.

What does a pro football scout look for in a college player? Here was one answer: "We want a boy who does one thing well. A pro has to do one thing real well, and that's why so many college stars flunk in the pro ranks—they do many things pretty well!"

ROLLING THE HIGH game in the Elgin Bowling assn. for the 1959-60 season was Casper Dewitz (right), a member of the Paddock Classic traveling league. Dewitz rolled a 298 game and 757 series for Ten Pin of Barrington in the Classic league. Presenting Dewitz with his award is Don Christensen, current president of the Paddock traveling loop.

Evanston to Host Cardinals' Unit

by BOB FRISK

Arlington high's basketball Cardinals, the talk of area circles last season with a whirlwind finish that resulted in a regional crown and sectional berth, move into their 1960-61 campaign Friday evening with a road encounter at Evanston.

The contest will kick off an 18-game schedule for the Cards of Frank Bohac with a holiday invitational at Niles T

Friday's battle against the Wildkits of Jack Burmaster will be preceded by a frosh-soph game at 7 p.m.

Arlington experienced an off-and-on campaign in 1959-60 before putting on the rush that netted that regional crown and its first sectional triumph in history. The Cardinals dumped Glenbrook, Maine East, Prospect and Barrington in tourney play before falling to Elgin in the sectional finale, 53-49.

BOHAC'S aggregation sparked by offensive standouts George Bork and Bob Inman, finished 13-12 for the season and 6-8 in West Suburban play.

Bork, the most prolific scorer to ever play at Arlington, set a single season scoring mark with 497 points, hit 35 in one game, and produced an all-time AHS record for WSC play with 276 points in 14 tilts.

Bork, Inman, and seven other lettermen graduated in June, leaving Bohac with just 53 returning points and only one monogram winner.

SENIOR JIM Clabaugh, a 6-4 forward, is the lone returning letter winner, but despite this obvious shortage of experienced candidates, Bohac isnt too pessimistic about the forthcoming season.

The veteran Arlington coach has elevated sophs Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan to varsity roles and the duo is expected to handle the backcourt berths Friday evening. Dennis Koeppen, a 5-10 junior, is another leading guard candidate, but he's been hobbled with a bad ankle and may not be ready for full-time duty.

Close was brought up to the varsity toward the end of the 1959-60 campaign as a freshman and did send home one basket and two free throws in his brief varsity stint. Chuck did see some action in the tournaments.

A 5-10 SOPH who's a capable ball-handler and scorer, Brodnan worked the entire campaign with Ken Schaller's frosh-soph and was one of the squad's top point producers.

At Evanston

Arlington		Evanston
6-4	Clabaugh	F Truschke	6-2
6-1	Witt	F Majors	5-11
6-4	Jacobsen or Blix	C Scott	6-2
6-1	Close	G Kuehne	5-8
5-10	Brodnan	G Holman	5-7

TIME: Frosh-Soph game, 7 p.m., Friday

PLACE: Evanston high school

COACHES: Arlington, Frank Bohac; Evanston, Jack Burmaster

He's been impressive in drills to date.

Bohac indicated Tuesday that Clabaugh would handle one of the forward slots with the forward and center positions going to two of three boys: Skip Witt, a 6-1 senior; Bob Jacobsen, a 6-4 senior; or Rusty Blix, a 6-4 junior.

If Arlington is going to experience any success this season, it will need some impressive work from its frontline. Clabaugh tossed in 47 points in a part-time role last year with a high of 19 against Riverside.

WITT AND Jacobsen were two leading scorers on Arlington's crack junior-varsity team, and both boys have looked improved in the practice sessions. If Blix continues to make the rapid climb that saw him jump from a frosh "B" center to the starting frosh-soph pivotman in one season, he could be a big help in the Cardinals' attack.

Two other juniors, 6-2 John Burgermeister and 6-1 Ross Retterer, are expected to see some action this winter with both showing a lot of promise.

The Cardinals' first opponent of 1960-61 is also feeling the effects of graduation with only two lettermen returning to the fold.

BURMASTER has the smallest team he's ever coached at Evanston and as he puts it, "It's like going from the sublime to the ridiculous." Last year the boyish-looking coach had 6-9 Rich Rochelle, 6-7 Bill Little, and 6-5 Chuck Metzgar to throw across the front-line.

Eleven Lettermen Return

Prospect Preps for 1960-61 Cage Opener with Wildcats

The tempo of basketball drills increased this week at Prospect high school with the approach of the Nov. 25 opener against Libertyville's Wildcats of the North Suburban conference.

With just one week remaining before the lid comes off on another campaign, Head Coach Dick Kinneman has been sending his squad through some concentrated workouts. The public got a brief sampling of the Knights in action last night (Wednesday) during an intrasquad contest.

Prospect faces three non-league encounters before moving into the Interim assn. opener Friday, Dec. 9 at Wheaton. Following the season opener with Libertyville, the Knights will travel to St. Charles and then host Elgin.

KINNEMAN boasts eleven returning lettermen at Prospect this season with the squad intact that rolled to 22 victories in 24 games last winter. Both losses were by one point.

The Knights wrapped up a share of the Interim assn. championship, rolled to the Fenton holiday title, and reached the final game of the Palatine regional before falling to Arlington in one of the most dramatic and exciting games ever played in this area.

Heading the returnees are the six boys who saw the most action in 1959-60: Fred Lussow, George Pomey, Bill Zadel, Keith Grams, Fred Empkie, and Dick Palmer.

LUSSOW TOPPED the squad in scoring with 317 points for a 13.2 per game average and shot at a .505 clip throughout the campaign. He was named to the all-Interim team.

Pomey was one transfer who made good. The big forward came to Prospect from Grant high school last year and in his first season with the Knights rimmed 295 points. Zadel, another all-Interim performer, finished third in individual scoring with 286 points.

Grams and Empkie rounded out the starting five with Palmer the top reserve and an invaluable "fireman." Empkie, a defensive specialist who can also score, gained a second team berth on the all-Interim team.

OTHER RETURNING letterwinners are Rick Bachhuber, George McRae, Mark Thorne, Bob Glaser, and Nick Tuttle.

Kinneman also has senior Tom Polzin working out with the varsity and junior Tommy Thomas is slated for some action when he recovers from an illness that has kept him on the sidelines. Thomas was the frosh-soph's top scorer last winter and could be a valuable addition to the varsity unit.

Zadel, the 6-4 pivotman, worked out for the first time Monday after sitting out some of the earlier practices with strained ligaments in his knee.

ANOTHER regular who has been out of action with an injury is Grams, the 5-9 guard. Keith suffered a dislocated finger in football with the operation on the palm of the hand and has been sidelined to date. He was scheduled to see the doctor today.

A sprained ankle has handicapped reserve forward Thorne.

All of Prospect's 1959-60 season marks rank as school records as the Knights were playing their first campaign in varsity competition.

Kinneman's aggregation averaged 65.6 points per game and held opponents to a 48.0 average. The squad hits its high with 96 against Wheaton and Pomey and Zadel had the individual game highs with 24.

The 1960 league winners were as follows: Colt league, Colt Sox; Pony league, Cardinals; American majors, Cards; American minors, Elks; National majors, Lions; National minors, Red Legs.

Early Issue Next Week!

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, Paddock Publications will print on Monday next week and reach the news stands and homes on Tuesday morning.

Included in the forthcoming issue will be stories on Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph openers at Evanston; a preview to Prospect's 1960-61 cage opener with Libertyville; and previews to Arlington's Sleigh Bells clash with Palatine and home opener with Elgin.

In addition, other stories will cover the gymnastics outlooks at both Arlington and Prospect.

Watch for the next issue on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Six Lettermen Head Prospect Mat Squad

Six returning lettermen head a host of wrestling candidates at Prosect high school as Head Coach Dick Mudge and staff send the matmen through the paces in preparation for the Dec. 3 opener with Niles.

Over 150 boys turned out for wrestling at all levels at Prospect with the group currently divided into experienced and inexperienced divisions.

Mudge is handling the experienced performers with Hal Henson, head JV coach, and Maurie Levy, frosh and frosh-soph mentor, guiding the other class.

THE RETURNING monogram winners at Prospect are Dick Krause at 95, Tom Krause at 103, Bob Trausch at 120, Rog Owen at 133, Mike Field at 154, and Darryl Phillips at heavyweight.

Two lettermen who aren't back this season are Jim Liska, who competed at 120 pounds, and Joe Ortiz, second place state finisher at 103. Liska graduated out of summer school and Ortiz didn't return to school this fall.

The loss of a wrestler of Ortiz' caliber will certainly be felt as Joe was a veteran performer who could be counted on for those clutch performances. Ortiz battled to the state finals last season before dropping the championship match 7-2 to Sal Fuscone of East Leyden's state titlists.

IN ADDITION to Ortiz, Prospect had two other boys who showed well in tournament competition leading up to the state meet. Dick Krause earned a trip downstate with a second at 95 pounds in the sectional and heavyweight Phillips finished third in the sectional after copping the district crown on a referee's decision.

Although they didn't earn letters, there are several other returning squad members at Prospect who saw extensive action in the 1959-60 campaign. Regulars returning include Del Blakely at 95, Doug Vaughan at 127, Ken Peiper at 138, and Ron Christensen at 165.

Mike Hogarty, who was bothered with a leg injury last season, is back at 180 and Mudge is looking for some help from this senior. Another senior returning is heavyweight Jim Minikel, the 235-pound all-conference tackle who can be expected to push Phillips for a starting slot.

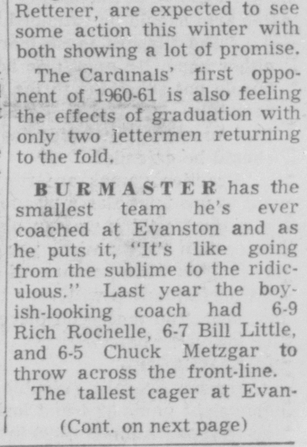
Arlington's Matmen Prep For Opener

Four Lettermen Back For Emmons' Varsity

Arlington high's varsity wrestlers engaged in concentrated workouts this week as Coach Bob Emmons prepared the squad for the Dec. 3 opener with Glenbrook's Spartans.

Although drills have been underway since Nov. 1, Emmons had been handicapped with the absence of the mat candidates who were out for fall sports.

Approximately 100 candidates are out for wrestling at all levels with four lettermen returning to the varsity aggregation.



BOB EMMONS

THE FOUR monogram winners at AHS are Denny Fitz-Patrick, John Anderson, Tim O'Gorman, and Rich Edelblute.

Fitz-Patrick, a sophomore, lettered at 95 pounds as a freshman. Anderson lettered at 112 as a soph but its questionable where he'll operate this winter.

O'Gorman is a senior who worked at 133 last season and should go at either 138 or 145 this year. Edelblute, also a senior, lettered at 165 but is expected to wrestle at 180.

SOME OF THE other leading candidates at Arlington are Hawley at 95 pounds, soph Bob Hoehle at 103, soph Ken Bond at 112, senior Tim Smith at 120, junior Ken Adams at 127, junior Byron Duff at 133, senior Mike Koenig at 138 or 145, senior Gar Simmons at 154, soph Hal Selleck at 165, and junior Bob Burm at heavyweight.

"We're still not set on positions," Emmons added, "but we do have more competition at every weight this year. The boys have a good attitude."

Arlington's varsity mat squad finished 3-9 in dual meets last winter with Emmons in his first year as head man of the wrestling fortunes.

The Cardinals boasted a fourth place finisher in the state in George Shartle at 120 pounds and three all-conference wrestlers in Shartle, Jerry Greer at 145, and Terry Harris at 154, all June graduates.

Julius Fliehler is working with Arlington's frosh-soph wrestlers this winter with Chuck Harrington handling the freshmen.

by G. A. McELROY

A YEAR AGO Murray Warmath, coach of the Minnesota Gophers, was hung in effigy by students and asked to resign by alumni. In fact one wealthy, fanatical fan offered to pay the remainder of Warmath's contract in order to get a new coach who could win. Just a year later Minnesota is riding high with Warmath still on the job as coach due only to a conservative university administration.

Usually a coach does not bring a team from a losing season to a championship in one year as has Warmath but the situation indicates how things can turn in sports and the fickleness of fans who now are all on the bandwagon for Warmath. Big time college athletics and pro sports are like that. Interest in sports is enhanced by the fact that the under dog can come back to win a championship but coaching in the big time is a precarious business with the mortality rate rather high for the losers.

Some fans would like to apply the same practice to high school sports. We would certainly never be in favor of keeping an ineffective and incompetent coach more than we would a teacher or other school employee in the same category. However, the criteria for judging the job being done in high school sports is a little different. Here we would hope that consideration of what the coach does to make the boy a better citizen and competitor in the game of life would carry as much weight as attendance at games, gate receipts, publicity, and games won and lost.

FOOTBALL AND CROSS COUNTRY are finished and basketball and wrestling are well under way with the first inter-school competition coming this weekend or during the Thanksgiving holidays. At Palatine prospects for improved basketball, after two losing seasons, are exceptionally good though the Pirates are not expected to be championship contenders considering the edge Libertyville, Dundee, Crystal Lake and Barrington had on them last season. However, the Pirates have some real good young talent with plenty of height and, we believe, considerable desire to win. Coach Kolze's big hopes are for 1961-62 but this year's team may come up with some surprises. See the Arlington at Palatine game next Wednesday and look over the prospects.

PETE NEWELL of the University of California is regarded as one of the finest basketball coaches in the nation even though Ohio State beat his team in the NCAA finals last year. Newell was written up in Sports Illustrated a year or two ago and the article was so good and the statements about basketball so appropriate at this time of year with cage practices under way that we are making a few random quotes attributed to this great coach.

"A player should be conditioned to play the last five minutes of a game, not just the first five. We're constantly trying to minimize mistakes. Each lost ball is worth approximately 1.5 points. Practice habits are game habits.

"In practice, a player must shuffle with his knees flexed, one hand up, the other down, for 20 minutes at a time. This is the correct defensive posture. Any other way is wrong. The hand should be in the shooter's face to disconcert him and the other arm should be extended to the floor to deflect passes.

"The players must learn to dribble and pass with either hand. He must also be ambidextrous with his feet. We do not subscribe to the theory that because a boy is naturally right-footed, he should always have his right foot forward. The inside foot (in relation to the basket) should be extended.

"Practice games are run at fast and slow speeds. We want to use tempo as a weapon to make the other team play the game we think we can play better than they can. There are certain nights when you are off offensively and you'll have nights when you are off defensively too, but your offensive performances will vary more. We're content with a 10-foot shot. The more you drive into the basket, the more you risk losing the ball."

20 YEARS AGO

10 YEARS AGO

Arlington lost 33-12 to Leyden to close a 1-7 football season. While Curtis Larsen's team was short in the win column, they were even with opponents in the statistics department. Outstanding back was Bob Packard and top lineman Bob Schulze, playing at guard the third straight season. . . . . Barrington is again the team to beat in Northwest basketball opening the season at Evanston. Palatine takes on Lake Forest with a stronger offensive team than for several years including Don Buenzow, Dick Abrahamson, Don Rogers, Ray Sievers, Vernon Guenther, Don Zoellick, and Jim Vogt. . . . Palatine finished the best football season on record at the school (5-3) and have 16 lettermen returning for 1951 when Coach Welty has high hopes of finishing on top.

Frosh-Soph Cagers Open At Evanston

Arlington high's frosh-soph Cardinals will open their 1960-61 basketball season Friday evening when they journey to Evanston to meet the young Wildkits.

The season lidlifter will begin at 7 p.m. and precede the main attraction between the two varsity quintets.

Coach Ken Schaller is guiding the Cardinals' frosh-sophs again this winter after directing Arlington to a 9-9 overall mark in 1959-60 and 7-7 West Suburban slate.

SCHALLER lost his two back-court men when sophomores Chuck Close and Gary Brodnan were elevated to varsity status. Both Close and Brodnan were standouts with the frosh-sophs last winter.

Another guard, Bill Guilfoil, is lost to the squad for at least four weeks with a fractured thumb. Guilfoil, a sophomore, was in line for one of the starting guard berths.

The tentative starting alignment for Friday's test includes frosh Joe Mueller and soph Tom Wilmotte at the forwards, soph Phil O'Connell at center, and soph Ken Seeger and Ken Layden at the guards. Mueller is currently the only freshman working out with the frosh-sophs.

LAYDEN is still bothered by an ankle injury incurred in football, and it's questionable whether he'll be ready for full-time duty Friday.

Some of the other leading candidates at Arlington include Dan Bedford, Tom Tulley, Roland Oberg, Erie Berg, Jim Wessling, and Joe Wertheimer. Wertheimer has only been out for a few days but shows promise.

Arlington's frosh-sophs will follow a schedule similar to the varsity this season with the exception of the tournaments. The preliminary games will begin at 7 p.m.

Notre Dame Dons Dumped By Spalding

by TOM TREBAT

Blocked punts and pass interceptions helped Spalding of Peoria defeat Notre Dame 30-6 last Friday at Notre Dame.

As a result of the rout, Notre Dame's record now stands at 4 wins, 3 losses, and 2 ties. The Dons will host Marian Central at home next Friday and the game will mark the close of the season for both squads.

Spalding started off the scoring late in the first period. On fourth down, a punt by Bill Hansen of Notre Dame was blocked and Spalding took over on the Don 7 yard line. A few seconds later, a sweep around end gave Spalding its first tally. In the second quarter, Spalding scored again.

As before, Bill Hansen was forced to punt. This time he got the ball away only to have Spalding run it back 40 yards for their second touchdown and a 12-0 halftime.

THE ONLY TIME the Dons managed to score was in the third quarter. Paced by the running of halfback Pat Solon and fullback Glen Wojcik, the Dons moved deep into Spalding territory. A pass interference penalty put the ball on the 9 yard line. Several plays later, Wojcik powered over for the score.

However, from that point on nothing else seemd to go right for the Dons. Later in the game a march into Spalding territory was broken up by an interception and a 75 yard runback. As the last quarter opened, Spalding held a commanding 18-6 lead. During the final twelve minutes, a 25 yard run and a 40 yard pass netted 2 touchdowns and a 30-6 win for the boys from Peoria.

Although it seemed to falter in the Spalding game, the perked-up running attack of the Dons seems to be due to the inspiring play of fullback Wojcik. The 260-pound converted lineman is relied upon for at least a short gain every time he handles the pigskin.

NOTRE DAME'S sophomore unit wound up their regular season by whipping Marian Central 14-6 last Friday. The junior Dons finished with a perfect 9-0 record and a first place in the Suburban Catholic Conference.

The final varsity standings in the Suburban Catholic Conference are as follows:

Notre Dame	3	0	2
Immaculate Conception	4	1	0
Joliet Catholic	3	1	1

Totzke, Retterer Head Arlington's Grid Statistics

Sophomore halfback Jerry Totzke captured the individual ground-gaining crown at Arlington high school for the 1960 varsity football campaign with 157 yards in 57 carries.

Totzke finished with a 21-yard margin over runner up Mike Koenig in the statistics released this week by Paddock Publications.

For the season Arlington collected 57 first downs with 260 yards rushing and 671 yards passing. The Cardinals, winless in eight games, gained 19 first downs on the ground and 34 through the air with four via penalties.

WORK-HORSE in the Cardinal backfield was senior Tim O'Gorman who carried 84 times for the season. Although O'Gorman's rushing efforts showed a minus six yards, Tim's passing did contribute 195 yards with 14 completions in 29 attempts.

Arlington's passing attack was a highlight of the season with 63 completions picking up the 671 yards. Junior Ross Retterer registered 49 attempts in 106 throws for 476 yards.

THE BEST single game rushing mark was recorded by Koenig when he picked up 50 yards in eight carries against Downers Grove. Arlington's top offensive effort as a team was turned in against York when the ground game and aerial attack combined for 210 total yards.

Retterer's top passing day was also against York when he completed 11 of 29 for 47 yards and two touchdowns. O'Gorman hit on six of 10 for 105 yards against Glenbard.

Totzke's top day offensively was against LaGrange when he carried 20 times for 47 yards.

Area Skaters Train At Wilmette's Rink

Skaters of the Mt. Prospect Skating Club continue to train with great enthusiasm now that skating headquarters have been transfered to Recreation Park in Wilmette where an artificial skating rink is maintained by the Park Board. Permission has been granted by Wilmette officials to allow speed skating clubs of the northern suburbs to condition their skating members for the coming competition.

The Wisconsin Skating Association announced its Great Lakes Indoor Championship meet to be held at the Milwaukee Fair Grounds Arena on Saturday, Dec. 3. A strong group of the Mt. Prospect Club skaters will be selected by Helen Joy Lutsch, Club coach to attend this event. Another caravan of Mt. Prospect cars is expected to take off for the Ohio Indoor Championships scheduled in Cleveland on December 17th.

In Illinois a tentative schedule announced by the racing board of the Illinois Skating Association reads as follows: North Shore open, December 30, Northbrook. Winter Carnival, Mt. Prospect January 2. Lilacia Derby, January 7, Lombard. Illinois Outdoor, January 8, Glen Ellyn.

THE WESTERN open, January 14 and Northwest open, January 15 — both to be held at Humboldt Park in Chicago, also the Silver Skates Derby on January 21 and 22. Tri-State Championships, February 5, site not yet announced. On February 11, Land of Lincoln Indoor and February 18 or 25, Illinois Indoor Championships, both to be held at the University of Illinois skating arena in Champaign. Other meets will be attended by the Club as invitations are received.

All arrangements for the "KICK-OFF" meeting at Lions Park field house in Mt. Prospect on November 25th have been finalized. Promptly at 7:30 p.m. Frank Grady, club president, will call the meeting to order and proceed with the evening's program. The featured speaker at the gathering will be Eddie Schroeder, famed 1960 Olympic skating coach. Trophies and medal awards earned in competition will be displayed by Helen Joy Lutsch, Jim Rybarczyk, Tim Jilek, Bob Grady and other members of the Mt. Prospect squad.

Interest in speed skating in the north west suburbs is obviously growing. Stephen Solley, club manager, reports numerous new registration of novice skaters. Additional registrations are encouraged and new skaters are invited to call Solley at CL 3-8611 and advise him of their intention to join in this healthy winter activity.

Al Walter Named Asst. Tournament Director of BPAA

Albert A. Walter of 1650 Margaret Street, Arlington Heights, is the assistant tournament director for the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in a position recently authorized by the Executive Committee, Executive Director Howard C. Seehausen has announced.

AL WALTER

Walter, 46, and the father of three children, brings a business background to his present position, which he assumed in mid-October, but more important brings a bowling background as participant and organizer dating back 32 years.

Some of Walter's chief accomplishments in the bowling field have been organizing the original All-Star league of Chicago in 1946, serving as president of the Chicago Classic League for two years, signing a television contract with Matt Neisen, Paul Krumske, Joe Norris and the Brunswick Corp. to supply local Classic League bowlers for head-to-head competition.

HE HAS SERVED as tournament director for five years for Paddock Publications in its sponsorship of men's and women's bowling tournaments. He also was instrumental in organizing the Paddock Classic Traveling League in the northwest suburbs of Chicago.

Walter also holds his own as a bowler. He has qualified five times for the All-Star, competed against top stars on television, finished fifth in ABC singles in 1952 with 715, and in 1947 bowled 719 in the ABC singles, won Jerry Peck's tournament in 1948 with a 226 average to nose out Connie Schwoegler, and Chicago city champion in 1947.

Walter began bowling at the age of 14 with his father, Frank, who later became president of the Chicago Bowling Association. He also worked as a delivery boy for the first publication of the Chicago Bowler, and publicity agent in 1934 for the Bensinger Bowling and Billiards Co. and associated leagues.

After attending the State University of Iowa, Walter worked as director of time study, methods and standards, and industrial engineering as well as salesman for an electric sign company.

With the addition of Walter, it will be possible for Tournament Director Dick Nethaway to expand the tournament department for the benefit and servicing of members.

Arlington Basketball

ston this season stands only 6-2.

The two returning lettermen for the Wildkits are 5-11 Bob Majors, team captain, and 5-8 Dick Kuehne, the blond junior who was brought up to the varsity at the outset of the 1959 season, sent back to the sophs after the initial tilt, then recalled for the tournaments.

BURMASTER will start three juniors and two seniors Friday with a sophomore, junior and senior the top three reserves. Rufus Green, a 6-0 forward with a nice touch, is the soph.

Evanston stood 14-7 last year with a 10-4 mark in the Suburban league good for second place behind Proviso East.

The Wildkits pummeled Arlington in the opener at AHS last season 82-70 with the since-graduated Fred Gablenz netting 31 points.

Both Evanston and Arlington closed out their 1959-60 seasons with losses to Elgin's Maroons in the sectional tourney. Evanston lost 55-54. Arlington lost 53-49.

Sunday's Pageant Concludes Midget Football Season

The Mount Prospect Midget football association concluded a successful 1960 season with its 4th annual football pageant Sunday, November 13.

Each team in the league played a 15 minute exhibition game and the highlight of the evening was a regulation All-Star game between the American and the National teams.

The former was composed of graduates of the Central, Emerson, Fairview and Lincoln squads, and was coached by Bill Phillips, while the latter was made up from graduates of Lions, Owens, Prospect and Sunset teams and was coached by Don Dobbs.

THE ALL-STAR game developed into a hard-fought battle and was won in the final minute by the American team 13-12. The National team drew first blood in the second quarter when Tom Nitch passed to Dick Lytle for 20 yards and a touchdown.

In the third quarter a pass from Dave Trendel to Lytle made the score 12-0 in favor of the National team but the Americans came back stong with some fine quarter-backing from John Bley and some sensational running by Tom Clow and Bill Henry, with the latter scoring from the 3-yard line.

Tht extra point was made and the score stood at 12-7 at the end of the third quarter. In the fourth quarter Tom Nitch and Tim Walinski of the Nationals made some good gains but the fine tackling of Earl Smith of the American squad stopped the National's scoring threat. With one minute to go Bill Phillips, who also played a fine game at quarterback for the Americans, threw a bulls-eye to Tom Clow for 20 yards and the deciding touchdown in a 13-12 thriller.

In the exhibition games, the results were as follows:

SENIORS

Lions 14, Lincoln 0—touchdowns by Bill Karlovitz and John McAndrew.

Sunset 14, Central 0 — touchdowns by D. Wilkinson and Ken Vomacka.

Owens 13, Fairview 0 — touchdowns by Ricky Lytle and McMahon.

Booster Club Honors AHS Fall Sports

The Cardinals Booster club of Arlington high school honored the Fall Sports program Wednesday evening, Nov. 9, at the annual banquet.

All boys who participated in football and cross country, both as competitors and managers, and the girls on the varsity and frosh-soph cheerleading squads were honored guests at the Booster banquet.

The coaches briefly reviewed the season and presented school letters and numerals.

A HIGHLIGHT of the evening was the music provided by Dick Ligon and his Dixieland Combo.

The tape recorder and projector presented to the school by the Booster club were on display for the parents.

Arlington presented 30 Major "As" to the fall athletes. Gary Gullet and Gar Simmons were elected co-captains of the varsity football team and Simmons was named the most valuable player. Tim Smith was co-captain of the varsity cross country squad with soph Gary Brodnan voted the most improved runner.

Ten juniors and one sophomore were recipients of major letters in varsity football.

Browns' Unit Stops 49ers In Little League Finale

In a game featured by the running of two outstanding eighth backs the Browns handled the 49ers Saturday 27-14 in the final game of the Arlington Heights Little League football program.

Mike Frase of the Browns scored his 13th touchdown of 1960 and Gerry Culbertson of the 49ers added his tenth in the senior league encounter.

The 49ers jumped off to an early 7-0 lead when Culbertson raced 80 yards and Greg Harris added the extra point.

FRASE AND Stueber sparked the Browns in their initial scoring drive with Stueber carrying over the tally. The extra point attempt failed.

With about two minutes remaining in the half Jerry Fink, quarterback for the 49ers, employed a spread formation and tossed a 30-yard touchdown pass to Dale Chapman. Fink scored the extra point and the 49ers took a 14-6 halftime lead.

As the second half opened the Browns gave evidence of the power they had displayed throughout the season. Stueber and Frase banged at the 49ers' ends until Stueber scored his second touchdown of the game. Frase got the PAT.

MIDWAY IN the third quarter the Browns recovered a 49er fumble and in three plays Frase covered 20 yards on an end sweep for the score.

The 49ers came right back with some fine running by Low and Hood. With fourth down and less than a foot to go for a touchdown, the Browns' line broke through and caught Fink for a loss.

Taking charge after this goal line stand, the Browns added another touchdown to set the final count at 27-14.

Petrosino, Voigt, Dugaw Top Interim

Prospect high's Tom Petrosino and Keith Voigt and Proviso West's Logan Dugaw finished in a three-way tie for the Interim assn. Football championship in 1960.

The two Prospect backs vaulted into the slot held by Dugaw last week with impressive performances in the unbeaten Knights' crushing victory over Glenbrook.

Voigt tallied three touchdowns in the rout of the Spartans and Petrosino added two as both finished the campaign with seven counters for 42 points.

Dugaw scored on a 75-yard punt return against Willowbrook to hold on to a share of the top slot.

Prospect had one other boy, end Dennis Leonard, in the top 10 with "Dutch" picking up 28 points on two touchdowns and 16 conversions.

Football Title

Michigan State's football team whipped Notre Dame, Indiana and Purdue in 1960 to win the tongue-in-cheek "Indiana Collegiate Football Championship" for the fifth time in recent years.

Wildcats, Illinois In Prestige Battle

Northwestern, frustrated by the clock in its bid to upset Michigan State last Saturday, will be out to close the season with a winning record when it meets Illinois Saturday at Dyche Stadium.

A victory over the Illini would give the Wildcats a record of 5-4 for the season and would even up the lifetime series between the two intrastate rivals at 25 games apiece. Four games have ended in ties.

The Wildcats saw their three-game winning streak halted by the Spartans, 21 to 18, when time ran out on them after they had driven 78 yards to the Michigan State two-yard line. Meanwhile, the Illini were trouncing Wisconsin, 35 to 14, to make their season's record, 5-3.

NORTHWESTERN will be seeking to break Illinois' three-game series winning streak. The Illini, who were considered by many to be the most powerful team in the nation at the close of the 1959 season and pre-season favorites to win the Big Ten title this seasons, stunned the Wildcats last year, 28 to 0. This also will be Northwestern's first game against an Illinois team coached by Pete Elliott.

Although fullback Mike Stock had difficulty kicking against Michigan State, missing three extra point attempts, he continued to be Northwestern's most effective ground-gainer. He rushed for 69 yards against the Spartans, raising his season's total to 488 yards and boosting his average to four yards per carry. Mike also scored a touchdown to raise his team-leading scoring total to 31.

Stock was hampered by a sore back and injured rib in the Michigan State game, and may be able to see only limited action against the Illini.

Stock will be one of 20 Northwestern seniors — six of them starters—who will be playing their final collegiate football game against Illinois. Other senior starters, in addition to Mike, are guards Russ Asala and Wayne Chamberlain, ends Irv Cross and Elbert Kimbrough, center Larry Onesti. Other seniors are ends Jim Behrens, Paul Yanke and Ken Zanio; tackle Fred Groves; guards Hal Burger, Jim Lutz, Don Mnichowicz and Ed Preissner; center Dick Nichols; quarterbacks E. C. Rapp and Larry Wood; halfback Ray Purdin and fullbacks Jim Knowles and Dave Obrecht.

QUARTERBACK Dick Thornton directed the Wildcat attack brilliantly against the Spartans. In the fourth quarter, with Northwestern trailing 21 to 12, Dick moved his team 68 yards for a touchdown and then engineered the final 78-yard drive that was stopped by the clock. Thornton ran for 54 yards to take over second place in the ground-gaining department behind Stock with 163 yards.

Thornton also passed superbly, hitting on 10 of 17 attempts. Six completions were to end Elbert Kimbrough, who, in Coach Ara Parseghian's words, once again proved himself "a great football player." Elbert has caught 21 passes for 286 yards.

For the fourth straight game Northwestern held the upper hand by a decisive margin over its opponent in the statistical departments. The Wildcats controlled the ball, having it for 78 plays compared to Michigan State's 49. Northwestern outgained the Sparans 404 to 325 and had a first down margin of 25 to 15.

Petrosino's 561 Yards on Ground Heads Prospect

Prospect high's football Knights, unbeaten in eight games and boasting the Interim assn. championship, outgained their opponents by over 1,700 yards in the 1960 season.

Statistics revealed by Paddock Publications this week indicate that Bill Beckman's powerhouse piled up 1,949 yards on the ground and added 504 through the air for 2,453 total yards, an average of 307 per game.

The Knights collected 67 more first downs than their opponents.

HALFBACK Tom Petrosino was the squad's top ground gainer with 561 yards rushing in 100 cracks for a 5.6 per carry average. Keith Voigt collected 547 in only 85 efforts and fullback Bruce Andrise picked up 313 in 73 tries.

Prospect had six boys who topped 100 yards rushing with Keith Grams, Bob Glaser, and Fred Lussow also topping the century mark. Glaser had the best per carry average of any back with a 10.7 average in 13 attempts.

The passing duties were handled to the greatest extent by Lussow and Glaser with Fred completing 23 of 43 pitches for 284 yards. Glaser hit on 11 of 33 for 189 yards. Tommy Thomas tried 11 through the air and connected on two for 31 yards.

PROSPECT'S top game offensively was the Glenbrook clash when the Knights rolled to a 46-0 win. In that affair Prospect registered its single game high in first downs with 22 and yards rushing with 366.

Voigt's 125 yards on the ground against Glenbrook was a season high rushing, and Lussow's best game passing came against East Leyden when he completed nine of 10 for 87 yards.

Pro Sport Center Advances Into Tie for Classic Lead

Bill Bond's Mens Wear is a good team in the Paddock Classic Traveling league. The quintet, which bowls out of Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, has the second highest average in the northwest suburbs' top traveling league and a 19-17 won-lost record.

There is only one problem as far as Bill Bond is concerned. It is in fifth place at the top of the second division.

But you see they have hope; the club is just one game out of first place. That's how tight the Paddock Classic league is after 12 weeks of bowling.

LAST WEEK Cook County Mobile Homes and Timroth Plumbing of Arlington Heights were tied for first. After action Saturday night at Gunnell's in Mt. Prospect, the two are still tied for first, but they have been joined by Saturday's host team, Pro Sport Center of Mt. Prospect.

Sandwiched in between the top trio and Bill Bond's in fifth place, a half game from either position is Tommy Thomas' Casablanca team from Palatine.

To make things even tighter, sixth place Bill Cook Buick has broken even in its first 36 games and is just two games out. However, the Beverly Lanes based team has one problem--there are five teams in front of them.

THE REASON for the race tightening is the result of Bill Bond's dealing league-leading Timroth Plumbing a pair of defeats. Cook County Mobile Homes couldn't gain ground either as it dropped two to Casablanca. Pro Sport Center moved into a first place tie by taking two from Jeffery Lanes and Bill Cook Buick kept in contention by also taking a pair, winning theirs at the expense of last-place Moyle Construction of Barrington.

Things may get even tighter or loosen up as the top six teams go against one another this Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at Ten Pin in Barrington. If there is a top encounter, it will be Cook County Mobile Homes against Timroth Plumbing. Although both teams are tied for the lead, Cook County won two of three when the two met in a position round match 10 days ago.

To show how evenly balanced the Paddock Classic is, sixth-place Bill Cook Buick had the hottest night with a 2921 series. The Buickmen put together games of 1013, 960 and 948. Only a team-record 1023 game by Moyle, bowling out of Ten Pin in Barrington, prevented Bill Cook from making a clean sweep.

WHITEY HEFFERNAN of Elk Grove Village led Bill Cook and the entire league with a 660 series on games of 247, 202, and 211. His closest challenger among the 39 other bowlers was his opponent, LeRoy Pa[illegible] Lake-in-the-Hills, who rolled games of 212, 207 [illegible] a 656 series. The[illegible] only 600 men on either squad.

Cook County Mobile Homes, the River-Rand entry, seemed destined to be ousted from first place until it came along with a 1001 game in the final to prevent Casablanca from Hiway Recreation in Palatine from making a clean sweep. A 247 by Harvey Randolph of Northbrook--this tied Heffernan for high individual game--paced Casablanca in winning the first game. A 223 effort by anchor man Herb Engstrom of Elgin led Casablanca's second game win.

Individual honors between the two teams went to Ted Zimmerman of Des Plaines who rolled games of 203, 200 and 223 for a 626 series. Engstrom had Casablanca's lone 600 series, a 602.

BILL BOND'S, never rolling a real hot game, but rolling consistently well, captured all but the second game from Timroth when it got hot and hit 1005 behind a 234 game by Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights and 215 by Monte Arkus of Hoffman Estates.

A pair of 212's, one by John Taylor of Waukegan and the other by George Radke, gave Bill Bond's the first game easily. The deciding third game was a scrap, Bill Bond winning by 16 pins as Radke shot 223, Taylor 202 and Herb Lohman of Lake Zurich 200. Radke had the high series, 628, followed by Taylor with 615. Radunz paced Timroth with 618.

Pro Sport Center, though winning a pair from Jeffery, didn't find its home lanes to its liking as no one shot a 600 series. A 235 by George Stone of Wilmette was the chief reason for Jeffery's first game win.

THE SECOND game found the going rough for both teams, Pro Sport Center winning by eight pins as Jeffery shot 907. Three low 200's, a 208 by Earl Fenimore of Arlington Heights and a pair of 202's by John Ribando of Arlington Heights and Ernie Koche of Hoffman Estates gave Pro Sport Center a comfortable win as it moved into a first place tie.

Following Saturday's action, only one bowler has a 200 average. Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods slipped from 205 to 204. Ron Fogarett of Palatine slipped one pin to 199, Radunz moving up a pin to tie him. Fourth Place Dick Nethaway of Des Plaines was absent and remained at 197. Taylor moved up a pin to 197.

RALPH GOTLUND, of 804 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights, landed a 42-inch, 52 pound muskellunge while fishing at Boulder Junction, Wis. The fish is 25 inches in girth and it took approximately 30 minutes to land. It is the largest muskie caught in Wisconsin this year.

Entry Blanks In Mail for Two Paddock Tourneys

Entry blanks for the Paddock bowling tournaments are in the mail to secretaries of 92 men's and 64 women's leagues, according to Marian Phillips, tournament coordinator at the publication office.

Mrs. Phillips is in charge of all entries for the Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap bowling tournaments, and is set for the onslaught of almost 160 team entries from 800 bowlers. She has already compiled names, addresses and phone numbers of league secretaries for purpose of sending out entry blanks and posters.

THE TOURNAMENTS will be held at Rolling Meadows and Palatine this year, with first place teams of all local men's loops as of Christmas eve, and leaders of women's leagues as of New Year's eve eligible for the big event.

Prize money is expected to gross an all-time high of $1,000 this year, the tenth Paddock bowling tournament. Entry fee is $19 per five-man squad with complete rules listed on posters at the bowling lanes.

Five individual trophies will also be given to the lucky keglers, as will the large traveling team awards.

NEXT STEP for Mrs. Phillips is waiting for the dozens of calls for time requests for bowling. Teams entering the tournament are urged to make their time requests known as soon as possible, with a quick call during the business day to Mrs. Phillips at CLearbrook 3-1520 cinching desired spots.

Illinois Hunters Stand Eighth in License Sales

HUNTING LICENSE SALES

Illinois hunters stood eighth in the amount of money paid out in 1959 for hunting licenses and fees according to figures released by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The gross cost to Illinois hunters for licenses and fees was $1,938,027.00 The total for the entire United States was $57,811,191.76.

Michigan led all states with a total of $5,015,201.00 The chances are that a healthy percentage of this amount came from Illinois hunters who journeyed to Michigan for deer or grouse hunting.

The total number of licenses sold is not an accurate gauge as to the total number of hunters as states vary widely in the requirements for hunting various species of game as well as for hunting in different areas. Some states issue only one license for all game while others require special permits, licenses or tags for different kinds of game.

THE NUMBER OF licenses sold varies from year to year and fluctuates in accordance with game abundance and weather conditions.

With good game crops in Illinois this year the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs is making a study of license trends and the effect of weather, crop status and bag limitations on license sales. Numerous factors must be considered. The amount of standing corn and weather conditions on opening day of the pheasant season will have a profound effect on license sales.

A clear indication of trends in duck stamp sales has already been found. In spite of urging to buy duck stamps whether he goes duck hunting or not, the average duck hunter is just not buying a duck stamp. With the Canada goose limit reduced to one, pits are going begging on Illinois goose grounds.

IT WILL BE interesting to see if the relatively plentiful crop of upland game will cause the waterfowl hunter to transfer his hunting to upland game this fall.

Hunting license sales in itself is big business but the license is only a minor item in what the hunter spends. Add to the license money the expenditures for guns and ammunition, car expense, clothing, food, and similar items, then hunting really gets into the big business category.

Women's Classic

Steve's Restaurant Rolls Record Series

Steve's Restaurant rolled a league-record 2799 series in sweeping all three games from River-Rand Bowl to keep the pressure on Vernon Hills Restaurant for the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League lead.

Vernon Hills, representing Country Lanes in Lake Zurich, took two from last place Sims Bowl of Des Plaines but that wasn't enough to keep Steve's, the Jeffery Lanes entry, from gaining ground.

Morton Pontiac of Arlington Heights also captured two, winning theirs from Northfield Bowl during action Saturday night at Jeffery Lanes in Wheeling, but it wasn't enough to prevent Steve's Restaurant from sharing second place, just a game behind Vernon Hills.

ALTHOUGH STEVE'S set the team series mark, it didn't challenge the team game mark as the Wheeling team rolled three good games, its lowest game being 917.

Donna Reynolds of Northbrook headed Steve's with a 612 series on games of 214, 176 and 222. Janice Crovetti of Highwood had a surprising 588 series on games of 206, 204 and 168. Other series were 547 by Delores Harris of Wheeling, 534 by Alice Alten of Mt. Prospect and 518 by Sis Jennings of Deerfield.

River-Rand, never able to hit 900, had Hazel Steiger of Arlington Heights wind up with a 537 series for team high. Peggy Sparks of Rolling Meadows was a pin behind and substitute Tess Morris two pins further back.

VERNON HILLS, after rolling to two victories, fell way off in the final game with a 752 game as Sims came through to capture it. Fran Altergott of Mundelein with 538 and Bonnie Kuhn, also of Mundelein, paced Vernon Hills. Maxine Moehling of Mt. Prospect was high for Sims with 519.

Three Morton Pontiac girls rolling in the 500's offset a 542 series by Fran Feuer of Winnetka for Northfield Bowl as the Beverly Lanes team won two games. Morton's 500's came from Ruthmary Townley of Arlington Heights with 523, Jan Lindahl of Arlington Heights with 520, and Pat Proebstle, also of Arlington Heights, with 510. Ciel Borre of Wilmette had a 503 for Northfield Bowl.

Donna Reynolds' 222 game was high individual game for the night.

Mr. Robert Paddock
Paddock Publications
Arlington Heights, Illinois

Dear Bob:

It is now six years since I first stopped into your office immediately upon signing a contract with Pontiac Motor Division to be their authorized dealer in this northwest area. At that time I arranged for my first announcement ad in your paper. Within my first twelve months I delivered one hundred cars from a side street operation, using your publication exclusively. As my volume increased, so has my advertising, but not in proportion as my expenditures per unit in advertising have proportionately been reduced by the ratio of the increase in my volume.

I know you, too, will be pleased to know that October was the most fabulous month in the sales history of Morton Pontiac. I use the word "fabulous" because, overworked as it is, it so well describes what happened here. For each month we have been in Arlington Heights, we have shown a sales gain, which we thought was wonderful, terrific, fantastic - but this month was "fabulous."

In October we SOLD 170 CARS.

October, traditionally new car month, is always good, but the 80 new Pontiacs we sold topped all our previous marks. Added to this are the 53 used cars sold plus the 37 fleet cars and cars wholesaled.

True, again, that in October we introduced another outstanding Pontiac, but we must honestly attribute some of this sales success to Paddock Publications. For over a year now, we have regularly used a half or quarter page in your classified section. Added to this regular program are our display ads, which plug our service facilities and unmatched trade-in deals.

Although we employ a courteous and efficient sales force, we could not have completed the job without your advertising media. Your Newspaper, plus the referrals of our present owners, have allowed our men to devote their time to selling instead of prospecting.

This week we introduced another Pontiac irst -- the 4-cylinder TEMPEST. With the Pontiac, the Tempest AND Paddock Publications, we optimistically look forward to a "Fabulous" year.

Sincerely,

Morton

Landscaping Included in New Hasbrook Homes

It takes a heap o' landscaping to make a house a home—but a northwest area builder is giving buyers a head start on the job by including shade trees, evergreens, shrubs, and a lawn in the price of his houses.

The complete landscaping package, valued up to $375 retail, will be provided through the 1960 fall planting season to new buyers of homes built by Hasbrook Construction co., Inc., Arlington Heights.

Builder Albert E. Riley, president of the company, pointed out that the plants provided are large, mature selected to give the new home an established appearance.

"For example, the silver maple for each new home is 9 years old, has a 3 to 4-inch diameter, stands about 20 feet high, and carries a $45 retail price tag," he said.

RILEY ESTIMATES that a new home owner spends upwards of $400 on landscaping his house. A seeded lawn runs more than $200 of the overall landscaping cost.

Besides providing the planting materials, Hasbrook arranges the trees, shrubs, and evergreens in a layout best suited to the particular house design. This assures individuality and an eye-pleasing appearance.

The largest landscaping package includes one silver maple, two green ash trees, a flowering crab, two upright junipers, three pfitzer junipers, and five shrubs for the four-bedroom Estate model.

THE SMALLEST landscaping unit includes one silver maple, one green ash tree, two upright junipers, two pfitzer junipers, and six shrubs for the Illini model.

Five other Hasbrook models include landscaping materials in keeping with their price and design requirements.

The 532-home Hasbrook subdivision is located on Palatine road, one-half mile west of Arlington Heights road and U. S. 12. (BB

The latest addition to the Arlington Heights business world, The Ranch, Store for Boys, 40 S. Evergreen, will celebrate its grand opening Friday and Saturday, Nov. 25 and 26.

THE TWO-DAY grand opening will feature gifts of merchandise certificates, balloons, coffee and doughnuts.

Miss Myles has worked for two years at the Heirs and Expectations shop, Arlington Heights, and been employed at the Charlotte shop, store for children, in Chicago. (BB

Local Man Is Honored For Service

Edward H. Wagner, 138 S. Kennicott ave., Arlington Hts. was honored last week by SKF Industries, Inc., for his 20 years of service.

In ceremonies held by the Philadelphia ball and roller bearing manufacturer, Wagner was congratulated by E. R. Broden, president and chairman of the board of directors, and was presented with an engraved wrist watch commemorating his service anniversary.

WAGNER and his wife, Jessie have one daughter, Susan Louise, and one son, Steven Edward.

Regional manager at SKF, Wagner has attended the Drexel Institute of Technology.

A confirmed golf enthusiast, he also enjoys music and horses during his leisure hours. (BB

Insurance Group Has New Auto Plan

Illinois motorists who have a hard time getting auto insurance—including many forced to apply for minimum coverage through the "assigned risk" plan—may qualify for full coverage protection under a new plan being introduced here this week by the State Farm insurance group.

Single male drivers under 25, men and women drivers over 65, and drivers of all ages with minor driving infractions on their records are targets of State Farm's new "standard risk" program.

In addition to making full coverage available to these groups, State Farm will offer comprehensive and collision insurance to many motorists now in the assigned risk plan.

ROY HICKEY, local agent for State Farm, said the plan "will enable us to provide a far greater portion of the state's drivers with adequate protection on a voluntary basis."

The insurance may cost more than the amount most drivers pay, but there's a provision for lowering the cost through accident-free driving.

Roy said he knew of no way for many drivers to get full insurance protection. Only limited amounts of bodily injury and property damage liability insurance are now available to assigned risks. Those who have records of traffic convictions and accidents pay surcharges for their insurance.

He said the State Farm plan "is not a haven for the reckless and irresponsible few who should not be licensed to drive."

His office is at 65 S. Milwaukee, Wheeling. (BB

Railway Is Major Taxpayer

More than $15 million has been paid by the Chicago and North Western Railway toward the support of Illinois schools during the decade of the 50's, according to an announcement released by the railway which included a breakdown of 1959 property taxes itemized by counties.

The road has properties in 26 Illinois counties and is the largest railroad taxpayer in Cook and Lake counties.

ILLINOIS property taxes in 1959 totaled $2,827,203, according to William Krucks, assistant comptroller of the North Western, Chicago. The Illinois total is the largest tax payment made in the state in the 112-year history of the Chicago and North Western Railway, he said.

The railway's breakdown of 1959 property taxes discloses that well over half was paid in Cook county, which includes Chicago. Payments in Cook county for 1959 totaled $1,529,312. Tax total for DuPage county was $110,695.65.

More than 61 per cent of the road's property taxes in all counties last year was earmarked for schools with a payment of $1,729,347 in school taxes.

Krucks said that North Western's city and village taxes in 1959 were $461,369; county taxes, $202,205; sanitary district taxes, $139,076; park district taxes, $107,919; township road and bridge taxes and road bond taxes, $83,263; township taxes, $51,616; fire protection, $19,429; forest preserve, $18,686; and township library, airport, hospital and cemetery taxes, $11,409.

ALTHOUGH THE railway does not own or operate airplanes its airport taxes in Illinois last year totaled $5,188, Krucks said.

Krucks explained that the railway is also paying its share to help stamp out mosquitoes and their larvae and has paid-up tax bills to prove it. The road's mosquito abatement tax bill last year was $2,879.

As an indication of the tax load carried by a single railroad in the state, Krucks said that North Western's property taxes in Illinois in the 1950-59 decade exceeded $26.5 million. Of that total, $15,438,912 went toward the support Illinois schools. (BB

Palatine

On October 28, troop 301 enjoyed a gala Halloween party. Each girl invited two guests, decorated the meeting place, made refreshments, and planned games and an exiting treasure hunt.

Mariner Ship 334 entertained the Palatine Junior Woman's club at its monthly meeting at the Oak Street school cafeteria October 18.

Troop 346 were hosts to troop 340 at a Halloween party and scaventer hunt October 27. After the hunt, the groups enjoyed refreshments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Anderson.

NOVEMBER 1, troop 368 celebrated the birthday of Juliette Low and gained five new Brownies. The Brownie story was dramatized by Kim Krekel, Candice Vogt, Sandra Hansen, Judy Brauer, Sheila Lauger and Debbie Bouffard. Following the play, Doris Curtis, Carol Dickson, Karin Guenterher, Robin Hoigard and Mary Weber made their promise and received their Brownie pins. The remainder of the troop then presented a synopsis of the life of Juliette Low. After a few songs the girls helped their mothers and friends to refreshments.

Troop 48 started a story hour at the library for young children Saturday, Nov. 12. Cathy Jensen and Cindy Olson were the readers for this first session. All girls will have a turn conducting the story hour. The girls plan to read books and poems, lead the singing of simple songs, and in the future use puppets.

South Arlington

Investiture ceremony was held October 30 for three new second grade Brownie troops at Our Lady of the Wayside. Father O'Hara gave a short talk about girl scouting and about applying the Brownie promise. He also blessed the pins of all the scouts.

Co-leaders of troop 207 are Mrs. James Clark troop 61, Mrs. Walter Simons; troop 282, Mrs Jack Huggard. All Scouts of Our Lady of the Wayside were present for this ceremony.

TROOP 189 took Brownie troop 355 on a hike using compass directions November 14. Songs were learned during the hike and when the destination was reached the girls learned how to handle the jack-knife properly. Troop 189 is busy working on its first class requirements while troop 355 is working toward the tenderfoot rank. Refreshments were served.

Troop 521 had a baking project November 10 and met in the three leaders' homes, Mrs. Lyman Anson, Mrs. Conrad Hoffman and Mrs. L. A. Bressler, getting ready for the mother's tea to be held November 17. Mothers of troop 521 should remember this important date.

South Mt. Prospect

Troop 477 experienced a 2-night overnight at Camp Pine last week. Despite bad weather the scouts spent all day Saturday hiking. They blazed trails with sticks, rocks and arrows and had a trail lunch. Badges and membership stars were awarded at the council fire held during the evening.

Fly-up ceremonies for Cathe West, Martha Volk, Irene Larson and Carol Johnson were conducted recently by leaders, Mrs. West and Mrs. Shaw of troop 543. At the same meeting, Mrs. West was presented with her troop leaders pin. The scouts also celebrated their troop birthday this month.

Troops 708 and 543 conducted special ceremonies during October celebrating the birthday of Girl Scout founder, Juliette Low, and each scout contributed one penny for each year of her age toward the Juliette Low Friendship fund.

BROWNIES in troop 139 are busy working on sip-upons. The girls will find them useful in many of their indoor as well as outdoor activities.

Fourth graders in troop 142 recently welcomed Susan Sweet as a new member of the troop.

To encourage good grooming and attendance at scout meetings in complete uniform, scouts in troop 597 are being checked each week on personal appearance. The patrol receiving the highest rating has the honor of presenting the flag ceremony at the next meeting. The patrols have been busy the past few weeks presenting pantomimes.

North Mt. Prospect

Scouts from Intermediate troop 566, Busse school invited their parents to attend an investiture court of awards and Juliette Low birthday celebration November 9. Tenderfoot scouts Jane Cooper and Linda Herrick were invested and received their Girl Scout pins from leader, Mrs. D. Bedford. They were welcomed to the troop by assistant leaders, Mrs. K. Glabe and Mrs. E. Placek.

Conducting the troop's first court of awards, Mrs. Bedford presented year pins and "Daisy" patches which were earned for wearing full uniforms to four consecutive troop meetings, to the following girls: Lucille Barale, Heather Bedford, Jill Doerr, Heather Doyle, Kathy Engibaus, Julie Farris, Carolyn Glabe, Carolyn Grafton, Elinor Jackson, Kathy Kennedy, Gloria Placek, Susan Roberts, Donna Reindl and Lynn Wagner. Also to Linda Batjes, Lynn Malmberg, Patti Roberts and Donna Hemenway, who were unable to attend because of illness.

MRS GLABE awarded proficiency badges to nine scouts. Girls who attended Brownie day camp and earned adventurer and outdoor cook badges were Gloria Placek and Linda Batjes. Elinor Jackson received adventurer and child care. Carolyn Glabe was awarded her skating and weather badges and Donna Reindl the cat and dog. Child care badges were awarded to Lucille Barale, Heather Bedford, Julie Farris, and Carolyn Grafton.

Carolyn Glabe presented the troop with a world and troop flag which she made. It was accepted on behalf of the troop by Mrs. E. Placek.

Commemorating Juliette "Djaisy" Low's 100th birthday, October 31, patrol 3 staged the play "This is your Life, Juliette Low", with Julie Farris taking the part of "Daisy".

Susan Roberts read an article describing the character of Juliette Low.

The scouts then served refreshments of punch, cookies and a large birthday cake to 38 guests. B9

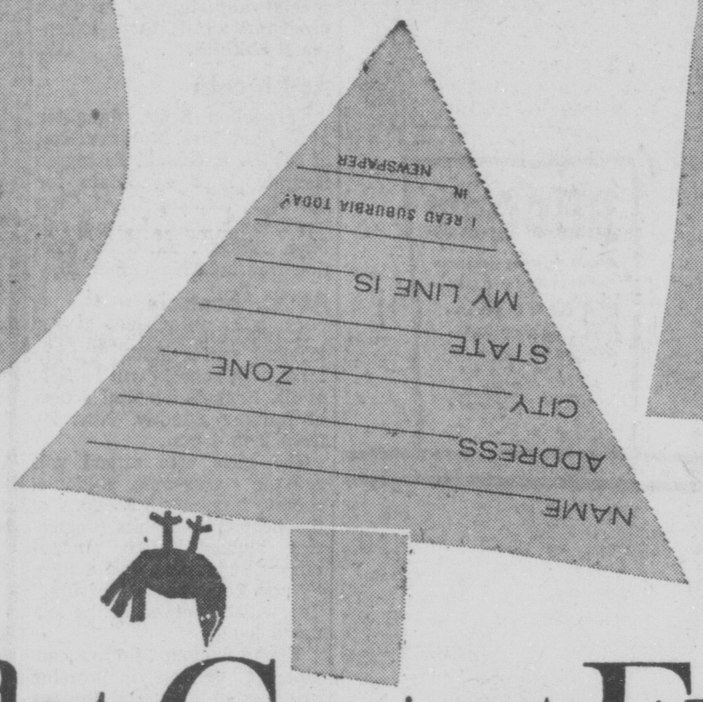
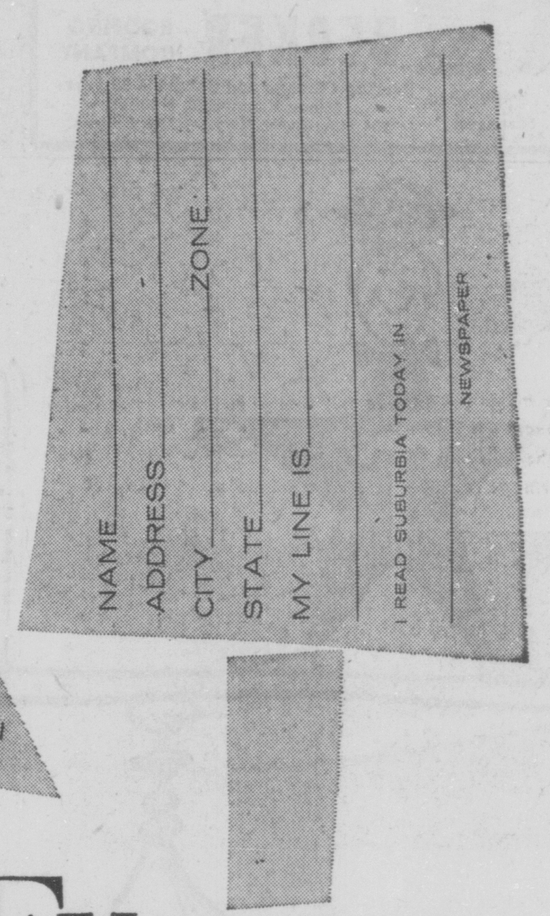
STILL TIME TO ENTER!





The Last Contest Ever For People Who Never Enter Contests!

and the only contest that offers you a choice of entry blanks!

JUST THINK OF A LAST LINE TO COMPLETE THIS VERSE:

Blooming from California to Maine
Mortgaged to the whole of its terrain
Where one seldom relaxes
Because of high taxes

(And your line would go here)

The last word of your entry line should rhyme with "Maine" and "terrain." For example a last line might be—"And station wagons speeding to the train." Among other rhyming words that might be used: complain, gain, lane, pain, plain, rain, refrain, strain, etc., etc., etc.

BEFORE YOU START... READ THESE RULES!

(1) Take a warm bath, relax, hum your favorite song softly. (This rule may not help you dream up a winning entry—but it will make you feel good.)
(2) You may enter as many last lines as desired as long as the total number does not exceed three. Your brainstorms may be submitted on the entry forms on the opposite page. (If desired, you may select the coupon form that best suits your personality.) Entries may also be submitted on facsimiles, post cards, greeting cards, or playing cards.
(3) Mail your entries to: SUBURBIA TODAY BOX 7525, CHICAGO, ILLINOIS
(4) All entries must be received by 3:47 a.m., December 5, 1960. For those who do not hear from us within a few weeks after that date — best wishes for a happy holiday season.
(5) Entries will be judged on the basis of originality and aptness of thought. Judges' decision is final. In case of ties, the tied contestants will be required to complete in 25 words or less the statement, "I never enter contests because . . ." All entries become the property of Suburbia Today.
(6) Entries must be the original work of contestants and must be submitted in their own names. However, if your name is John Phyrokoltosoonier, we'll understand if your entry is signed Tom Phyrokoltosoonier.
(7) Three hundred prizes are being awarded in the three contests that have appeared in the September, October and November issues of Suburbia Today. One hundred prizes will be awarded in each contest. Three hundred fortune cookies—each containing a message listing a prize—will be selected at random for mailing to the 300 individual prize winners.
(8) The contest is open to everyone except recipients of a Pulitzer Prize or an Academy Award.

Quentin Corners

Cider Mills, nutting parties, apple pickings are all badly knocked out this year . . The electric road workers claim that this is the shyest and hardest street work they ever found, but they are rushing it along.

Schaumburg

Quindel Brothers, Frank and Henning enjoyed a pleasant ride to Roselle in Quindel's auto; but could not return until one o'clock as machine refused to work and the bunch had to push it home.

Roselle

William Leiseberg, an old resident of Bloomingdale, died Sunday evening of a stroke of apoplexy.

Arlington Heights

Little Tommie, second son of Fred Allen had a very sad accident Monday afternoon. One leg was broken twice while hitching to Mrs. Crotsley's buggy. This should be a lesson to other boys.

Tribute to Henry G. Lorenzen: "Vacant Chair in the Village Council Hall. Trustee Lorenzen served 21 years in public office. He was elected village clerk in April 1897, his father, Chas. H. Lorenzen, at that time being a member of the board. The son's and father's record of public service have been of great value in this village in promoting good laws, rules and general regulations for the public welfare . . . Should these fast trains be allowed to thunder thru our town at such a destructive rate of speed? . . . Basketball team gets good support: The last game of the season was witnessed by a large crowd on the home court Friday last. Everyone had looked forward to this game with the greatest anticipation and anxiety; the first half went to Arlington, 6 to 4. The whistle sounded for the 3rd quarter and despite Arlington's efforts, the hoodooed ball didn't want to go thru the hoop. Score 10-10. The fourth quarter was a repetition of the 3rd with Palatine forging ahead to win 17-14. Although Palatine won the pennant, Arlington had the satisfaction of knowing that they have one of the finest and best known teams along the line. Hurrah for old Arlington!

Elk Grove

Miss Mathilda Winkelmann, daughter of the Fred Winkelmanns, and Mr. Paul Garlisch, son of Mrs. Louis Garlisch, were married at the Elk Grove Lutheran church Sunday, Nov. 7.

Palatine

From T. C. Hart's "Tales of the Street": Schaumburg has her soldiers' memorial tablet in place. Palatine's tablet is still in U.S. bonds in some bank vault. If we cannot do anything better we might also file away the names of our war heroes with the bonds, or better still turn all the money over to the boys who came home and are members of the American Legion, and let them buy their own epitaph . . . Supt. Butler reports the following A students — Ruby Rennack, Priscilla Heise, Alfred Hackbarth, Josephine Timmerman, Arthur Bruhns, Esther Eich and August Stelling.

Schaumburg

Ben Volkening has bought a Ford touring car from Gaare & Melzer . . . Aug. Hattendorf has bought a Fordson tractor and is having the time of his life with the little critter. Several teams of his neighbors took French leave from the corn fields when the Fordson came spinning by and it sounded for everything in the world like a gatling gun . . . The bank was closed Monday afternoon in honor of Mr. C. W. Schueneman, who was a director of the institution since its organization in 1910.

Mr. and Mrs. William Marquardt celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday. Many relatives and friends attended to help the couple make it an eventful day.

The Race Track showed a greater increase in attendance than any other track to operate in Illinois this season. 1929 records show attendance of 198,472, and 1930, 217,579, with thirty days of racing. The state collects no tax from the betting, so no record of the amount of money wagered is made public.

Martha Jackson, school nurse, reports many teeth and eyesight corrections. Mrs. John Allen presided at a meeting of local agencies interested in relief work. The nurse is being assisted by Mrs. H. W. Freise and Mrs. Roy Dobbins. The Social Service sub-committee of the general Arlington Heights Public Health Committee is seriously concerned about the unusual number of cases of want they have found, even at this early date. Conditions of actual suffering have been reported where pride prevented the acceptance of help offered.

Wheeling

Here's news for those who delight in passing the hours of the long winter evenings by the side of the fire with a good book. A modest library is available at the present for residents of Wheeling. Books may be obtained from the library, located in the public school, on Monday and Thursday evenings between 6:30 and 8:00 o'clock.

The stockholders of the State Bank of Palatine will meet Dec. 9th to vote upon the authorization of an increase in capital stock from $25,000 to $75,000.

The Village Board in session Nov. 5, received a motion from trustees Gaul and Gerken to send a letter of appreciation to Mr. Terpening and the North Western Ry. for the new depot which is now under construction, which will be a great addition to Mount Prospect.

The newly enlarged church edifice of St. John Evangelical Congregation will be rededicated Sunday, Nov. 17, with two special services.

"Arlington buys street truck; radio waits." The A.H. Police department is still hoping for action on the police radio. One of the aldermen told the members of the village board Monday evening that they can expect him to bring up the radio question every meeting as long as he is a member of the board until some definite action is taken. The Alderman drew to the attention of the board that it had purchased a new truck that evening without cash on hand to pay for it, while the money for the radio is waiting to be spent.

Harold Gieseke, Arlington Heights young man, paid his election bet to Miss Olga Wytrygus Wednesday evening, amid the sounding of horns, red lights and to the applause of many of the Democratic and Republican friends of the young couple. Harold was an ardent Willkie man. Olga believed in Roosevelt. She took a big chance when she agreed to give Harold a wheelbarrow ride along Higgins road to Arlington Heights road, a mile in length, if the Republican candidate was elected. She was the passenger at eight o'clock Wednesday evening.

Wheeling Township vote results: For Franklin D. Roosevelt, 1274; for Wendell Willkie, 3491; for Governer: Harry B. Hershey, D., 1173; for Dwight H. Green, R., 3585; For States Attorney: Thomas J. Courtney, D., Oscar F. Nelson, R., 2816. Total votes cast, 4804, Straight Democrats 946, Straight Republicans, 2738. Palatine township results: Total votes, 2431, with 556 Democrats and 1387 Republican straight tickets. Elk Grove township: Total votes 1665, with 272 Democratic votes, and 1015 Republican ballots.

Bensenville

The "curfew" which many of the oldsters recall used to hold their restless energies in check when they were in their teens and send all good boys and girls home to bed early, will be revived again in Bensenville.

Streets were again one of the main topics of discussion at the Village Board meeting Monday night. Village Attorney Hugo Thal informed the board that all details concerning the long proposed Dunton ave. widening will be completed during the next few months, but the actual widening of the street will not take place until next Spring.

Community: The Illinois Bell today asked the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to increase the five-cent public telephone call to ten cents.

Automatic gates will be installed at Wilke and Euclid, where railroad deaths in recent years have occurred.

Palatine

Palatine Hospital, operated for 31 years by Dr. C. A. Starck is closed due to increasing operating costs and difficulty in securing capable help. He will continue his general practice.

On Nov. 1st flowers were still blooming in sheltered places, strawberry plants were starting to bloom, there was plenty of fresh lettuce in the garden and down the main street of Palatine walked a young woman in shorts—truly a strange season.

Seven guest couple joined the club membership November 4 for an especially energetic dance night, one member couple remarking, "Don Finfrock really put us through our paces."

To non-dancers this may sound like hard work; to the dance enthusiast it's just a few steps this side of heavenly.

Don and his wife Kay exhibited and taught the round dance, Mickey, to add to the evening's enjoyment. Prizes were won by Al Van Nevel and Gerhard Mache.

Club officers are reminding members of the exchange dance November 18 with the Swingin' Squares of Aurora, and urge all members to come out and give the visitors a royal welcome. Caller Fred Douglas of the guest club will assist Don Finfrock at the mike. Guests are welcome too at Recreation Park fieldhouse Arlington Heights, 8:30 p.m. tomorrow night. A social and refreshment hour follows the end of dancing at 11 o'clock.

Citizen Concern, Support Only Hope for Republicans

A newspaperman once impressed on me the fact that the primary function of a newspaper is to make a profit. A newspaper does exist to perform a public service, but it obviously can not do this if it has gone out of business.

Similarly, a political party exists to represent the ideas of its adherents, but its primary function is to win elections. If it does not, it goes out of business; its ideas cannot be put into effect, and it can not serve as an effective check on the activities of its opposition.

IT HAS become apparent to me that the Republican party is not fulfilling its primary function; and that therefore its other functions are not being fulfilled either. If we are to maintain a two-party system we Republicans must do many things which will come hard to us; we must sacrifice some of our principles, at least temporarily, to preserve other more important principles.

I thoroughly agree with Mrs. Coughlin's letter to the Fence Post. Voting is not enough. I will go further than she did and say that, not only is politics in the suburbs our business, but politics in Chicago is also our business. In spite of efforts to control fraudulent voting in Chicago —and many suburbanites I know participated in poll-watching—many votes were stolen. There were probably enough stolen votes to elect some Republican candidates now defeated. In spite of our efforts to get out the Republican vote in the suburbs, many suburban votes were cancelled because precincts in Chicago were not staffed with Republican workers. I am sure we would all rather let Chicago run its own affairs, but if it can't or won't run them properly we must get involved in them. What Chicago does affects our county government, our state government, and our national government, and this gives us a stake in what goes on there.

Another fact that the Republicans will have to face is that a split ticket has become an expensive luxury. When two parties are approximately equal in strength; when both can attract good candidates by being strong enough to suport them; then we can vote for the best man for each office without jeopardizing the checks each party should place on the actions of the other.

We have now destroyed many of these checks, and we must adjust our thinking to this fact, Mrs. Church, Mr. Carpentier and others can be elected by their own efforts and on their own qualifications, but they should not have to do it alone.

Other candidates, equally qualified, have been defeated because they did not have a good organization behind them.

STILL OTHER able men and women have refused to run for office as Republicans at all, because they could not depend on their party to help them. It is unreasonable to expect people to sacrifice the time, the money, and the physical effort to run for office when they cannot count on their party. One way to persuade able people to run is to guarantee them straight ballot support until they can stand on their own feet politically.

A second way to persuade them is for Republicans to support financially the men and women who represent them on the ballot. A campaign is fantastically expensive; remuneration after election is small. A few dollars from each Republican to candidates he favors will lighten the financial burden these candidates bear.

PERHAPS THE most difficult fact many Republicans will have to face is that they must sometimes subordinate their personal political philosophies for the good of their party. Many feel that this will man the defeat of their beliefs, but this is not the case. Their ideas color the thinking of the whole party. If it is victorious, many of these ideas can and will be adopted; if it is defeated, the road will be much more difficult.

If Vice-President Nixon had been elected, he would never have forgotten the debt he owed to such people as Senator Goldwater, any more than Senator Kennedy will be able to forget the debt he owes to the labor unions and the big city machines.

Governor Rockefeller did not get all his ideas adopted by his party, either—chiefly his own candidacy. Senator Goldwater went out and worked for the party; Governor Rockefeller did not.

Who now has more influence and prestige in the Republican party, Senator Goldwater, or Governor Rockefeller?

THE REPUBLICAN party has been the party of the individualist. This is why I am a member of it, and this is the source of its strength. It also, however, is the source of its weakness. Individualism should mean that each party member expresses his views and works for them within the party. It should not mean that if all his views are not adopted he does not work at all! I am afraid that when the Republicans have been defeated we have been inclined to blame it on whichever candidates we had who were not ideologically acceptable to us. We have been called a "me, too" party, and there is certainly a "me, too" element in it. But we have not been defeated by them. We have been defeated by the group who says, "If you're going to agree with the Democrats and disagree with me, then I won't play." And they didn't play, and the Republican party again and again has gone down to defeat.

Several aspects of the recent election I think indicate the course the Republicans must take. Nearly half the voters did not vote for the Democratic presidential candidate; when the final tabulations are complete it may be more than half. He has something less than a mandate from the people. While Senator Kennedy was successful, 24 seats in the House of Representatives and two in the Senate passed from Democratic to Republican hands. These things indicate that the Republican party is a strong party, but we are not using that strength.

In the general election two years from now the Republicans must elect every possible Republican candidate to Congress and to state and local offices. And in four years, if we sustain our efforts, we will win the Presidency. But we must start NOW.

LOCALLY WE must develop the strongest possible Republican organization, and we must go in to Chicago to root out fraudulent registration and voting. We must provide precinct captains for areas in Chicago which have no Republican representatives or weak ones. It is perfectly legal and proper for outsiders to do this, and, strongest argument of all, The Democrats do it. Until the bi-partisan system is reestablished, we must fight the Democrats on their own ground and with every legal means at our disposal. I want a Republican party out there scrapping for every vote it can get. We must subordinate the principle of nonpartisan fairness to preserve the principle of bi-partisan government.

Scarsdale Democrat Speaks Up

I read with interest your coverage of the election returns in this week's Herald. In one of the items you pointed out that Precincts 14 and 23 which comprise the Scarsdale area gave Mr. Nixon a 6 to 1 edge over Senator Kennedy, this being the largest in the area.

As a Democratic Judge in precinct 23, I would like to point out the following statistics.

Mr. Kennedy received 33 1/3 per cent more votes than Adlai Stevenson received in 1956.

On the other hand, Mr. Nixon received 5 votes less than President Eisenhower received in 1956, a decrease of 5 per cent.

These statistics are very notable because there were actually 5 less votes cast in the precinct this year, 495 having been cast in 1956 as against 490 on Nov. 8.

WHILE IT certainly is true that Nixon did win by a 6 to 1 margin, Eisenhower carried precinct 23 by a 9 to 1 margin four years ago.

I think this is a great tribute to the Democrats in this area. While we may be greatly outnumbered, we nevertheless are enthusiastic and willing to work hard for our candidates. The results on November 8 indicated conclusively that we are gaining in this area.

Motorist Is Pleased By Courtesy

About two weeks ago, I passed through Arlington Heights on business. Traveling north on route 14, approaching the race track, I inadvertantly passed through a stop sign. I will skip the particulars, but there were factors that did not help the situation. Of course, immediately the squad was on the job and issued the inevitable ticket.

The boys were quite polite about it, even advised me about the Tuesday Evening Traffic Court hearings.

Being from Chicago, I expected rough treatment, from stories I have heard about what small towns, etc., do to the city boys.

I ATTENDED the traffic court Tuesday, November 1, presided over by Judge R. Buckley, whom I found to be a gentleman and a scholar. I want to thank the judge for his courteous consideration to me at that time. This young man should go far in his field. I trust the community appreciates him.

This was a new experience for me, even after 35 years of driving, and I have never before appeared in a traffic court, or received a ticket in any Chicago suburb. Being a salesman, I am driving sometimes seven days a week.

Reader Wants Assurances

As a subscriber I would would like to ask you a question or two.

What influence did Mr. Kerner have over you?

Did you expect and want the Daley corruption to extend into the suburbs?.

The election is over—you won, but what did you win?

WHAT INFLUENCE do you have over Mr. Kerner? You boast about your efforts in promoting good government.

Are you ready and able to forestall the Daley corruption from entering our suburban area?

These are things I would like to know before I receive another issue of the Palatine Enterprise.

Your reply will decide my continued subscription to your paper. I'm getting tired of giving my support to those who turn out to be double-crossers.

Whose Is Blame for The Poor?

Each article on "The Poor of Illinois" deserves appreciation for the fine writing and the excellent pictures—and anger and frustration that such conditions exist.

Of course many people have tried to help and will continue to do so, but progress is so pitifully slow while the problem grows so agonizingly fast. The blame falls on each of us who does less than his best to correct the shocking misery in which far too many of our people live out their lives, generation after generation.

JUST A WEEK ago I had occasion to see the results of discrimination and segregation existing in our own back yard. A small child, whose illness of a year has cost thousands of tax dollars and an incalculable amount of care, is about to go home—to a loving family with hard working, responsible parents. But loving and responsible as they are they can provide only an inadequately heated dwelling (I cannot bring myself to call it a house) lacking inside plumbing, solely because decent housing is unavailable to them. Under these home conditions, it is almost certain the child's illness will recur in a more virulent form and he will return to the hospital where more thousands of dollars and hours of dedicated care by doctors, nurses, technicians will be spent—perhaps fruitlessly. A child's life may be destroyed, his family shattered. Why? Their skin differs from ours.

Whose is the blame?

Taxpayer Protests Wood Dale Action

Once more the taxpayers of Wood Dale become the victims of their second rate politician officials. You did not know that your vehicle tax had been raised from $5 to $6 but now you are being told it is being raised from $6 to $10.

You will be warned not to be against this increase. Even though you are not against good ends. but because you are for them, you oppose measures you believe unsound.

At a recent council meeting, a commissioner brought up a bill that he wanted paid, for a ditch he had someone dig. There was some question as to whose responsibility it was to pay for this work, the sewer contractor or the residents of the street. The commissioner had the work done hoping the residents would foot the bill.

ON EDGEBROOK road, the sewer contractor destroyed the ditch on the east side of the street. The contractor has finished his cleanup work on this street, there is no question as to responsibility. No question as to whether there was a ditch there before. No question to be resolved by the village engineer. Yet this same commissioner will spend money needlessly in one place and have the village road man spend his time making a groove for a so-called ditch on Edgebrook road. Is this what they call political expediency?

You are given partial figures of receipts and expenses to substantiate their claims of need for more money from you, the taxpayer. The commissioner in his corner published $7,445.82 as the amount received from general taxes for the corporate fund but the county treasurer's report indicates $30,306.00. I lay no claim to knowledge of municipal auditing but I do say that if we are given any figures let's have more complete data so the taxpayer will understand. Of course, space limits the politician to giving us all essential information.

YOU TAXPAYERS should attend your village council meetings and hear how your politicians plan on making you pay more and more. You will hear how much the Village is in the red yet appropriates money for police cars hoping to get money to pay for them. You will hear the commissioner of finance talk about balanced budget yet the village practices deficit spending hoping for a miracle. Of course you, the taxpayers, are in the middle.

When and where will all this end? When you, the taxpayer, see fit to interest yourself in restoring checks and balances to your village government.

DuPage Taxpayer Cites the Record

I have just read the article on Du Page county's taxes being favorable by Paul J. Ronske, chairman of the Du Page county board of supervisors.

I would like to correct Mr. Ronske on a few points of his article.

POINT ONE: Yes, the Chicago tax rate is 4.242 per $100 valuation. But altho the Chicago rate is higher than in Du Page, they do not assess at 60 per cent of the market value of the buildings as we do out here. Hence, even if Chicago rates are higher, the taxes per home are much less that we get out here.

Point two: Chicago has a tax equalization factor of 1.41, while Du Page has a factor of 1.000. Hence, a home in Chicago assessed for $10,000 pays on $14,100 while in Du Page $1,000 assessment the home owner pays only on the $10,000 assessment. Sounds good doesen't it, but I take it with a grain of salt.

Here is one example: We have a 5-apartment building in the City of Chicago for which we have been offered $60,00. Well kept and in a nice neighborhood of comparable buildings. This building is assessed for $17,458, which includes the tax equalization factor of 1.41, and the other buildings around it are assessed in comparison.

Even with the equalizing factor and the higher tax rate of Chicago taxes on homes and buildings of comparable market value, the taxes in Du Page are $200 to $300 more. The apartment building which is valued at $60,000 pays a tax of $738.48.

I HAVE A nice home in Du Page with a market value of $30,000. My taxes (which also include $24 personal property tax; in Chicago nobody pays it) are over $700.

And these are provable facts.

I know our schools cost us because of crash programs for our booming population and such and I know the taxes have to pay for them, but when someone tells me the Chicago taxes are the same as Du Page's I can not and will not agree with him.

Reviewer Gets Sharp Rebuttal

Jo Parnell, the ubiquitous misanthrope, has slashed again: "The Girls in 509" was played with finesse in the desirable fashion—with a keen sense of humor.

The Village Theatre showed an excellent sense of entertainment timing which was endorsed the following weekend by a TV network broadcast of the same play of the "Play of the week" show. In the opinion of my wife and I, and an SRO audience, the Village cast succeeded in demonstrating a fine sense of timing in developing the laughs in the script.

ONE CAN only assume that the anonymous "Jo Parnell" was a person of vehement partisan nature who was unable to enter compatibly into this "kidding" spirit of the play. I believe that most people find some similarity to current day politicians in the characterizations drawn.

Regardless, in the spirit of the evening and the season, my wife and I enjoyed a smartly-acted comedy. We would appreciate it if you would print this letter as a partial antidote to the venom of your critic's bite. I feel no compulsion to concal my opinion behind a nomde plume.

In behalf of the Wheeling Township Democratic Volunteers we express our gratitude to you for the fair and adequate coverage given our canditates, our point of view, and the activities of our organization during the campaign just ended.

Once again Paddock Publications has demonstrated the reason for the respect with which its newspapers are regarded in the northwest suburbs and far beyond their borders. Reader Asks: What's Wrong

Open Letter to the People of Mount Prospect:

What is the matter with you? Your apathy is appalling! I'm speaking of the recent school bond issue. Out of all the people of voting age, only 2,819 of you got out to vote. Don't you care about your child's education? No matter what your opinion was, why didn't you voice it at the polls? Yet, when things go against you, who cries the loudest? All of you "Do Nothings!"

If you don't take an interest in your own local government, what can you expect from your national government. All things begin at home. This is the country of "We the People!" Where the heck are you hiding—and why?

Illinois Citizens Moving to Cities

"How we gonna keep 'em down on the farm" is a prophecy come true in terms of metropolitan migrations.

Applied to Illinois, it means there are more people living on less land than ever before.

As population surges to new heights, so do cities' numbers multiply, the correlation seems to be.

THE TROOP TO the city, coupled with a population boom, has resulted in 76.9 per cent of residents now living on only 17.5 per cent of the state's land area.

A report on the situation by the Illinois Department of Public Health shows that only 15 of the 102 counties of the state support a population of 7,691,068 souls.

The remaining 2,413,877 persons are scattered across the left-over 87 counties.

Illinois has witnessed a gain of 49.9 per cent in population from 1950-60. Net population of Illinois for the 10-year period is at 10,005,955 in 1960 compared with 8,712,176 in 1950.

THE LURE HAS been the major cities whose populations have gained while surrounding areas have experienced losses due to the population's migratory habits.

Areas outside of the metropolitan centers showed a migration loss of 180,613 compared to a migration gain for the entire state during the decade of 69,740.

The centers of metropolitan growth and the migration gains they have made are: Chicago, 212,766; Rockford, 23,274; East St. Louis, 19,449; Champaign, 5,809; Decatur, 2,651.

Three major cities, however, showed migratory losses but increases in population. Springfield lost 2,369 persons by migratory processes, while Rock Island saw the departure of 4,688 and Peoria the moving away of 7,076, but all three cities registered population gains.

These gains can be attributed to a birth rate outdistancing the death rate in the state. Over the 10-year period studied, the excess of births over deaths amounted to 1,224,039 in the state.

Reader Pleads for Lodge in Cabinet

To President-Elect
John F. Kennedy:

Like others who voted against you, I feel we should now unite behind your Administration, giving our new President loyal support, and I extend my congratulations to you.

You have shown this country how to unite politicians in order to become the Democratic nominee and you have demonstrated effectively how to unite political organizations in the East, the South and here in Cook county, to deliver a large majority of votes in the "so-called bloc areas." With victory, now comes the responsibility of uniting all the people of this great nation. I hope you will be even more effective in handling this most important responsibility.

AS ONE (or more) of every two people appear to favor the Eisenhower firm program of dealing with the Communists, and as Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge is experienced and capable of firmly dealing with the Communists, I urge you to consider naming him as your Secretary of State, together with specific directions that if he accepts, he should discharge his responsibilities as Secretary of State with the same firmness he has so effectively applied as our Ambassador to the United Nations.

The most important objective for all of us is to be strongly united as a people. Mr. President (Elect), you must now work to create and maintain such unity among a large majority of all the people, even though such efforts on your part may not set too well with certain Organized Political Minorities.

The role played by community newspapers in informing voters of the issues and campaign work is a very important one.

Worker Is 'Appalled' By Women

As a Republican worker in Rolling Meadows, 14th precinct (Jonas Salk school) I was appalled at the number of women who took unfair advantage of our baby-sitting service.

Election day was also the same day, as school visitation for the parents. Several mothers called for a sitter and ride to the polls, only to cast their vote and then spend an extra hour or so visiting in Nancy or Jimmy's school room, while sitter and driver waited.

It is unbelievable to me that these indifferent, thoughtless, and inconsiderate women would have enough nerve to even conceive of such plans.

THE SERVICE was for everyone, but since the sitters and drivers had schedules and other appointments, these few prevented others from having their opportunity to vote.

It seems to me that everyone is unduly concerned with illiteracy around the world when we should really worry about it right in our own neighborhoods.

In closing, I would like to ask—How ever will your children grow up to be trustworthy, honest, moral, upright citizens, when they have NO example set for them?

Set Tryouts For Theater Guild Farce

Tryouts for the comedy "Sabrina Fair", third production of Des Plaines Theatre Guild's 15th anniversary season, will be held Monday, Nov. 21 at 8:30 p.m. in Rand Park Fieldhouse.

Mrs. Frances Grose, president of the Theatre Guild, in announcing the tryouts, stressed that these are open readings to which all interested drama enthusiasts in the area are invited, regardless of previous acting experience.

"SABRINA FAIR", a gay romantic comedy by Samuel Taylor, has a cast of seven men and seven women, with considerable variety needed in the age and type of characters. Performance dates are January 20, 21, 27, 28, February 2 and 4.

Lee Madden, who will direct "Sabrina Fair" and the Guild's following production of "Rashomon," will preside at the open tryouts Nov. 21. Mr. Madden, a motion picture director in Chicago, has wide experience in all phases of theatre. We directed "Anastasia" for the Des Plaines Theatre Guild last season, and has conducted an acting workshop for the group weekly during the summer and fall. Bill

Education Is More Than 'Getting Ahead'

by LUCILLE ERNST

In more refined, if less scientific ages and places, men and women who were considered educated were well acquainted with all of the fine arts. They did not simply appreciate the arts but expressed themselves by writing poetry and painting pictures. A sketch book was a part of one's travelling equipment.

While it was considered important that men must learn a trade or a profession in order to make a living, an education was quite a different matter. Those who were lucky enough to receive an advanced education were given a deep understanding of their own heritage, the thousands of years of thinking that preceded them. Even those who never went beyond elementary school learned of the glory of Greek thought and the power of Rome. They learned to revere great music, great literature and great art. How times have changed.

IN 1960 almost everyone goes to high school. The colleges are packed to overflowing. We spend more and more years in school but it seems our efforts are directed to training young men and women to make a better living.

Very little time is given to true education, the subtle and infinitely more complex problem of broadening minds. most people who have gone to college have no appreciation of history and the importance of past achievement, no understanding or only the vaguest of the fine arts.

With an enormous amount of leisure time which only the very richest once enjoyed, they are restless and bored. Since emphasis has been placed on making money, anyone who spends his time doing anything else is considered a bit odd, even an egghead. Yet those who don't bother learning or are never helped to learn anything beyond their own job feel they are missing something.

THEY ARE. They are missing being a complete person. What is a complete person? One who can make a living, surely, but there is more to a human being than being able to provide food and shelter. An animal can do this. One must be also able to know beauty, to appreciate its source and correlate it to his own experiences.

Most people can do this. There is another step. One must be able to express in some manner the feelings and ideas he has accumulated. This need not be a masterpiece. It needs only be honest. There is no such thing as bad art, there is only dishonest art and this seldom happens among those who are not seeking fame or fortune.

I WOULD LIKE to tell you about Bob Petersen. He is an engineer. That is how he makes his living. He is also an artist, for art is his way of life.

In 1930, Mr. Petersen painted his first landscape. He took it to work and never brought it home. The president of his firm bought it for $20. That was just enough in those bleak depression years to enroll for one course at the Art Institute. Other semesters followed and he continued his hobby.

In 1932, he induced John Cilfone, a young Chicago artist to take him as a student. Thus Bob started his promising artist on his teaching career by becoming his first student.

FOR 22 YEARS Mr. Petersen did not paint. He made motion pictures, another form of art. In 1957, he began to paint again and has exhibited frequently in the last few years. He is now a member of the Mount Prospect Art League and is exhibiting his paintings during the month of November at the Mount Prospect Library. He is showing a landscape, two seascapes and a portrait. (Bill

Noted Ballet Star Is Also Suburb 'Farmer'

JOHN KRIZA, ballet star and farmer, strikes a ballet pose in front of a fountain on the lawn of a farm in DuPage county at the intersection of Army Trail road and Bloomingdale road. In other photo he yanks corn stalks from a corn picker on the farm owned by his father and operated by Howard Bierman. Kriza, a first dancer with the American Ballet Theater, is vacationing between tours by helping Bierman harvest his corn crop.

He Enjoys 3 Months In Fields

by STEVE FRANZMEIER

One of America's foremost ballet stars, just returned from a six-week tour of Russia and lunch with Premier Khrushchev, was operating a corn picker on his father's farm last week at the intersection of Bloomingdale road and Army Trail road south of Bloomingdale.

John Kriza, a premier danseus (first dancer) of the American Ballet Theater, came in from the field and sat down in the kitchen of the farm house in his overalls to talk about his 21-year career as a ballet star.

Here was a man who has been a star in television productions for Bell Telephone Hour and Omnibus. The famous Marie Tallchief is one of his co-performers. He has played leading modern ballet characters, including "Billy the Kid" and has stared in "Fancy Free" and "Rodeo."

BUT, JOHN KRIZA is a man who does not fit the modern stereotype for a ballet star. One feature of that stereotype is excitability, ebullience. Kriza, on the other hand, is calm and matter of fact.

He looks very much at home in his overalls. Maybe that's because he enjoys farming and looks forward to three months "vacation" each year on the farm.

His facial features can be described as rugged. His hair is black and curly. Most people would estimate his age at about 30. But, he is 41 years old. Perhaps it is the fact that a ballet star must be in supreme physical condition at all times which accounts for Kriza's physical youth.

As a youngster a prediction that John Kriza would become an internationally-known ballet star would have been laughable; for John Kriza was thin, weak and small. It was because of his frail physique that his parents enrolled him with a local ballet teacher in Berwyn, his home town.

HE STUDIED with several teachers until he was 16 when he became a student of his first "name" ballet instructor, Bentley Stone in Chicago.

By the time he was 18, says Kriza, he realized that he did indeed possess some talent. While building his body he had developed this talent.

His first job as a professional came when he was 19 years old. He toured with a vaudeville act.

He also danced for the Works Progress Administration ballet in Chicago and the Chicago Opera ballet. Then he studied at the American Ballet school in New York.

During his career Kriza has played in night clubs too. For 15 weeks in 1949 he danced at the College Inn in the Sherman Hotel, Chicago.

FROM SEPTEMBER to May each year Kriza is on tour. June, July and August—the hot months—are vacation time. These are the months that Kriza spends on his father's farm, operated by Howard Bierman.

This year, however, a European tour, including the appearances in Russia, delayed their lay-off. Kriza will return to the circuit in January. The company is scheduled to appear in Chicago in February.

The American Ballet company played in Kiev, Leningrad and Moscow, Russia. Throughout their stay in Moscow their audiences were warm and appreciative, numbering an average of 10,000 people at each performance, said Kriza.

Krushchev was at the United Nations in New York during most of their appearance; but he attended their last performance unexpectedly. After the show he invited Kriza and several others to supper with him and his wife in their private box.

Travel has been one of the pleasures of being a ballet star, says Kriza. Every year the company spans the United States. He has traveled through Europe several times. In the course of the last tour alone he saw Belgium, France, Greece Italy, Spain, Denmark and Sweden.

THE COMPANY has played in every South American country except Paraguay and Bolivia and every one of the Latin American countries.

In March they were in Havana, Cuba. Kriza said that he could tell that things were beginning to become tense—foreigners were uneasy, tourists were few and there was great difficulty in obtaining hotel accommodations.

One reason Kriza is a star of ballet probably is that he loves the physical discipline required. Before every performance ballet dancers exercise for one to two hours—stretching their thighs for instance. Every day they attend ballet class.

And a performance is scheduled for almost every evening during the season.

But, this is John Kriza's life. And he loves it. He also loves farming, even though it's paradoxical.

Traffic Deaths Continue Upward

Traffic deaths for the first nine months in the United States totaled 27,440, the National Safety Council reported last week.

This was 220, or 1 per cent, more than the toll of 27,220 recorded in the same period last year.

Traffic deaths in September totaled 3,430 - a 2 per cent increase over the 3,360 recorded in the same month last year.

"It is obvious," warned Howard Pyle, Council president, "that drivers, pedestrians, traffic enforcement officers and all others responsible for safety on the highway must exert extra effort in the months just ahead, or the 1960 toll will exceed 1959."

MOTOR VEHICLE travel in the first nine months this year was up 2 per cent over the same period last year. This fact, more cars on the road than last year traveling more miles, was cited as the probable reason for the heavy toll, by Pyle.

For this nine month period, according to reports from 720 cities of more than 10,000 population, the cities showed a 3 per cent increase over last year.

In cities with populations of more than 200,000 Chicago ranked 15th in the percentage of decreases compared to the same period last year.

In cities with a population over 1,000,000 Chicago at the end of the nine month period in 1960 ranked lowest with a death rate of 2.5 deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles.

MRS. MARY JANE Bentley, 910 S. I-Oka, Mount Prospect, will play the featured role in "Ladies in Retirement," current production of Des Plaines Theatre Guild. The psychological melodrama will be presented at 8:30 in Rand Park fieldhouse on November 18, 19, 25, and 26 and December 2 and 3.

'Spartacus' Is Rated A Top Film Spectacle

by JIM PHILLIPS

It took over a dozen big names, Stanley (director) Kubrick, Super Technirama 70, quite a few thousand blood-splashed extras, and millions of dollars of shrewd backing to put "Spartacus" into the cinematic arena— and judging from the production, the whole stew is well worth its calories.

Bryna Productions and Kirk Douglas can be pretty proud of their efforts to bring the story of ex-gladiator Spartacus to us at this time — not because the present-day audience craves blood-and-thunder, but because there are those who like a message now and then with their excitement. "Spartacus" is obviously a message picture — men just can't take years and years of slavery and not think of rising above their tormentors.

Historians tell us that around 73 B.C., Spartacus emerged from his role as gladiator-slave, and through a number of years of slave-gathering, erupted against the Roman order, accompanied by enough fighters to cause widespread confusion among many of the powerful military leaders of the empire.

Of course, sooner or later, he got himself in a little too deep and got clobbered by the best part of the Roman army. After the defeat Spartacus was scattered everywhere and so was his band of revolutionists. The slaves left alive were crucified or put to the sword immediately as examples to all who would go against Rome.

THIS, IN ESSENCE, is the story of Spartacus. Kirk Douglas plays the title role admirably; the best acting job I've seen him turn in since "Champion." Sir Laurence Olivier is brilliant in the portrayal of the Roman commander Crassus, the officer who finally defeated the gladiator and his army.

Peter Ustinov is the head of the training camp for gladiators. He is always a treat to watch—especially here — the man is an expert at the leer, sneer, and deep breath, and his lines are spoken with as much confidence as Olivier's.

Jean Simmons portrays a slave girl of a sort, Charles Laughton is a crafty old member of the Roman Senate, John Gavin is young Julius Caesar, and Tony Curtis appears as the artful Antonius, a young man with a talent for the poetic. Nina Foch, Herbert Lom, John Dall, and John Ireland are excellent support for the "major" part of the fine cast.

"Actors, actors, everywhere, but ne're a drop to act" is not the case here, although at times you wonder if Tony Curtis is ever going to lose that Holland Tunnel twang of his. However, all things being considered, it is not the star-studded but talented cast that makes this picture—it's the production.

The action is as beautifully mixed as a Viennese tossed salad— there's enough fast-pacing at the right places. When the "dressing" of love and dramatics is poured into the bowl, care is taken to prevent any one piece of the picture from being doused too heavily.

The war scenes are as beastly as a special effects man can make them, with particular attention to men's arms and legs being thrown about like baseball bats. The duel between Kirk Douglas and Woody Strode (another gladiator) is a great bit of slashing excitement, thanks to a beautiful job of film editing.

Mob scenes are handled to the point of audience participation—(the man in front of me was either trying to scratch his own back or help the slaves escape from their quarters!)—I'm sure you'll be captivated by the scenes in the Roman Senate, not to mention the well - executed lines delivered there by Sir Laurence Olivier.

IF THERE is any really weak part of "Spartacus," it must be the acting of Jean Simmons, not to mention the "sweet-simple" lines given her in the screenplay. In this one part, characterization is completely lacking.

Stanley Kubrick should be congratulated for a fine, overall direction, from Kirk Douglas down to the last, mauled "Spartacusian" soldier. You'll notice Kubrick's mastery when the battle scenes are in full swing. I got the feeling I was there, yet in the happy-to-be-a-coward position of audience-member.

"Spartacus" will have to be compared with "Ben-Hur," and I'm surprised more critics haven't done just that. If you saw "Ben-Hur" and liked it, you'll have a good time at the McVickers Theater. If you couldn't stand the gore and bloodshed of "Ben-Hur," then you might as well leave "Spartacus" alone. Nevertheless, both pictures are examples of what fine movie-making can be like when you put your mind and a few million dollars to it! Capsule Comment: "Reserved Seat Gladiator Defeat!" (Bill

Flattened Intentions

THEY SAY THAT the road to somewhere or other is paved with good intentions that have fallen flat on their faces. I am sure that some of my very best intentions make many a paving stone on that road.

My most flagrant smothering of good intentions comes when I take off with Father to a convention. I fully intend to be present at every speech that is given at every meeting no matter what horrid time of the day or night they make them. I don't consider the noon ones or the evening ones so bad. It is those early morning speeches that offer me my greatest challenge.

I'll be going along great guns attending and listening and listening and attending. Then, something will come up and I miss one. THAT is the one that Father tells me is the greatest speech of all and boy did I miss it. I always feel vaguely cheated.

Of course it is my fault as it is probably an early morning bit and I have asked him pitifully if it would be all right if I sort of lolled around in bed until, oh say, nine-thirty. I mean, I'm away from home and the children aren't there and it makes me feel devilish to turn over and go back to sleep.

Father doesn't care too much for such folderol but when I ask anything pitifully, I mean I get really pitiful. So, last time I pulled my little act about the staying in bed he left with a minimum of grousing. He's getting sort of used to it. But, pretty soon the phone rang and it was dear Daddy telling me there was a lovely fire in the lobby of the hotel.

Now this gave me pause for thought as it suddenly occurred to me that I was on the seventh floor and garbed in a scanty that was just about as scanty as you can get. I told him I thought that was a pretty thin ruse just to get me out of bed and just then I heard the fire trucks coming down the street. They did stop at the hotel. There was a fire.

Mother probably set some sort of record for getting dressed, down the elevator and the heck out of there. It should teach me some sort of lesson. But, it probably won't.

Grandmother's Hanky Is Bride's 'Something Old'

When Miss Nancy Leigh Virgil, daughter of Mrs. Esther Randall Virgil, 105 S. Main, Mt. Prospect, became the bride of Daniel F. Ewing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ewing, 637 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, she carried a handkerchief that her grandmother had carried at her wedding years ago.

The double ring, candlelight service was held October 15 in South church, Mt. Prospect, with Rev. Edwin I. Stevens officiating. White mums, stock and gladioli decorated the church.

Miss Myra Clausing was soloist and her selections were "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." She was accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Nancy Hulslander.

BOUQUET TAFFETA with alencon lace made up the bride's gown. The lace, which trimmed both the bodice and the skirt, was re-embroidered with seed pearls. The bodice was fashioned with long pointed sleeves and a sweetheart neckline and the full skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her shoulder-length veil was of french illusion and was held in place with a crown of pearls. White orchids, lily of the valley and stephanotis formed her bridal bouquet.

Completing her ensemble were a pearl necklace and earrings, gifts from her bridegroom. Robert Leigh Virgil Jr. gave his sister in marriage.

MOSS GREEN dull satin was chosen for the attendant's gowns. Their shoes and hats were of the same material and they carried bronze and yellow mums. Mrs. Robert Leigh Virgil Jr. of Brentwood, Mo. was matron of honor and bridesmaid was Mrs. Barbara Sutton of Chicago.

The bride's mother chose a cinnamon brown dress with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids while the bridegroom's mother chose a dress of Dior blue with matching accessories and a corsage of miniature pink roses.

D. Spencer Ewing of Arlington Heights, brother of the groom, was best man and groomsman was Donald Niemeyer, also of Arlington Heights. Serving as ushers were Bob Birkholz of Arlington Heights and Daniel Meows of Madison.

ONE HUNDRED fifty guests attended the reception held in Rolling Green country club after the 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

The couple honeymooned in southern Illinois and northern Wisconsin for two weeks and since November 1 has been at home at 12 Audrey lane, Mt. Prospect. Both young people were graduated from Arlington high school. The groom also studied at the University of Illinois and is employed by DoAll Co., Des Plaines. (Times Photo (S

'Your Hat Can Make or Break Your Ensemble,' Women Told

"Nothing about an ensemble creates more comment and notice than your hat," designer Richard Billings told members of the American home department of Mt. Prospect Woman's club when they met last week for a millinery fashion show and demonstration.

"To be well dressed," Mr. Billings explained, "is to learn what type of hat is best for your own personality, features and ensemble, regardless of what the current fashions are showing." However, most women can at least wear an adaptation of every type hat and can thus be fashionable and up to date in their millinery, he told the club members.

HE FURTHER explained that a woman may have to take on the mood of the chapeau as some millinery requires poise, sophistication or dignity while others are gay and party moodish.

During his talk, Mr. Billings, who is from Hats by Sue, Chicago, created a white flower holiday hat and explained that millinery is one of the most challenging and creative arts. "Each designer has his own style and a good designer hat can be worn for years and still be good fashion," said Mr. Billings. He told of the processes in making a hat, from the blocking, steaming, choosing a fabric and trimming.

HE ENCOURAGED the women to create their own hats, using their own ideas in adhering to the newest fashions. "Women who make their own hats are our best customers." commented the speaker.

Two professional models, one of which was a member of the club, Mrs. Ansel Rahn, modeled more than 50 hats during the afternoon. Another feature of the afternoon, which began with 1 o'clock dessert, was the display of old and unusual hats, furnished by members of the club. (S SIMILARITIES BETWEEN this season's old and the new in millinery is evident in these high crowned cloches. Mrs. Kenneth Zellmer, left, models a 1926 straw cloche imported from Bangkok where it was handwoven under water, while Mrs. Ansel Rahn models a winter 1960 cloche of fur. The 1926 hat was from the trousseau of Mrs. Victor Bittner of Mt. Prospect. (S

Heights Woman Is Presented To Princesses

When the American Daughters of Sweden were hostesses to the royal princesses, Birgitta and Desiree of Sweden last Saturday, Mrs. Clarence A. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights, was one of the club's members presented to their highnesses, at luncheon in the International House at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Hendrickson is a past president of Arlington Heights Woman's club and the present president of seventh district Illinois Federation of Women's clubs. The Swedish club, to which she belongs, gives a scholarship each year to a deserving student to study at Chicago university with the understanding that he will take one course in the study of the Swedish language and culture. Mother's Wedding Rosary Carried by Patricia Baumet Carrying the same rosary that her mother carried on her wedding day, Miss Patricia Evelyn Baumet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Baumet, 102 Derbyshire, Arlington Heights, was married to Richard G. Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wells of Chicago, in an October 1 nuptial mass in St. James church, Arlington Heights.

Fr. John Lane officiated at the double ring service amid a setting of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums. The noon-time ceremony was followed by a dinner in Brandt's restaurant, Palatine, and a reception in the home of the bride's parents for 175 guests.

The couple met at Loyola university, where the bride studied for 2½ years after being graduated from Arlington high school and the groom studied for two years after five years at Quigley Preparatory seminary. The bride is now with Sears Roebuck's Chicago office and the bridegroom with Great American Insurance Co.

FOR HER marriage the bride chose a full-length gown of chantilly lace with chapel train. The gown's bodice was trimmed with seed pearls and sequins and her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. White baby roses and a white orchid made up her bridal bouquet. Mr. Baumet gave his daughter in marriage.

Darlene Baumet was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaid was Mrs. Gerald Korkora of Chicago, a classmate from Loyola. Both wore identical gowns of mint green taffeta with light green cummerbunds and accessories. Their flowers were nosegays of white baby mums.

(Community Camera

MRS. BAUMET chose a champagne sheath dress with brown accessories and Mrs. Wells chose a dress of green lace. Both wore orchid corsages.

Jack Hartnett, a cousin from Chicago, was best man and Harold Kern of Dalton, Ill., was usher.

The couple honeymooned for a week at the Wagon Wheel and since their return have been at home at 5433 N. Winthrop, Chicago.

THIS WINDSOR bamboo settee from New England is among the American treasures loaned by Mr. and Mrs. Owen B. Smith of Palatine to a current major exhibition at the Henry Ford Museum near Detroit. The blue-painted settee dates about 1800 and the wallpaper-covered band box, also owned by the Smiths, bears the label of Hannah Davis of East Jaffrey, N. H., who worked from 1818 to 1863. Other items in the grouping were loaned by Cincinnati residents. The exhibit is the most extensive special showing of American decorative arts ever attempted in the midwest.

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

She Scolds TV Plugs

Dear Peg:

TV commercials seldom annoy me. I can take all the "wash day miracles" and "filtered blends" and even the "happy Fizzies party." I can bear with the cereal, soft drink and candy commercials aimed directly at the children. After all, all these companies want to do is make a little money and what better way than to get the children to help pound away at the parents. However, for the past month I've been watching a series of commercials that have brought me from a slight simmer to the boiling over point!

These, too, are aimed at the children, but there's a slight difference between these commercials and the 5 cent candy bar or 29 cent cereal. The new commercials don't even bother with the nickel and dime stuff - they go in for nothing less than $10.00 and usually their items are well over that amount! You may not have seen any of these, since they are shown only with the children programs (they wouldn't dare show them on any program that Dad might be watching - he'd flip!).

Either late in the afternoon or on Saturday morning, at whatever time there is a concentration of children's programs, between cartoons and comedies they are shown some of the most appealing toys ever manufactured, all at the most unappealing prices that you can imagine.

Here are a few examples, which I saw in less than an hour one afternoon and within a half hour Saturday morning: A bulldozer by Marx which runs by a battery and is priced at $14.95; A Remco battleship called Fighting Lady - with radar, pom pom guns and airplane launcher for $12.98. The announcers of this one urges little boys to get this one in order to be "a big shot in your neighborhood." A happy family were shown next - the children were playing the Emenee chord organ - this comes in two prices $29.95 or the "big professional one at $69.95. And, of course, you have seen Mr. Machine made by Ideal for only $11.98 and Marx-cart - a battery operated little car that children can drive. It's $29.95. For little girls there is Patty Play Pal - she's as big as a three year old and has pearly white teeth . . ." She's just $29.95. There are two prices for the motorized building set: $12.95 and $19.95. The Lionel train people are a little smarter - they just show their three new cars, the helicopter launcer, the missile firing car and the exploding boxcar. They don't tell the price of theirs. They just show the cars to the kids and let them do the rest.

It would be an unusual child who didn't wish for everyone of the toys shown. A parent can explain to an older child that these toys cost too much to run right out and buy, but a little child 4 years old doesn't understand this. He doesn't understand money or "cost" and can't see why he can't have it. Even for an older child who does know the value of money I think this advertising is bad since constant exposure to prices such as these results in the false idea that it isn't very much money after all. In either case the chiidren are made unhappy and the parents frustrated and belligerent toward the manufacturer.

These toys are fine and probably priced fairly - that's not the point. But they should be kept in the toy store and off television where many little boys and girls who see them will never be able to have even one of them!

My love,
Patty

Lace Mantilla Highlights Bridal Gown of Lynn Yeast

A mantilla trimmed with pearl-embroidered alencon lace complemented Miss Lynn Ruth Yeast's silk mist gown chosen for her marriage October 29 to James A. Mitchell, son of the James D. Mitchells of Novi, Mich. The bodice and three-quarter sleeves of her gown were also trimmed with the same lace and she carried a cascade of rose buds.

Dr. Hughes B. Morris officiated at the candlelight, double ring ceremony and organist was Charles Jenks. White mums were used to decorate the church.

THE BRIDEGROOM'S sister, Mrs. Lois Dingman of Novi, was the bride's only attendant. Her gown was of dark green velveteen fashioned with ballerina skirt. Her accessories matched her gown and she carried a cascade of pale pink carnations.

Eddie Nash of Napa, Cal. was best man and the bride's brother, Gary Yeast of Arlington Heights, and John R. Burgess of Northville, Mich. were ushers.

A RECEPTION was held in the church's Fellowship hall where dinner was served to the 50 guests. The Way We See It

Need Plan to Break Pattern of Poverty

With this issue Paddock Publications ends its series on "The Poor" of Illinois. We wish the subject of our series—poverty, swollen relief rolls, slums and suffering—could be ended as easily.

Remaining, however, are a half million persons in the state for whom food, shelter, and clothing are constant question marks.

Mothers fight to keep fatherless families together in Chicago slums, holding their young close as if to shield them from a hostile city, cruel and gray.

The aged huddle alone in out-of-the-way places, bewildered by a society that has sped past them, leaving in its backwash a dole of $82 a month on which an elderly person is expected to subsist.

A young Negro, alert and ambitious, ponders over his replacement by a machine and broods with the knowledge that the color of his skin will compound his difficulty in finding another job.

Marginal farms, stark in their poverty, dot the lower third of the state. Surplus commodity lines shuffle up main streets of communities where a majority of residents are dependent upon relief funds funneled into the area.

The degradation and waste of the human potential among these people is obvious.

Nor do the rest of us go free. The state's public aid bill, reflected in our tax bills, is nearly $250 million a year, and rising rapidly. Conservative estimates place a $2 billion tag on Chicago's loss because of race discrimination in filling jobs.

The hidden costs paid for our slums in increased crime, health hazards, and family disorganization are immeasurable.

Perhaps a more painful toll exacted from the thoughtful among us is the knowledge that our social and economic system is failing a sizable number of our fellow citizens.

But where to point the finger? Where is the ironic flaw that permits widespread privation among the world's most prosperous people?

There is little doubt that we are treating symptoms instead of causes; perpetuating public aid as a way of life instead of restoring relief recipients as contributing members of society.

In an era marked by increasing automation, dwindling farms, and shifts to urban areas, it is not enough to provide an unskilled man with a minimum of shelter, food, and clothing, and tell him to find a job. Nor is it reasonable to expect a monthly dole to solve problems of a displaced marginal farm family.

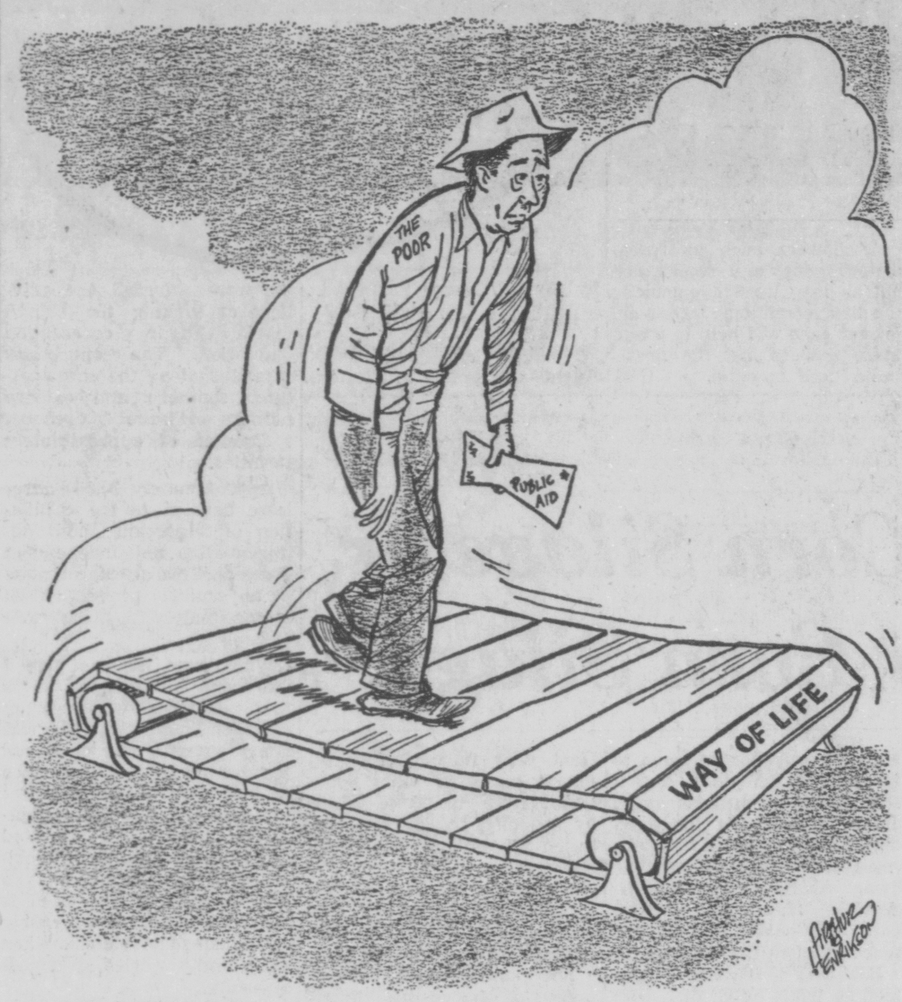
If there is to be real assault on poverty and eventual relief for the taxpayer's pocketbook, long range aid and action by the federal government in cooperation with private industry and state and local governments is needed.

Initial actions should include large scale vocational re-training programs, slum clearance, centers for indoctrination into urban culture, a sufficient number of caseworkers to permit intensive counseling of welfare clients, stay-in-school programs for youngsters, funds for depressed areas along with incentives to attract industry, and a sweeping civil rights program guaranteeing equal job opportunities and freedom of residence to all Illinois' citizens.

Such programs would certainly be costly in the beginning; they would not eliminate public aid rolls. For there will continue to be among the aged and disabled those for whom we must assume the responsibility of making life meaningful.

These actions should, however, prove economical in the long run by breaking a pattern of dependency that finds second and third generation families beginning to appear on relief rolls.

Going Nowhere



Need for Contract

Our Awareness Of the Poor

by MARTIN E. MARTY

Perhaps the most difficult thing to learn in life is to emphathize with people in different situations. Last week three incidents reminded me of the comfortable situation of the American churches.

Before ministers of the United Church of Canada and educators of the Methodist church in Toronto and Nashville, I was assigned the topic, "The Christian Message in an Affluent Society" and in my own parish we had the annual "stewardship" week.

In each instance the focus was on the question of discipleship in an abundant and prosperous economy. Of course, most of us 'middle class' Americans do not think of ourselves as so well off but if we begin to compare our situation to that of people in the rest of the world the staggering disproportion of abundance to their poverty exceeds the imagination.

NOW HISTORICALLY the Christian church has ordinarily found itself in circumstances of poverty, need, illness: here its hope made sense.

In our kind of world we never know from what and for what we are saving people; our gadget-filled paradises obscure both eternal questions and the vision of human need today.

The series on "The Poor" in these papers served as one reminder of the 'hard-core of non-affluent' but that is all they do, they remind. They do not bring us into contact with people in other situations.

Even more dramatic a separation than the economic one exists, of course, in the free world/slave world antithesis that we have all come to recognize. We were 'born free' and not we but others died to keep us free, so our liberties seem to come cheaply to us; this often places Americans and American Christians in an illusorily comfortable situation and makes it hard for us to understand Christianity in the unfree world, behind the Curtains. We understand in the black and white contrasts between Communism and American Christianity how Iron Curtain Communists can be dying for their faith.

BUT, WITH feet propped up on hassock in front of television, hand dipping into popcorn and lips smacking of liquid refreshment, many of us have found it easy to criticize those who are staying alive there.

The World Council of Churches, for example, comes under regular fire in certain U.S.A. circles because it welcomes Iron Curtain churchmen. I know many of these men and spent many hours with them as recently as last summer; I do not claim to have the discretion to sort out the faithful from the functionaries. But I do know that Christian witness exists in exciting ways where we cannot picture the circumstances.

IF YOU WANT to see what this is like, read Johannes Hamel's "A Christian in East Germany" (Association Press, $3.00). Pastor Hamel has served through Nazism and Communism and chose neither. He is not uncritical of either, too. But he does witness and does minister under a kind of weighted cross we cannot know.

If you want to know about "God's Beloved East Zone" and even to see what must look shocking to Western eyes, a prayer for Walter Ulbricht and Wilhelm Pieck and to see it in the context of faithful, suffering, hopeful, courageous Christian ministry this book could help understand even where one cannot always agree.

Summary: A peek behind the Iron Curtain, where a cross still rises.

New Alignment May Halt Work

Support of Colonial Nation Hurts Our Prestige in U.N.

by WILLIAM DULANEY

The work of the United Nations, credited with averting at least three world wars in the past decade, stands in danger of grinding to a halt because the United States has once again failed to identify itself with the revolutionary currents that are pouring forth new nations.

In clinging to old alliances, entered into an age since past, and persisting in the notion that there is no room for neutralist countries in our struggle with the Soviet Union, we are not only rendering the work of the UN ineffectual, but are driving new members into the Communist camp.

If Mr. Khrushchev's shoe waving exhibition on New York's East river was designed to destroy the United Nations as an effective peacemaking instrument, he has in the past few weeks gotten two assists from the United States and its Western allies.

IN A 51 to 38 vote with nine abstentions, the UN General Assembly last week acted favorably on Nigeria's motion to postpone elections to fill vacancies on the all-important Security Council. The losing side numbered the United States, its NATO allies, and Latin America.

Of the 51 winning votes, 42 came from the Afro-Asian countries and the remainder from the Soviet bloc. Reason for this alliance is bitter Afro-Asian resistance to Western attempts to fill a vacancy on the Security Council with Portugal.

As a NATO nation, Portugal is no doubt considered a desirable choice for the council by the United States.

As one of the remaining colonial powers entrenched in Africa and Asia, Portugal is also an example of imperialism at its worst.

Governed by a repressive dictatorship for the past 34 years, the country's colonial policy in Africa is best noted for its use of slave labor. Protests by natives against laws making such labor legal have been met with wholesale slaughter.

DETAILS OF such atrocities are seldom revealed to the rest of the world because of Portugal's restrictions on the press along with the suppression of other democratic institutions.

For President Eisenhower to have included Portugal in his last good will trip abroad and our present support of the country for a Security Council seat is to make a mockery of Henry Cabot Lodge's oft repeated statement that our front line of defense is identification with the democratic element in the world community through the United Nations.

A second defeat for the United States and further weakening of the UN as an instrument of peace was prompted last week by this country's publicly taking issue with Secretary General Hammarskjold's criticism of continued Belgium presence in the Congo.

The Afro-Asians, again assisted by Communist countries, voted 48 to 30 against the West, and succeeded in suspending debate on the Congo crisis.

EARLIER THE United States state department stated: "We have every confidence in the good faith of the Belgian government's desire to be of assistance in the Congo."

Of assistance to whom is the question asked by the African delegates, for Belgium has repeatedly acted in a manner that would assist only itself in maintaining a foothold in the supposedly independent Congo. Belgium's prime minister has noted more than once that his country is "determined to safeguard her moral and material interests" in the Congo.

Thus with the once split Asians and Africans uniting in opposition to Washington's continued support of old orders and colonial regimes, the United Nations may find itself at a stalemate, with neither the West, the Communists, nor the neutralists able to muster the two-thirds majority needed to pass measures opposed by the other faction.

Suburb Election Roundup

Suburban Vote Due For Sharp Scrutiny

by CHARLES HAYES

The suburban vote — its nature and its size — is sure to be a major topic when the politicos get down to the post-election task of assessing errors of omission and commission.

This was an election studded with contradictions and imponderables.

Republican Gov. Stratton was rejected by a huge majority of voters but control of the legislature went to the GOP.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas was swept to victory in his third term bid by a commanding majority.

ALL BUT one Democratic state candidate easily unseated GOP uncumbents, and all Cook county offices went to Democrats.

In Chicago's suburbs, the GOP held fast to its dominance, although by diminishing margins. Democrats continue to build strength in rapidly-expanding suburban areas.

Most significant characteristic of balloting in the northwest suburbs was the absence of any widespread "religious voting" bloc. Vice President Nixon maintained the same margin of victory in predominantly Protestant communities as he did in suburbs with large Roman Catholic communities. Nixon won by a 2 to 1 margin in such suburbs as Hoffman Estates (50 per cent Catholic), Rolling Meadows (55 per cent), Elk Grove Village (55 per cent), and Wheeling (55 per cent).

Another development of suburban voting was the continued trend toward split ballot or cross-over voting. Throughout Chicago's suburbs, most precincts gave support to Republicans Nixon and Carpentier, Democrats Kerner and Douglas.

LAKE COUNTY, for example, was carried handily by Vice President Nixon although Otto Kerner won the gubernatorial contest over "favorite son" incumbent Stratton.

Although Nixon made a clean sweep of most suburbs, Kennedy made strong showings in many traditionally GOP townships. In Northfield township, the GOP margin was whittled down to 3 to 1 and in New Trier township it was cut to 2 to 1. These were once areas in which it nearly required bloodhounds to sniff out an avowed Democrat.

Kennedy also pulled heavily among voters in Chicago Heights and East Chicago Heights. He won normally - Republican Niles township by 628 votes, while Kerner won handily in even traditionally die-hard GOP precincts.

Otto Kerner, of course, led the Democratic ticket in suburbs. He won such northwest suburbs as Rolling Meadows and Hoffman Estates and rolled up impressive votes in other communities which gave narrow margins of victory to Gov. Stratton.

KERNER and Sen. Douglas beat their Republican opponents in the south suburban townships of Bloom, Rich and Thornton.

State Rep. Bernard Peskin made an unexpectedly good showing in Niles township, eclipsing his GOP opponents.

At the state and county level, Democrats made substantial gains in DuPage county and particularly in Addison township. Where once Republicans confidently rode to victory on a crest of 5 to 1, this time their victory was sliced to a smaller 2 to 1 margin.

The Democratic vote in Schaumburg township rose from 21 per cent in 1956 to 34 per cent in 1960.

Publicily, both Democratic and Republican leaders expressed satisfaction with the suburban vote in the November 8 election. But privately, a number of suburban GOP workers were expressing pleasure at Gov. Stratton's defeat.

As one volunteer phrased it: "Many of us are relieved over Stratton's loss. This loss in patronage will give us an opportunity to rid the organization of the "dead weight" of carrying old job-holders. Now we can reorganize with younger, more idealistic leadership."

THIS WORKER added that in one northwest suburban township "big plans" are already under way, with meetings in process for newly - activated women's groups, Young Republicans, and the regular organization.

"The election result showed the effect of newer, younger leadership and dedicated volunteers," declared the spokesman. "We're ready to move ahead, and we expect a new committeeman in 1962!"

Major Overhaul to Face Wreckage of State GOP

The Republican party of Illinois lies in almost total wreckage. The GOP has suffered its most crushing state-wide defeat in more than 40 years.

In the Chicago area, Republicans managed to hold most of the suburbs, although not by significant margins. On the contrary, the Democratic party firmly established itself as a potent — and growing — minority force in suburban politics.

Throughout suburbia, Democrats served notice that the GOP can no longer take suburban strength for granted. For example:

—Will county, a Republican stronghold, rolled up surprisingly strong margins in balloting for Democrats. Nixon and Secretary of State Carpentier were the only state and national candidates to carry the southwest suburban county.

—Otto Kerner carried Lake county, traditional bastion of Republicanism and home county of incumbent Gov. Stratton.

—New Democratic inroads were made in Des Plaines, where Democrats cut the GOP's 1956 margin of 4-to-1 to 2-to-1 in 1960.

—Kerner and Sen. Douglas made strong showings in Palatine and Schaumburg townships; they carried suburban Thornton township.

—In south Cook county, Democrats showed remarkable improvement over their 1956 showing. Even in most of the greatest GOP strongholds, they whittled away at 1956 pluralities.

—Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church won re-election in the 13th Congressional district by her slimmest percentage in any previous contest.

These trends are significant because it has been only recently that Democrats have exerted organized effort in the suburbs.

And Democrats will continue to develop suburban strength — unless the Republican party recognizes the urgent need for new organization and farsighted action.

In suburbia as elsewhere in Illinois, the Grand Old Party is sick. As one suburban Republican worker stated it last week: "The regular party organization has become fat and lazy and flabby."

Encouraging signs of recovery are emerging in the northwest suburbs. A strong and vocal Young Republican group in Elk Grove township is effectively challenging regular organization leadership. There are rumbles of revolt in the Palatine township GOP, particularly for Rolling Meadows. Increased volunteer participation in Wheeling township Republican affairs indicate that a "new look" may be forthcoming in that organization.

The GOP is faced with the challenge of restoring itself as an effective and forceful partner in Illinois' sagging two-party system. If it is to succeed, the Republican party must acquire new leadership, imagination, and intellectual vigor. (FP

Use Pebbles

Flowering Bulbs Can Bloom for Christmas

by JAMES FIZZELL

Flowering bulbs can be forced to bloom for Christmas if they are started now. Hyacinths, crocuses, narcissi and daffodils are the best bulbs to force indoors. These bulbs contain tiny undeveloped plants which are ready to grow and flower as soon as they receive the proper light, moisture and temperature.

The easiest method of forcing bulbs indoors is pebbles. Secure small clean pebbles about the size of a pea, and place them in an attractive shallow bowl. Many nurseries, garden or pet stores carry white and colored pebbles which will work very well.

Press the bulbs firmly into the pebbles being careful not to injure the bulbs, and add enough water to bring the level just below the base of the bulb. The roots will grow and reach the water within a short time, and will soon spread through the pebbles to support the bulb.

IT IS MOST important to promote substantial root development before the top growth begins. This is done by placing the planted bulbs in a cool, dark place for 10 days to two weeks before forcing. When the roots are two inches long, put the bulbs in a warm room near a north or east window. After the tops turn completely green, move the bulbs to a south window to complete their growth. Replace water in the container as it is lost by evaporation or picked up by the plant.

The bulbs will bloom about five weeks after planting. A succession of bloom can be had through April by planting bulbs 10 days apart over a period of months.

Use the plants to decorate the dining room table, the living room, or use them as attractive gifts.

WITH THE COMING of the holiday seasons, many households will be receiving cut flowers either as gifts, or for everyday use as decorations. There are few things which will brighten up a room or lend a friendly atmosphere as well as fresh flowers.

Every florist uses all means available to him to get your flowers to you in the best possible condition, but it is up to the recipient to take proper measures to insure maximum life of the flowers.

When the flowers are received, about ½ to 1 inch of bottom of the stem should be cut off, and the stems immediately immersed in warm water. If possible the flowers should be placed in a cool place for a couple of hours until they pick up water.

An important factor in keeping flowers fresh is the acidity or pH of the water in which they are placed. Research has shown that flowers definitely keep better if the water is on the acid side. Most water supplies in our area are on the alkaline side, and addition of an acid such as citric acid to the water will usually be of considerable help in the keeping of cut flowers. Citric acid is available in most drug stores. Aspirin is sometimes used for this purpose.

DIFFERENT TYPES of flowers vary in the length of time they stay fresh after they are cut. Some, such as carnations and chrysanthemums will keep from two to three weeks if the stems are cut and the water changed every few days. More delicate flowers such as roses, snapdragons, and stocks are not as long lived even under the best conditions; however, proper care will help to make these flowers last the maximum time possible. Down On The Farm

by Carl F. Mees, Farm Ad.

RECENTLY WHILE attending the National County Agents convention in Florida, we were afforded the privilege of visiting the United States Sugar corporation plantation. The operations extended along the southwestern, southern and eastern borders of Lake Okeechobe, a distance of approximately 45 miles.

Approximately 35,000 acres were devoted to the cultivation of sugarcane, both administration and independent growers. This acreage results in an annual production of approximately 1,300,000 tons of cane.

When new land is placed into cane production, it is first chopped with six to eight-ton choppers. If there is heavy growth, this operation is repeated three times at two to four week intervals. After the chopping process is completed, heavy discs are used to cut up the smaller material. Material too large to be disintegrated by the discs is piled by bulldozers using tires instead of blades. When sufficiently dried, it is burned.

PREPARATION OF new land commences eight to ten months ahead of planting; on fields where cane has been abandoned, four to six months.

Seed cane is cut by hand, topped and piled in windrows. Continuous loaders pick this cane up, cut it into 18" to 20" lengths and load it into field wagons. Three-row furrowing plows open the furrows and distribute the fertilizer in the same operation. Furrows are opened to a depth of 6" to 8", depending on moisture conditions.

Plant cane is cultivated with 3-row disc cultivators, with drill scratchers attached. If weather conditions are favorable, very little additional cultivation is required. In unfavorable weather, weedicides are used to control broadleaf weeds in the drill. Grass is removed manually by hoes.

FIRST, MOST of the foliage is removed from the cane by controlled burning of the field just prior to harvesting. Usually this is done in the late afternoon of the day prior to the day it is scheduled to be harvested. The cane is manually cut, topped, and laid across the middles. The continuous mechanical loaders pick up the cane from the middles, cut it into 18" to 20" lengths, and load it into rubber-tired field wagons.

The cane is moved by public carrier railroad in trainload lots to the Sugar House at Clewiston. Here it is processed into raw cane sugar. Last year the operation processed 1,350,806 tons of cane. Over 7,400,000 gallons of blackstrap molasses (a by-product) was produced. This was a large and interesting operation. (FM

Two Compete

Dwarf Corn Silage or Regular Corn Silage?

Dwarf corn silage is making a strong bid to replace regular corn silage as the farmer's best source of important roughage nutrients.

University of Illinois dairy scientist J. H. Byers says dwarf corn was easier to chop than regular corn in tests this fall. And the pint-sized corn yielded nearly as much silage and dry matter per acre.

The research also indicates that dwarf corn may show a higher feeding value than its taller cousin when the two are compared in feeding trials this winter.

BYERS SAYS regular corn on the U. of I. dairy farm yielded 20.6 tons of ensilage and 6.6 tons of dry matter per acre this fall. Dwarf corn yields were slightly lower—averaging 18.4 tons of silage and 5.5 tons of dry matter.

However, Byers believes the dwarf corn TDN yield per acre may equal that of the regular corn even though total green matter yields were less.

Analysis of the dwarf corn plants shows a 5 per cent higher proportion of ears to the rest of the plant. And it shows 5 per cent less stalk. Since the stalk is the least digestible portion of a plant, researchers feel that the dwarf corn will be more digestible than the regular corn. This should give higher, more efficient livestock gains.

RECENT DWARF corn feeding trials by U. of I. beef cattle researchers support this theory. The beef researchers found that steers rceiving dwarf corn silage gained slightly better than steers receiving regular corn silage in both fattening and winter rations.

The dairy researchers believe they can cut green matter yield differences considerably by boosting dwarf corn plant population per acre. Next year they plan to increase per acre plant population from 16,000 to 20,000 by reducing the distance between plants and using narrower rows.

With more plants per acre, dwarf corn may easily turn out higher TDN per acre than regular corn, Byers explains.

The mechanical advantages of harvesting dwarf corn were quite apparent. The tall corn tended to lodge and fall over. This gave an uneven flow into the chopper and produced an uneven cut.

THE DWARF corn stood straight. Researchers were able to keep a constant flow of corn running into the chopper—and at a faster rate. This shortened the cut on the ensilage and resulted in better packing in the silo.

Farm Interphone Introduced Here

A new communications system, developed by the Bell Telephone system especially for farms, has retired the old-time dinnerbell to the same corner as the horse-drawn plow, according to G. W. Kaucher, Illinois Bell manager here.

Called the "Farm Interphone," the new system — to be introduced next week in Illinois Bell served communities — links the farmhouse with the barn and other farm buildings as well as outdoor work areas.

IT OPERATES through regular telephones equipped with special loudspeaker-microphones, and can do far more than just call the family to dinner.

The system solves the farm family's problem of how to call someone to the phone even when he is hard at work in the farmyard or in one of the farm buildings.

The basic Farm Interphone system includes a master phone in the house, an extension phone in the barn or other outbuilding, and a two-way loudspeaker located in the barnyard. Each telephone is equipped with a special loudspeaker-microphone and a button which allows the phone to be used either for intercom calls or regular phone calls.

EXTRA PHONES and loudspeakers are available to meet each farm's special requirements.

"Here's one way the system works," Kaucher explained. "A farmer's wife answers a telephone call in the kitchen for her husband. She can hold the outside call while talking over the intercom system to where her husband is working.

"Her voice is broadcast throughout the farm wherever a Farm Interphone "station" is located—the barn dairy, poultry house, shop, etc. At the same time, her voice is carried outside into the main work area, the barnyard, orchard or field—wherever an outside loudspeaker is located," he daid.

"The farmer can hear and answer without stopping work or touching any part of the communications system. His wife then relays the message to the outside caller. If needed, the farmer can go to the nearest phone and handle the call himself. Even conference calls are possible with two or more persons at various locations on the farm talking to an outside party."

THE FARM Interphone is especially valuable talking to farm hands and reaching someone whose exact whereabouts is not known.

The Farm Interphone is also useful in such businesses as lumber yards and fuel companies where workers and buildings are often widely separated. (B8

Farmers Big Bond Buyers

Of all the ways there are to make a living, farming must surely rank near the top of the list from the standpoint of uncertainty of results.

What could be more risky than investing your money in an enterprise controlled by so many factors over which you have little or no influence?

But farmers have the courage and stamina to overcome all obstacles. That's why they are still farmers.

Just the same, many smart farmers are hedging against adversity by regular savings. A recent report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that American farmers own liquid financial assets in excess of 14 billion dollars—$14.3 billion to be exact.

THE LARGEST single item in this holding is United States savings bonds, with farmers owning $5.2 billion worth, or 36 per cent.

Their demand deposits total $4.3 billion, and time deposits $2.9 billion. Their cash in hand was estimated to be $1.9 billion.

These figures bring a great deal of comfort in a business where fickle weather can rob you in broad daylight.

Home Bureau To Hear Talk On Color

Because of Thanksgiving, the Wheeling unit of Cook County Home Bureau will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 22, in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association. Mrs. Claradehl Upham, home adviser, will speak on "Color for the Individual."

Hostesses will be Mrs. Laura Fritz, Mrs. Donna Drake and Mrs. Frieda Schulte.

Thirteen mmbers met November 7 in the home of Mrs. Gus Anderson, Arlington Heights, to make Christmas crafts. Mrs. Ruby Gans and Mrs. Anderson showed the women how to make modern Christmas trees of specially treated vibrant acetate in gold and a colorful set of snowmen wall plaques, accented with red or green.

Yellow Dwarf Disease Is Subject of Much Research

MORE THAN 3,000 strains of oats from all over the world have been tested for their ability to withstand attacks of yellow dwarf disease at the University of Illinois.

In 1959 Illinois farmers lost almost $25 million worth of oats to this virus villain. While the 1960 Illinois crop was not so severely damaged, researchers emphasize that potential damage can not be underestimated. This year the northeastern states were hard hit.

The virus responsible for the disease is called barley yellow dwarf virus (BYD) because it was first discovered to cause yellowing and dwarfing in barley. It is spread by nine species of aphids. As virus-carrying aphids feed, they infect healthy plants. So far as the researchers know, the virus is neither seed nor soil-borne.

IT WAS some time before aphids were associated with BYD. In fact, aphids may be gone as long as three weeks before the disease is noticed. And an aphid infestation doesn't always mean that the oat crop will be hit by BYD.

Early symptoms of the disease are yellow-green blotches that appear near the tips of the leaves and then enlarge and extend downward to the stems. Affected parts of the plant may turn red. Root systems are damaged, and in severe cases the plants die. Infection is most serious in seedlings, which are badly dwarfed and finally killed by the disease.

Developing varieties that are tolerant to the virus seems to be the best approach to controlling the disease, Henryk Jedlinski, USDA plant pathologist, said in the current issue of Illinois Research. Jedlinski, who is working with C. M. Brown, University of Illinois oat breeding specialist, explained that during a five-year study virus-carrying aphids were allowed to feed on each oat entry. The scientists selected the entries that withstood the disease best in this test.

ALBION, AN oat variety grown in the north-central states about 30 years ago, showed the highest BYD tolerance. However, it is susceptible to other diseases, has weak straw and produces poor quality grain.

One way to improve Albion is to cross it with adapted varieties. New varieties will not be available from this method until a cross can be selected that has the characteristics of the adapted varieties, as well as Albion's ability to tolerate BYD virus.

However, use of what plant breeders call a "backcross" will probably make a well-adapted oat variety with BYD tolerance available within a few years.

The researchers point out that there are different virus strains of BYD. They must still investigate the effects of these different strains on the performance of varieties now tolerant to the tested strain.

Will Dollar Devalue With New President?

by L. H. SIMERL

Some farmers have asked us for information about the recent run-up in the price of gold and the prospects of a devaluation of the U. S. dollar. This is a big order for delivery in three minutes, but we can list a few basic facts.

Gold is used as backing for our paper currency and bank deposits. Banks in other countries can send dollars to the United States Treasury and receive gold in exchange. The exchange rate, or the price of gold, is $35 an ounce.

FOREIGN NATIONS can claim our gold only by offering dollars for it. They get dollars in several ways: They get dollars when our citizens pay for imports, travel in foreign countries and invest in foreign businesses. Foreign nations also get dollars when our government spends to maintain military forces outside the United States and when we provide foreign aid to newly developing countries.

So long as the products of our farms and factories are "good buys," foreigners will take them in preference to gold. But when our products become overpriced in relation to prices in other countries, they will take our gold and buy their supplies elsewhere.

Foreign banks have taken four billion dollars' worth of our gold in the past four years. Our stock of gold has been reduced from 23 billion dollars in 1956 to 19 billion dollars recently.

Many products of our industries are overpriced in present world markets. The reason is excessive increases in labor costs in our industries.

THE NORMAL consequence of excessive wage increases is excessive unemployment. But our national policy is to prevent such unemployment by increasing government spending. In order to spend more, the government borrows from banks. Such borrowing has the effect of creating more dollars. For example, in the recession of 1957-58, our government borrowed 10 billion dollars from banks.

There are three possible ways to check the run on U. S. gold stocks:

1. We can check federal spending and deficit financing.

2. We can bring our costs under control so that our manufactured products will be priced more competitively with products of other nations.

3. We can raise the price of gold, that is, devalue the dollar, so that foreign owners of dollars would rather take our goods than our gold. But the trouble with this last alternative is that other countries could, and likely would, devalue their currency at the same time that the United States devalued the dollar. This action would tend to promote world wide inflation.

What we need to recognize is that governments do not voluntarily devalue their currency. Rather, they are forced to do so by nearly irresistible economic forces. These economic forces, however, are often the result of excessive spending by the government itself, or of other unsound economic policies.

Mary Jo Ebel Is President Of Sewing Susies

Mary Jo Ebel was elected president of Sewing Susies 4-H club when the group elected officers November 7 at Pioneer Park field house. This was the group's second meeting of the fall and winter season.

New vice president of the group is Marie Pisors; secretary, Karen Weirich; treasurer, Margaret Gross; reporter, Elizabeth Gross; program chairman, Kathy Wegner; social chairman, Coreen Cordova; record chairman, Mary Jo Ebel; and party chairman, Margaret Gross.

The new president gave a demonstration on the items in an army first aid kit and Miss Weirich talked on prevention of fires. The group also discussed its party-a-month project. (Fm

Growers Elect New Officers

Walter Ahrens, Danville vegetable grower, was re-elected president of the Illinois State Vegetable Growers association at the conclusion of the organization's annual two-day meeting on the Southern Illinois University campus Nov. 10.

Other officers elected were: vice president, Verne Deeke, Palatine; secretary-treasurer, Charles Benck, Manhattan (re-elected); and directors (for two-year terms), Merle Krause, Peoria, and John Nemanich, Manhattan.

Production and marketing problems of commercial vegetable growers were topics of discussion at the meeting. (FM

Program On Policy At U. of I.

A new course covering agricultural policy and programs headlines the 10th annual University of Illinois winter short course in agriculture.

Warren Wessels, assistant to the dean, college of agriculture, describes the new course as "analyzing past and present programs affecting agriculture." It will also outline the role of the farmer and farm organizations in developing policies in a democratic society.

The short course is designed for young farmers who are interested in new farming information but who cannot attend college on a regular basis. Dates are February 6 to March 17.

STUDENTS WHO attend will learn new techniques in managing livestock and dairy cattle. They will get training in selecting livestock. They will also learn how to manage soils and crops to get maximum yields. And they can study agricultural marketing and prices, farm management and farm law.

Anyone 18 years of age or older may attend the short course. This includes women as well as men. In the past, ages have ranged from 18 to 65 years, but most students have been between 18 and 23 years.

For more information, write to Wessels at 104 Mumford Hall, Urbana, Illinois. (FM

Evergreens Soaked Soon

Since evergreens stay active during the winter while other plants are dormant, they need a good supply of water before the ground freezes.

Soak the soil to a depth of 6 to 8 inches sometime around November 1. This advice comes from William R. Nelson, University of Illinois landscape specialist.

WHEN THE water supply runs dry during the winter, evergreens respond by turning brown.

To further protect evergreens, Nelson advises mulching. This reduces the effect of alternate freezing and thawing on the root system.

Nelson suggests using ground corncobs. Apply them 3 or 4 inches deep. Leaving this mulch on next spring will help to reduce weeds and conserve moisture. (FM

Hospital in Ideal Location for Nurses

The location of Northwest Community hospital, in the center of a suburban area becoming increasingly populated by recently-married couples establishing homes, gives the hospital a source of talented and well-trained nursing personnel.

This is the statement of Mrs. Martha Loss, R.N., director of Nursing Service at Northwest Community. It is Mrs. Loss' assignment to coordinate the activities of the 221 members of the nursing staff of the 110-bed hospital in which bed occupancy is consistently near capacity.

Of this total, about 40 are full-time nurses, 70 to 80 are part-time registered nurses, 80 are nurses' aides and the remainder are male attendants.

"THE LETTERS the hospital receives from those who have been patients here at Northwest Community are my surest guide to the efficient performance and considerate conduct of the people who make up our staff," Mrs. Loss says. "The generous praise of patients is music to our ears - and a stimulus to continued excellence.

"A hospital policy aimed at maintaining a numerically strong staff is another reason for our ability to give service that is generally appreciated," Mrs. Loss continued, "and this is the direction established by Alan B. Campbell, our administrator."

Mrs. Loss explained that the nursing complement of Northwest Community hospital, like the patient roster, represents communities from throughout the entire area served. Nurses' lists show residence in Palatine, Wheeling, Roselle, Barrington, Hoffman Estates, Prospect Heights, Park Ridge, Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines, Rolling Meadows and Island Lake (near McHenry).

MRS. LOSS observes that it would make her job a bit easier if more nurses could work full time. A comparatively large part-time staff calls for much more schedule planning and administrative detail.

But in suburban communities like those surrounding Northwest Community hospital, almost all of the nurses are married and many have children. They like to be home as much as possible with their families. As a result, part-time nurses willing to work the evening shift - from 3:30 p.m. to midnight - are hardest to find. If nurses with families were consistently away from home during these hours they would seldom see their husbands and children.

Vital to the success of the nursing department, according to Mrs. Loss, is her supervisory staff, made up of nurses with valuable experience in other hospitals who were happy to join the staff of Northwest Community because it offered a new challenge and also gave them work much closer to their homes.

Among the key staff members is Mrs. Grace Johnston, R.N., of Palatine, in charge of training aides and attendants in bedside care. She is an ex-Navy nurse who received her training at Lutheran Deaconess hospital in Chicago.

She is assisted by Mrs. Ann Andrew, R.N., of Hoffman Estates. Daytime supervisor is Mrs. Mildred Carrie, R.N., of Island Lake. Evening supervisor is Mrs. Jaynce Fischer, R.N., of Des Plaines, who is assisted by Mrs. Marie Cogburn, R.N., of Palatine.

NIGHT SUPERVISOR is Mrs. Juanita Jones, R.N., of Rolling Meadows, whose assistant is Mrs. Katharine Christensen, R.N., of Mt. Prospect. Charge nurses in obstetrics and pediatrics are Mrs. Jean Kurth, R.N., of Mt. Prospect, and Mrs. Ann Mayfield, R.N., of Hoffman Estates.

Other charge nurses include Mrs. Leonia Bowlby, R.N., of Des Plaines, on the post-surgical floor, Mrs. Irene Coxhead, R.N., of Barrington, medical floor, Mrs. Mary East, R.N., of Mt. Prospect, operating room, Miss Rae Marilyn Pedersen, R.N., of Wheeling, recovery room, and Mrs. Alma McCully, R.N., of Mt. Prospect, emergency room.

Mrs. Loss herself is a graduate of Western Reserve university where she earned the master of nursing degree. She came to Northwest Community hospital from Sherman hospital in Elgin. (B9 STANTON PETRY of Arlington Heights, re-elected president of the Northwest Obedience Club, Inc. of Suburban Chicago, would have readers believe that this is a posed photo. As one of the trainers of the club, which recently held election of officers, Petry maintains that he doesn't allow his golden retrievers on the furniture, but Hi-Lite does look rather accustomed to his master's chair. Other officers of the club include Mrs. Charles Berry of Arlington Heights, treasurer, and Mrs. Ward Siewert of Palatine, secretary. Training classes for pedigreed canines are held each Wednesday evening in Palatine. February classes for beginning dogs are filled but there are still a few openings in the May, 1961 class. (A13

Dystrophy Chairmen Named

Two Paddock area women have been named chairmen of the muscular dystrophy house canvass to be held Sunday afternoon, Nov. 27. Mrs. Adeline Peterson, 609 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, and Mrs. La Verne Kinney, 3011 Thrush lane, Rolling Meadows are the newest chairmen named in the drive. Miss Fran Allison, local TV celebrity, has overall charge of the march for funds.

The chairmen report that there is still need for more volunteers to aid as marchers, district leaders, area leaders and some zone chairmen. Monies collected are used for research, patient services and clinical work for this disease for which there is no known cause or cure.

Volunteers may call either Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Kinney or the downtown office, RA 6-4264. B9

Culinary Expert's Fall Menu Includes Ham, Raisin Sauce

by LOIS SEILER

A talented and experienced home economist has suggested an excellent fall menu which will surely inspire homemakers to plan a dinner party soon.

The capable cook: Mrs. Alec Mackenzie. Her menu: hot cider, baked ham with raisin sauce, baked potato with sour cream and chives, buttered green beans, a fresh fruit salad with fruit dressing and a choice for dessert — either frosted applesauce cake or CHESS pies with ice cream. And as a bonus she has given us a recipe for her favorite cookies called Crisp Sugar Cookies.

EVEN THE COOKIE dough tastes good to Melody Mackenzie, whose mouth is watering as she contemplates sampling some crispy sugar cookies. Her mother, Mrs. Alec Mackenzie of Mt. Prospect, is busy cutting the dough for these appealing cookies, which are made from an old family recipe. Other recipes from the kitchen of this expert cook include a tantalizing fall menu fitting for oncoming holiday festivities. (SH

SEVERAL of the recipes used in this menu stem from Mrs. Mackenzie's student days at Iowa State university where she received her bachelor's degree. She also holds a masters degree in nutrition from the University of Iowa.

The raisin sauce and fruit dressing are two of the recipes which she and other students developed to their satisfaction in a catering class at Iowa State. They have withstood the test of a homemaker's kitchen and are still among Mrs. Mackenzie's favorites.

The raisin sauce is quickly made by cooking raisins in water along with sugar, butter, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce and currant jelly. Red food coloring is added for an especially pretty color. This tasty sauce takes ham out of the ordinary class and gives it zest as well as flavor appeal. It is served over ham slices, and leftovers can be stored in the refrigerator.

"THE fruit salad dressing is particularly nice for a fall salad of apples, grapes, nuts, pears and citrus fruit," said Gay Mackenzie. Flavored with orange, pineapple and lemon juice, the dressing has a custard-like consistency with whipped cream folded in. It can be prepared in advance and refrigerated.

From her home town of Kiron, Iowa, comes two of Mrs. Mackenzie's favorite desserts, Applesauce Cake and Chess Pies.

A hand-me-down from her mother, the applesauce cake is moist and flavorful, chuck full of nuts and raisins and spiced with cinnamon and cloves.

"The cake can be served plain or with a powdered sugar frosting with a little instant coffee added, or with a caramel icing," said Mrs. Mackenzie. "And being such a moist cake," she continued, "it will keep well for at least a week."

THE individual Chess Pies are a delicious and distinctive dessert made in pastry-lined muffin tins. They have a raisin filling and are served topped with whipped cream or ice cream. The pies can be made in tiny muffin tins and served as tea cakes, and they can be prepared in advance and will freeze nicely. They are as attractive to look at as they are appealing to taste.

"The Crisp Sugar Cookies are made by an old, never-fail recipe which belonged to my husband's grandmother," explained Gay Mackenzie. Flavored with nutmeg and lemon juice, the cookie dough is rolled thin and cut with cookie cutters, sprinkled with sugar and baked."

"They can be made into Christmas cookies by adding Christmas decorations or colored sugar," she added, "and the dough may be frozen and used as needed." These are crispy, flavorful cookies which apepal to adults as well as children.

THIS capable culinary expert has had wide experience as a home economist. Her career began in the medical research laboratory at the University of Iowa, and then she taught nutrition at the Georgetown university School of Nursing. She was chief dietician at Swedish Covenant hospital for three years and then taught nutrition in the School of Nursing at Swedish Covenant and Ravenswood hospitals.

Now a busy mother and homemaker, Mrs. Mackenzie finds time to participate in several organizations. She is a member of the AAUW, the Women's Fellowship of Northwest Covenant church, the Chicago Nutrition association and the American Dietetics association. Both she and her husband are active in the Young Life Campaign as assistant leaders for the East Maine Township club.

The Mackenzies live at 23 N. Main in Mt. Prospect. They have a daughter, Melody, who is 3½ years old.

Raisin Sauce

½ cup sugar
¼ cup water
½ cup raisins
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 cup current jelly
Red food coloring

Combine sugar and water and bring to a boil in saucepan. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer gently for about five minutes or until jelly is melted. Stir in a small amount of red food coloring to give a pretty red color.

Serve over ham. Makes 2 cups.

Fruit Salad Dressing

1/3 cup orange juice
1/3 cup pineapple juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix fruit juices; add to beaten eggs. Stir in sugar and salt. Cook in the top of a double boiler for three to five minutes or until thickened. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. (Can extend with additional whipped cream, if desired.)

Serve with a fruit salad, such as apples, grapes, nuts, pears and citrus fruit. Makes 2½ cups.

Applesauce Cake

1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup butter
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups sweetened applesauce
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup stewed raisins, drained
½ teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and sugar thoroughly. Add beaten egg and applesauce. Blend well. Sift dry ingredients together and beat into batter. Add the nuts, raisins and vanilla. Mix well.

Pour into greased pan and bake in a 350 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Makes one 9 by 9 inch cake or one dozen cupcakes.

Chess Pies

1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks, beaten
1 cup steamed raisins, drained
½ cup butter
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup broken pecans

Combine sugar, egg yolks and beat well. Add remaining ingredients. Pour into individual unbaked pastry-lined muffin tins, medium size.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Makes one dozen pies. Serve topped with whipped cream or ice cream.

Crisp Sugar Cookies

1 cup sugar
2 beaten eggs
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2½ cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, milk and lemon juice. Beat in sifted dry ingredients. Blend well. Chill for three hours or overnight.

Roll very thin and cut with cookie cutters. Place on lightly-greased baking sheet and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 10 minutes or until very lightly browned.

Week's Best food buys

This week sets consensus retail price ranges of 49-69c on hams and 37-45c on turkeys that will prevail in metropolitan area stores now through Thanksgiving.

From these so-called "Benchmark" levels, stores have the opportunity to jockey along varied promotional lines that can mean possible savings up to 4c a pound on the traditional holiday fare. Much depends on the size and cut, and the store.

The holiday push, coupled with mixed situations in red meats that involve inventory adjustments make the marketing week ending November 19 one of split personality offering early and late week value changes.

According to the University of Illinois consumer service survey, consensus bargains include:

Early week — Forequarter beef cuts, chuck roasts, ground beef, short ribs, stew meats. Late week — Hams, pork loin roasts, sirloin steaks, lamb leg roasts, turkeys. Produce—Cranberries, oranges, apples, grapes, sweet potatoes, celery, acorn squash, radishes.

In the area of inventory adjustments, most beef, pork and lamb roasts are being concession priced as consumer interest swings. Rougher cuts of meats are pricing quite steady while better cuts of convenience meats, steaks and chops for instance, tend to price higher on store profit taking to offset ham and turkey promotions.

On a more general basis, produce values such as those mentioned above are being built around seasonal promotions. Otherwise, there is no basic change in this segment of the market, a situation that also exists in groceries which hold at 1.6 index points above the year-ago wholesale level. Butter and eggs are now stabilized at higher prices.

Many significant market developments occurred in red and poultry meats. Live market receipts fell an average of 20 per cent for all livestock following recent price declines and last week's two holidays in many areas. Cattle quoted higher on reduced supplies, hogs priced even in the face of good demand with receipts up in some markets and down in others, and lamb prices rebounded sharply from the 1960 low on receipts that were 25 per cent to 40 per cent off.

At wholesale, the steadily lowering supply of beef met with fair demand and signaled higher replacement costs to stores. Pork loins were off although demand was fairly good, butts priced higher and ribs quoted steady. Lamb legs fell as much as a dollar on fair movement, shoulder cuts moved well, but loins and ribs were slow. Veal dropped a dollar and more in some instances.

This tends to defy quoting consensus retail meat prices, the stores having far more latitude than usual in marking price tags. The sure bets generally are in processed pork and turkeys that reflect these quotes:

In cooked hams, larger portions, shank half 49c, butt half 59c.... smaller portions, shank half 59c, butt half 69c. The number of slices removed is a bi gfactor here. i tsrFnil a big factor here. First line bacons quote 69c, second lines 49-55c, and two-pound thick sliced $1.05-$1.09.

Grade A turkeys generally will range 39-45c, with most promotional allowance coming on the heavier weights.

Egg prices narrowed between the large and medium sizes as cold storage stocks continued to dwindle, down now 182,400 cases from year-ago, and as prices to farmers went up one to two cents a dozen with further increases coming. Grade A large whites reach a new 69c floor and quote as high as 75c, mediums firmed at a higher 53-55c range.

Butter prices that fluctuated the past two weeks stabilized on the open market at above government support levels. This results in a higher 75-79c quote on 92-score and 69-71c on 90-score.

Price competition for this year's bumper cranberry crop is getting keener. Consumers will profit by any measure of value. Cranberries are the only fresh fruit item to measure lower priced on this week's survey, although midwest apples, Florida oranges and Emperor grapes rate as better bargains of the new crop selection at week-ago price levels.

More fresh vegetables moved up than down on the cost scale this week. Combining market facts with traditional dealer choice discounts, consensus values include sweet potatoes, celery, acorn squash and radishes. (SH

ILLINOIS MOTORISTS: Good News About Auto Insurance!

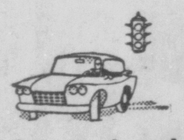
NEW

Good Driver Discounts plus Tailor-Made Rates

Now Allstate helps motorists save money two ways on top-quality protection

Good Driver Discounts



Here's a special reward for safe drivers. It makes good sense. It's a merit-rating plan that Allstate has recently introduced in Illinois that rewards good drivers, and charges higher rates for bad drivers. After one year of accident-free driving under the plan, you earn a special discount. After the second year with a clear record, you earn an additional discount, and after 3 years with a record of accident-free driving, you earn Allstate's highest discount —15% off Allstate's base rates. The only accidents which raise your rates are those which require payment of $50.00 or more to "the other guy" under your liability coverage.

"Tailor-made" Rates

Allstate has always believed that insurance ought to be fitted to you—not you to the insurance. Since 1937, we have designed our rates according to such factors as where a man lives and how his car is used. We now have over a hundred different ways ("rating categories") to help determine the fairest price possible for auto insurance based on individual driving habits. A man who drives only for pleasure, for example, pays a lower rate than a man who drives for business. With these "tailor-made" categories, our policyholders may save from $20 to $50 a year compared to the rates of most other companies for similar coverage.

These are two of the most important advantages you get with an Allstate policy.

But don't overlook the many other pluses that Allstate Crusader policyholders enjoy. Allstate—long famous for low rates—also gives you:

* 10% discounts on liability and collision insurance for most compact cars
* 25% discounts on liability and collision insurance for most second and third cars
* Econo-rate finance plan—low-cost auto financing through cooperating banks
* The services of the largest staff of full-time salaried claims people in the auto insurance business.

You're in good hands with Allstate . . . always. For over a quarter century now, Allstate has waged a constant battle to bring down the cost of auto insurance while increasing its benefits and advantages. In so doing, it has become one of the largest companies in the field, with over 5 million policies. The features described here may save you money, and we urge you to find out more about them as soon as possible. See an Allstate Agent at the Allstate Sales Office in Sears, at a convenient Allstate Insurance Office, or in your home, if you prefer. May we help you?

Be sure to ask your Allstate Agent about our new auto liability insurance, which after it has been in force 90 days, can't be cancelled just because you have an accident. Available only from Allstate—and at no extra cost!

Potatoes au Gratin Fine Partner For Turkey Fare

Thursday, Nov. 17, 1960

Turkey hot or turkey cold, a casserole of Potatoes au Gratin is the perfect partner—fine-flavored Idaho potatoes elegant in a rich white sauce, plain or with the nip of sharp Cheddar cheese, butter-crumb-topped, baked to a delicate brown.

Potatoes Au Gratin

Choose your potatoes: you will want the variety which cooks up mealy and dry, the kind you desire for baking, such as the full-of-flavor Idaho-grown Russets. No place, except in potato salad, does a soapy "boiled" potato show its nature by way of texture and taste as it does in creamed potatoes, the basis of this dish.

Amount to cook: 4 cups diced potatoes in sauce will make 6 servings. Cook 6 to 8 scrubbed medium "Idahos" in their jackets in small amount of water in covered kettle, about 45 minutes. Test for doneness with a thin skewer.

When almost tender, pour off water, shake kettle over low heat to dry off any remaining water. When cool enough to handle, peel off skins and cut potatoes length wise into finger-size strips, crosswise to form even-size cubes.

Whether to be used in a sauce or in salad, warm potatoes take on the sauce or dressing flavor much better than do cold.

Sauce with care: allow ½ cup medium white sauce for each cup diced potatoes. For the 2 cups sauce needed, melt 4 tablespoons butter in heavy saucepan over low heat or in double boiler top over boiling water. Add 4 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper.

Stir until smooth, giving time to cook a little. Add slowly 2 cups milk, stirring all the while until sauce is thickened and smooth. Right here, for "Delmonico potatoes" stir into hot sauce 2 cups shredded sharp-aged Cheddar cheese.

Finishing off: stir warm diced potatoes into hot sauce; place in casserole. Top with fine dry bread crumbs or with soft crumbs from fresh bread, and dots of butter. Or use corn flakes, slightly crushed or crisp butter wafers, coarsely crumbled.

Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese if desired. Bake in a 400 degree F. (moderately hot) oven for 20 minutes or more, longer if the dish is "made yesterday" and refrigerated. Potatoes should be hot through and top lightly browned. Serve piping-hot. (SH

Old Favorite-New Taste Is Pumpkin Chiffon Pie

Autumn brings us riotous colors, newly bountiful gardens. and best of all, pumpkin pie. But tastes, like times, change and today's families vote for up-to-date, tantalizing additions to standard favorites.

They want pumpkin pie spiced with zippy ginger, nutmeg and cinnamon, certainly. But they demand a thistledown-textured filling that also appeases their hearty appetites.

Tangy nutmeg and cinnamon are here aplenty. Brown sugar adds an enticing sweetness. But the smooth-textured filling comes from the use of evaporated milk. The blendable qualities compliment every ingredient and each flavor, to assure you of taste-tempting success every time.

THE FAMILY will love your "new" pumpkin pie and friends who drop by will want your "secret" ingredient. But it really is no secret. Pumpkin pie, made with always dependable and easily available evaporated milk, is a treat any family can enjoy.

They can have it with a crunchy, cracker crust or a pastry shell, whichever they prefer. Either way there'll be demands for seconds.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar, divided
½ teaspoon each, salt, nutmeg and ginger
1/8 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ cup evaporated milk
3 eggs, separated
1¼ cups canned pumpkin
1 9-inch baked crumb or pastry pie sheli

Mix together gelatine, ½ cup of the brown sugar, salt and spices in medium sauce pan. Stir in evaporated milk and egg yolks; blend well. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly (about 3 minutes).

Remove from heat; stir in pumpkin. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon (about 1 hour). Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry.

Gradually add remaining ¼ cup of brown sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into pumpkin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm (4 to 6 hours or overnight). Yield: 1 9-inch pie (SH

HINTS FROM JEWEL ALL ABOUT TURKEY

What Size To Buy

When buying medium or heavy turkeys, 12 lbs. and over, allow ½ to ¾ lb. per serving. Turkeys under 12 lbs., ¾ to 1 lb. per serving.

Size In Pounds	Number Of Servings
6 to 8	6 to 10
8 to 12	10 to 20
12 to 16	20 to 32
16 to 20	32 to 40
20 to 24	40 to 50

Timetable—Roasting at 325° F.

Turkey Weight	Total Cooking Time
6 to 8	3¾ to 4½
8 to 12	4 to 5
12 to 16	5 to 6
16 to 20	6 to 7½
20 to 24	7½ to 9

Hint: Source: Poultry & Egg National Board

Don't prick turkey with a fork to see if it's done. Just move a drumstick with your fingers to see whether both joints break or move easily.

Hint:

Start the turkey 20 or 30 minutes ahead of schedule to avoid delay if the bird should take longer to cook—and to give you time to make gravy. Letting turkey stand in roasting pan during this time lets juices absorb, too.

Apricot Rice Stuffing

Brown ¾ cup chopped celery, ¾ cup chopped onion and ¾ cup sliced mushrooms in ½ cup butter in skillet. Add 2¼ cups rice; brown until rice is a deep golden color. Season with 1 tablespoon salt and 1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning. Add water until it is ½ inch above rice. Cover and steam 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Add 3 cups sliced dried apricots and mix. Yields 12 cups, or enough for 10 to 12 lb. turkey.

Hint:

Don't let leftover cooked turkey stand at room temperature for even a few hours; refrigerate immediately.

Hint:

Stuff turkey lightly to allow for expansion of dressing during roasting.

Giblet Stuffing

Chopped, cooked turkey giblets
1 cup fat
1 cup minced onion
1 quart diced celery
4 quarts small bread cubes, firmly packed
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
1½ to 2 cups broth.

Brown giblets in fat. Cook onion and celery in fat until onion is soft but not browned. Meanwhile blend seasonings with bread cubes. Add giblets, onion, celery and fat. Blend. Pour broth gradually over surface, stirring lightly. Add more seasoning as desired. Stuffing for a 14 to 18 lb. turkey.

'the POOR'

Illinois has more than a half million "forgotten people" who are poverty-stricken.

They are the residue of a rapidly-changing, increasingly complex industrial order which has not bothered to find a place in society for the generation it left behind.

The enormity of the problems in poverty has been detailed in recent weeks by Paddock Publications. Only the question—what are we doing about it?—remains unanswered.

There is no answer.

Illinois is doing little or nothing for its poor other than maintaining them at, or below, subsistence levels. Public aid, once designed to meet emergency need on a temporary basis, has become accepted as a permanent pattern of living for thousands of Illinois citizens.

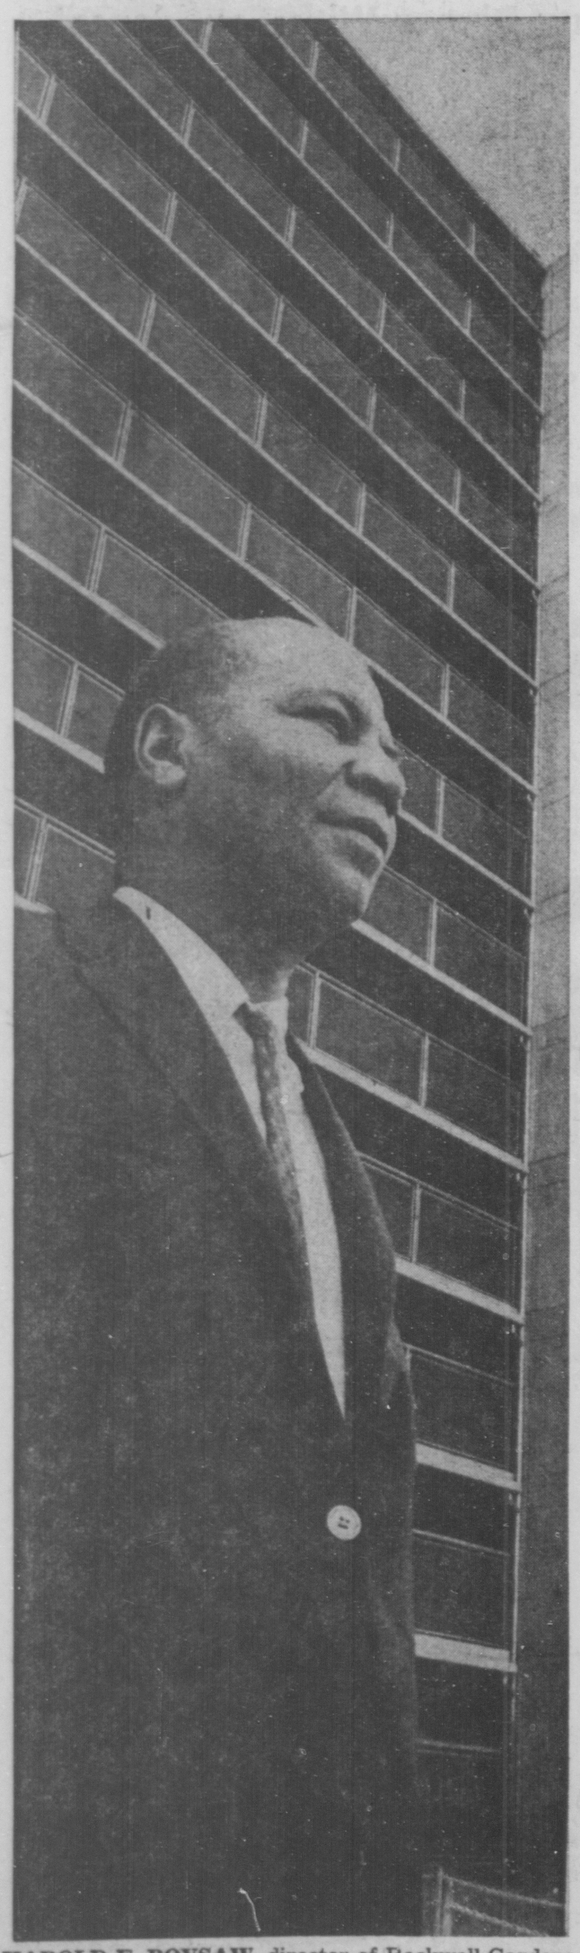
The outlook is grim.

In hard-pressed southern Illinois, chronic unemployment has emerged as a way of life. Attempts to attract industry have been described as "running as fast as we can to stand still." Prospective industries are often repelled at the shabby appearance of stricken areas. They look at the community's distressed character, examine the general economy and municipal facilities, and then ask: Would our employees want to live here? Too often, the answer is an emphatic no.

Typical is the plight of downstate Eldorado, stricken by mine shutdowns and folding farms. For eight years the city struggled to recover through local effort, private or state sources—all without success. Dismayed and discouraged, the city has "just given up."

Whether in Eldorado or in Chicago, it is apparent that any real assault on poverty must include federal aid and action in cooperation with private industry and state and local government. Needed is long-range social and economic planning to meet the rapidly-changing demands of automation, dwindling farms, and the dramatic population shifts to urban centers.

Many of Illinois' major problems in poverty have their roots in discrimination against the state's 1,200,000 Negroes, severely handicapped by a race prejudice which fosters poverty and is a major contributor to slum dwellings, swollen public aid rolls, unemployment, and family instability.



HAROLD E. BOYSAW, director of Rockwell Gardens project, stands before 13-story public housing building in which his offices are located. First of its kind in the nation, the project utilizes resources of Cook county public aid department and other agencies in attempt to restore dignity and meaning to lives of public aid clients.

It is imperative that Illinois enact widespread civil rights legislation guaranteeing equal job opportunity, access to decent housing, and increased educational opportunity for the Negro. Without such legislation, the state's public aid burden will continue to mount ever higher and Illinois will pay a tragic penalty in wasted lives.

A leading downstate industrialist recently declared: "We do not have an unemployment problem. We have a preponderance of unemployables that could not be employed without being reoriented."

Although 80 per cent of southern Illinois workers are not skilled and 58 per cent of the state's total jobless are unskilled or semi-skilled, attempts at rehabilitation have been almost non-existent.

Needed is an increased awareness by private industry of its responsibility to assist the growing numbers of untrained and unskilled workers willing to work but without any market for their limited talents.

Large-scale vocational rehabilitation and training, developed cooperatively by industry and government, would enable these workers to find again a place in the economy and reduce the rising relief rolls.

One organized attempt at such rehabilitation is conducted at the Cook County Rehabilitation Center on W. Washington blvd., Chicago. Each year the center comes into contact with some 35,000 clients.

If a person applies for assistance, and the caseworker feels he is employable, he is directed to the center. There he is intensively interviewed, given psychological and aptitude tests as well as a thorough physical examination.

He may be placed immediately through a job counselor and referral center; if he lacks skill or is handicapped, he is entered in the center's training program.

As encouraging as this approach is, it is still inadequate. It barely scratches the surface of the problem in Cook county; no such program exists anywhere else in the state.

The center's caseload has risen 90 per cent in three years as the demand for unskilled workers continues to diminish rapidly. Today it is 50 per cent overloaded.

The industrial training shops need to be expanded, more staff and facilities and increased cooperation from industry are needed if the program is to make a perceptible dent in relief rolls and if the backlog of 2,000 clients is to be met. If it had adequate resources, the center could double its present placement rate of 1,000 persons a month.

Similar rehabilitation centers should be set up elsewhere in Illinois.

The state's only significant attempt to counter the effects of poverty by providing needed personal care is also located in Cook county. Like the rehabilitation center, this is the first project of its kind in the nation.

Rockwell Gardens is a bold experiment launched less than six months ago in an effort to find new approaches to old problems in public aid.

In cooperation with the Chicago Housing Authority and other public and private agencies, county public aid officials have developed a unique program at the 995-unit housing development on Chicago's West Side.

The program places its emphasis on individual, intensive attention to public aid clients.

Although too early to pass final judgment on the experiment, the positive effects are already apparent. Clients have adopted a different attitude toward society, new dignity and self-respect, a fresh desire to work, and an eagerness to develop new interests and responsibilities.

In addition to concentrating on personal counseling and guidance, the project provides an extensive recreational program, a senior center, a night school program for ADC mothers, a cancer detection clinic, a dental clinic for children, and a host of special consultants in such fields as welfare rehabilitation, family support, medical care, and home economics.

Plans are under way for a TB clinic and day care facilities for employable ADC mothers.

A 47-year-old ADC mother with four children moved from a squalid West Side slum to Rockwell Gardens.

In the past, she subsisted on ADC relief without any incentive or desire for work.

After three months in the Rockwell Gardens experiment, she has started work at 85 cents an hour as a salad girl in a restaurant. She explains:

"I have to have my kids understand that everyone should work, should be doing something, should be helping themselves."

Declares Harold E. Boysaw, project director: "We may not be able to rehabilitate all the adults, but we can certainly make it possible for all youngsters to be better equipped to compete in society."

Although the rehabilitation center and the Rockwell Gardens project are hopeful baby-steps forward, they are not the final answer to Illinois meeting the needs of its poor.

The challenge which awaits all citizens was issued recently by Gordon G. Watters, acting director of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, who declared:

"If full employment is attained, public aid rolls decrease, and conversely, when unemployment rises so do public aid costs.

"If the family is stabilized as a unit in all strata of American society, this, too, will be reflected in public aid rolls.

"If segregation continues, we will continue to pay a high price in terms of subsidies to slum landlords and, more importantly, in terms of wasted lives.

"If ways are found to spare our aged population the indignity of a means test, then old age assistance will decline.

"If we as a nation resolved that every American should have the opportunity for an adequate education, then nowhere will we have the unfitted seeking public aid as a last resort.

"We must put public aid into its proper perspective—that it is not a cause but an effect—and it is up to us—as citizens in the larger community—to either take the necessary steps to change the conditions creating the need for public aid, or failing that, to accept the consequences."

SLUMS AND BLIGHT are by-products of poverty. One-third of the city of East St. Louis, Ill. is substandard housing. In an effort to clean-up blighted areas and develop public housing facilities, the city has launched a 116-acre slum clearance and urban renewal program which will remove 10 per cent of the total slum area.

NEW HOPE for this Johnston City, Ill. mother and daughter is the practical nursing program for ADC mothers, a pilot project under way in Williamson county. Only example of rehabilitation in downstate Illinois, it enables mothers to become self-supporting and get off relief rolls. Cost of the year's study is borne by the Illinois Public Aid Commission.

ADJUSTMENT on machine shop drill is made by relief client at rehabilitation center on W. Washington st., Chicago. Only one of its kind in country, center makes effort through testing, counseling, and job training to remove persons from relief rolls.

A FLOOR CAPTAIN holds meeting in her apartment at Rockwell Gardens to discuss problems involved in keeping corridors clean and unmarked. Case workers note relief recipients become more concerned with surroundings and personal appearance when moved out of slums into clean, adequate housing.
